PHILADELPHIA WINS AGAIN BY 6 TO 1
GAS HALTS REDS AS HOOVER SPEAKS

BOMBS, CLUBS STOP PARADE; SEVERAL HURT

Police, on Motorcycles and Horses, Ride Into Ranks.

PRESIDENT UNAWARE OF RIOT IN STREETS

MAINTAIN STANDARD OF LIVING, HE URGES

America Will Go Forward, Despite World-Wide Depression, Is Belief.

Public Auditorium, Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—President Hoover tonight told the American Bankers Association that although the current business depression is world wide, America must go forward independently to recovery and maintain its standard of living.

A parade of Communists, estimated by police to number 600, was broken up when it attempted to break away from a police escort and head for Public Hall, where President Hoover was addressing the convention.

Mounted and motorcycle officers threw tear gas bombs into the ranks of the demonstrators and policemen used their clubs before the short-lived demonstration was broken up.

Firemen Is Slugged.

James Kehoe, a firemen on traffic duty, was slugged and taken to a hospital, possibly in serious condition. Several other persons were reported victims of clubs or fists, but none was believed badly hurt. Three women were knocked down by the rush. One youth was arrested.

The disturbance began after the parade had been led past the corner of East Sixth street and St. Clair avenue northeast, where the auditorium it situated. When the police escort had marshaled the demonstrators east on St. Clair, nearly to East Twelfth street, the marchers moved as if to bolt and return to the hall, police said.

Mounted officers blocked their path and as the demonstrators pressed against their line, they wielded clubs and tossed tear gas bombs. Other officers rode motorcycles and horses into the marchers' ranks.

The paraders quickly scattered, breaking windows as they went. Banners which they had carried and dropped as the milling started were reclaimed and held aloft by the scattered demonstrators. They did not attempt to form into line again.

Hoover, Capitalism Denounced.

Many of the banners denounced Hoover and capitalism. As they marched along with their banners they sang "The International," "Mademoiselle From Armentieres" and "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here."

After the marchers were dispersed they returned to Public Square, where the line of march formed and listened to impromptu orations. Police said the demonstration was organized several days ago and they were prepared for it. The auditorium was well surrounded with police guards and the marchers did not get close to the building.

The President went directly from the hall to his special train and was unaware of the demonstration in the streets. Scores of mounted patrolmen were stationed around the Public Hall and news of the rioting did not reach the President's audience until after they left the building.

President Hoover and his party left for Washington at 9:40 p. m. Two thousand persons were at the sides of the train as it puffed away from the side track at Public Hall. They cheered lustily as the President and Mrs. Hoover appeared on the platform to wave a friendly farewell.

Mourners Are Scared.

The Chief Executive in his speech replied directly to political opponents "who resent the notion that things will never get better and who wish to enjoy our temporary misery."

"To recount to these persons," he said, "the progress of cooperation between the people and the Government in amelioration of this situation, or to mention that we are suffering less than other countries, or that savings are piling up in the banks, or that our people are paying off installment purchases, that abundant capital is now

Calvin Coolidge Says:

Some time ago one of these dispatches referred to the difference in policy between the United States and the League of Nations concerning national defense. We have sought security through disarmament while the league members have emphasized the necessity of a large force to protect each other. Consequently, the Versailles treaty provision for disarmament has not yet been executed.

Henderson, for England, has since made the same charge before the league concerning disarmament. It has been reiterated by Bernstorff, for Germany. Briand, for France, has admitted it. But he enters a plea in bar by stating that some nations have questioned the duty of going to the defense of other members of the league and, therefore, each must have a large force to protect itself.

As the league seems to recognize its obligations, probably in time some way will be found to meet them. Undoubtedly the predominant elements in France and Germany are for peace through accommodation and mutual forbearance. In the effort they should have the sympathy and support of the public opinion of the world. The interest of the United States in European peace, as we found in 1917, is more than academic.

Cuba President Asks Virtual Martial Law

Congress Requested to Drop Constitutional Rights in Havana.

Havana, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—President Gerardo Machado late this afternoon submitted to the Cuban Congress a message requesting that constitutional guarantees be suspended in Havana and surrounding communities until after the November congressional and senatorial elections.

Suspension of the rights outlined in the nation's constitution also would be extended to any or all parts of the country, the message specified, should the need arise.

It was understood that the action was taken to block alleged "seditious" manifestations against the existing government now endeavoring to solve the present tense political situation.

In its most restricted sense, the measure would create a state of martial law in this city and environs.

Freedom of speech, liberty of the press and privilege of public assembly are listed among the most important constitutional rights which would be revoked during the period that the measure would be enforced.

As soon as the message had been received, announcement was made that it would be brought up in tomorrow's special session of congress.

It is scheduled to go before the lower house at 3 p. m. and before the senate later.

If the suspension of rights should be extended to cover all Cuba, the elections scheduled for November 1 will automatically be postponed.

If it should be confined to the greater Havana district, 600,000 citizens, nearly a fifth of Cuba's population, would lose the right to vote.

That the president would resort to extreme measures to insure the holding of the elections, the postponement of which has been demanded by the Nationalista' Union, became known shortly after 2 o'clock this morning when a meeting held at the presidential palace terminated.

Among those at the conference were Dr. Rafael Guas Inclan, speaker of the house; Dr. Clemente Vazquez Bello, president of the senate; Senator Viriato Gutierrez, Dr. Jesus M.

Guggenheim, Stimson to Discuss Situation in Capital Today.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The situation in Cuba, where student uprisings and threats of revolt have led President Gerardo Machado to ask for a suspension of all constitutional guarantees, is being anxiously watched by the State Department.

Harry F. Guggenheim, the American Ambassador to Cuba, will stop off here today en route from New York to Havana, and will discuss the situation with Secretary of State Stimson.

This country's policy, it was made clear at the State Department yesterday, is the same as it has been for 27 years; that is, no "Intermeddling or interference" in Cuban affairs unless it be for one of two reasons:

First. Preservation of Cuban independence.

Second. The maintenance of a government adequate for the protection of life, property, and individual liberty, and adequate for discharging the obligations with respect to Cuba, imposed by the treaty of Paris on the United States.

That policy, which is an interpretation of the Platt amendment, was enunciated in the McKinley administration by the then Secretary of War Elihu Root, and was designed to allay fears in Cuba that this Government might interfere in the internal affairs of the island.

Only once has the United States intervened in Cuba, and that was at a time when the government fell and rebels threatened to loot the national treasury. A force of 113 American Marines were sent there and order eventually was restored.

But never, it was said at the State Department, has the United States intervened to support any particular Cuban government. Hence, if this precedent is to be followed, President Machado need look for no help from the United States in the future.

The indications are that this precedent is to be followed in the present

Nation's Business Editor Seeks to Enjoin Neighbor

Merle Thorpe Starts Court Action to Stop Woman From Using Road Which He Claims as Part of His Property at Alta Vista.

Suit to enjoin Mrs. Daisy L. Whiton, his neighbor, from trespassing upon his property was filed in Rockville Circuit Court for Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business, yesterday by Albert M. Boulc, Rockville attorney. The suit alleges that Mrs. Whiton or her agents tore down a fence that Mr. Thorpe had erected blocking a road on his property.

Mrs. Whiton claims that the road is a community road and has been a public road for years, but according to Mr. Boulc, close research has shown that the use of the road was a permissive right which had been extended to the neighbors and which could be withdrawn at any time by Mr. Thorpe.

The petition declares that Mr. Thorpe's fee simple and unencumbered title to the property is being denied him by Mrs. Whiton's use of the road and the destruction of the fence. Mr. Thorpe offered the road to the county at one time for use as a county road but the county commissioners refused to take jurisdiction, having planned another road in the same area. The road connects the property of Mr. Thorpe at Alta Vista with the Rockville pike.

Mr. Thorpe is not certain that Mrs. Whiton claims the right to use the road as an appurtenance of her property or as a public highway, the bill states, but charges that the defendant has no right to use the road.

FIRE STARTING IS CONFESSED BY HUB CLERK

Four of Five Blazes That Did $250,000 Damage Thought Solved.

FLAMES FURNISHED THRILL, HE STATES

Explains He Felt Queer Sense of Satisfaction Over Secret.

MAN HELD BY POLICE ON CHARGE OF ARSON

Escaped Suspicion When He Advanced Theories as to Causes.

Revealing in his confession the strange psychopathic twist which marks the pyromaniac, Lingan Asbury Butler, 47-year-old assistant shipping clerk of the Hub Furniture Co., yesterday described to police the manner in which he caused four of the five fires which in the last two years have swept the company's warehouses.

Losses totaling more than $250,000 resulted from what Butler said began as carelessness in the striking of a match and was followed by a queer "sense of satisfaction" which he felt when investigators failed to connect him with the series of blazes. Charged with arson, the man is being held at the Sixth Precinct Police Station.

Climaxing a relentless investigation started by Inspector William S. Shelby, chief of detectives, as the most recent fire raged at the Hub warehouse, September 24, Butler was arrested yesterday afternoon at his work in the warehouse, which is being rebuilt. He signed a full confession, saying:

"I want no cloud of suspicious to attach itself to my working mates."

First Fire Was Year Ago.

His career as a "firebug" began September 16, 1929, a year, within a few days, from the date on which he applied the match to start the latest warehouse fire, according to Butler's confession. He was then employed at the company's warehouse at 21 M street northeast.

When the head of a match flew off as he sought to read the numbers on a kitchen cabinet by its light, Butler first felt the sensation of exhilaration as paper on the cabinet blazed into flame.

"I was scared and didn't call out," he told police.

The next manifestation of his strange pathological condition was on November 21, 1929, when in the same building on the second floor, again in search of certain numbers on furniture, Butler confessed that again some paper flared as he struck a match.

Escaped Suspicion by Theory.

In a discussion of the probable cause of the fire among employes Butler later advanced the theory that lacquer became ignited from spontaneous combustion and again escaped suspicion.

Asked by detectives if it was amusing to watch the flames, Butler replied, according to his confession, "It wasn't exactly amusing, but I got a satisfaction out of not being connected with it."

In the same building on July 29 of this year Butler went to the third floor, lighted a cigarette and dropped

LEAGUE VOTES DOWN KELLOGG HARMONY PLAN

Effort to Make Covenant Fit With Treaty Is Lost, 10 to 2.

DEBATE IS HEATED ON ANTIWAR MOVE

FRANCE SAW BLOW TO HER ALLIANCES

Britain and China Remain Alone in Support of New Amendments.

Geneva, Oct. 2 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Efforts to harmonize the covenant of the League of Nations with the Kellogg-Briand pact by revising it in such a way that it would outlaw war completely, were defeated tonight when the assembly's judicial subcommittee voted 10 to 2 against endorsing amendments designed to bring the two instruments for consolidating world peace closer together.

Earlier in the day at a plenary session of the assembly, 22 European nations and six states in other parts of the world signed a convention guaranteeing financial assistance to any signatory state which is the victim of aggression.

Heated debate preceded the decision of the judicial subcommittee to refer to the member governments for further study the proposed amendments to the covenant. This decision will come up tomorrow before the judicial committee to which the subcommittee reports. The full committee is expected merely to pass it on to the assembly, which will mean that the efforts to amend the covenant will be put off until 1931.

Raestad Upsets Chances.

An apparently innocent question propounded by Helge Raestad, Norwegian jurist, upset at the eleventh hour all chances of incorporating the Kellogg-Briand Pact and the covenant this year, or perhaps at any future time. The Norwegian delegate asked his colleagues whether existing treaties, such as the Locarno pact, would not fall to the ground if the league covenant were amended to outlaw war completely, pointing out that it, and some other treaties, are predicated on the possibility of war occurring.

Mr. Raestad casually remarked that under Article XX of the covenant all existing treaties which did not envisage settlement of international disputes by pacific means only—as pledged in the Kellogg pact—would be abrogated and league members would be pledged hereafter to enter into no engagements inconsistent with the newly defined terms of the covenant.

Consequently, had the Kellogg pact been grafted into the covenant, it would have dealt a death blow to France's military alliances with the little entente, to Great Britain's protectorate agreement with Irak and similar engagements.

French Become Panicky.

After Mr. Raestad sat down the French and France's mid-European allies became panicky. They completely about-faced, voting against the proposed amendments. Lord Robert Cecil, of Great Britain, and Dr. Chao Chu-Wu, of China, remained alone in support of the resolution Lord Cecil had introduced.

The convention of financial assistance approved at the plenary session

POLLARD OFFERS AID IN TEXTILE WALKOUT

NO DISORDERS REPORTED

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Oct. 2.—Gov. John Garland Pollard of Virginia today took steps looking to a settlement of the strike of textile operatives in the Dan River mills.

Questioned at his offices early in the morning, Gov. Pollard admitted that he had a plan whereby he hoped to reconcile the two factions, and later in the day he telegraphed this statement:

"Please publish for the information of the former employes of the Riverside and Dan River Cotton Mills that on account of the important public interests involved, I am offering to the mills and to them to appoint a committee of mediation for the purpose of seeking to bring about a namicable settlement of the pending controversy."

Up until the present time H. R. Fitzgerald, president of the mills, now in Charlottesville, has been unwilling to treat with union spokesmen, but has expressed willingness to confer with representatives of the industrial democracy or system of plant government.

The strike situation remained quiescent today. George Pugh, mill overseer, charged by Noel Henry, a

CANNON QUIZ SHIFTS ACTIVITY TO CAPITAL

QUITS RICHMOND PARLEY

(Associated Press.)

Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, was understood here last night to have definitely decided to appoint a committee of twelve churchmen to investigate charges filed against Bishop James Cannon, jr., by four ministers of the denomination.

Bishop Ainsworth held a brief conference yesterday with Bishop Cannon and left immediately for Birmingham. Bishop Cannon would not comment on the conference. It was learned, however, that Ainsworth intended appointing an investigating committee in thte near future to determine whether a church trial for Bishop Cannon was necessary.

Investigation of unrevealed charges by four elders of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, against Bishop James Cannon, jr., shifted spedily yesterday from Richmond to Washington with a "mystery visit" here by Bishop William N. Ainsworth, with whom the charges have been filed.

Bishop Ainsworth arrived here late yesterday afternoon from Richmond, slipping away with his destination intended as a secret, after a conference lasting until early yesterday

St. Louis Players Realize Exactly How Lipton Feels

Manager of Cardinals Made to Look Like One-Way Street as Team Drops Second Successive Game, Says Phillips.

By H. I. PHILLIPS.

Shibe Park, Philadelphia, Oct. 2.—It's just an old American League custom.

Cornelius McGillicuddy's playboys of the eastern world made it two straight by the score of 6 to 1. This leaves the National League with one world's series victory in fifteen games and sets something of a world's record for complete washouts.

It puts the National League ten up on Sir Thomas Lipton in the consistent loser's series.

You would almost suspect the Nationals were fighting under auspices of the Belfast Yacht Club.

Maybe they need a Genoa jib or something.

Today's game was so one-sided you couldn't help feeling that it was a shame to let visitors suffer that way. To Connie Mack, the manager of the Cards was just a one-way street.

The Athletics got two runs in the opening chukker and everything after that was so much velvet. The game could have been stopped in the second for all the difference it would have made to St. Louis.

Flint Rhem was not kidnaped here today, but he was chased far and plenty. Besides what the Smackmen

MONEY BUYS MORE TODAY

THERE are numerous indications that business is reviving, but these are merely the reflections and not the cause. The real dictators of American prosperity are the American people. The decisions that are reviving business are being made in America's homes—not in Wall street nor in legislative chambers. The American people are discovering that never before has it been possible to secure so much of beauty, comfort and convenience, for each dollar of expenditure, as may be obtained today. They are acting upon their convictions and giving greater attention than ever before to the advertising that establishes true standards of value.

(Sports Editor of The Post).

Shibe Park, Philadelphia, Oct. 2.—The second game of the 1930 world series, like its predecessor, passed into the possession of the Athletics by a score of 6 to 1, a victory fashioned by the talented right arm of Long George Earnshaw and from the substance and the opportunity of the Philadelphia base hits, rather than their sum.

And deep is the gloom that enshrouds the hopes of the Cardinals and the National League tonight as the series moves on to St. Louis on Saturday after a day of traveling tomorrow, with small prospect that it will return here for the sixth and seventh games.

Fifteen times have the National League standard bearers carried their cause into world series clashes since 1926 and fourteen times the American League's champions have triumphed.

Earnshaw Is Supreme

The 32,000 who again peopled the steep-set rows of box-like Shibe Park and the 2,000 squatters on the adjacent Twentieth street roofs saw the Athletics literally pitched to victory by Earnshaw, the second best of Connie Mack's pitching staff, who permitted only six hits as he throttled the vaunted attack of the Cardinals in eight of the nine innings, with only a home run by George Watkins that whistled over the right-field fence in the second inning cheating Earnshaw of a shutout. Only one other Cardinal reached third base.

Cochrane Slams Homer.

Home run honors were not usurped by Watkins alone, for Mickey Cochrane, mighty man of the mask and chest protector, did not dally in his labors at the plate and slapped a fast-ball offering of Flint Rhem in the first inning even higher and farther over the right-field wall than his wallop of yesterday to score the first run of the game.

They still clung to their overcoats, the 32,000 in the stands, although the weather was more mild than on opening day and a kindly sun tempered the breezes that swept into the park from the wide-open spaces in center field; but they could settle back in their seats after the fourth inning, for the Athletics had then compiled their six runs and taken all the fight out of the ball game, according to all intents and as later developments proved.

Flint Rhem, of Rhem, S. C., the latest bad boy of baseball, whose whereabouts in an important series in Brooklyn was never completely established by Manager Street, was also

OIL CHARGES INQUIRY ENCOUNTERS DELAY

Officials Seek, in Vain, to Get Conference With Ralph Kelley.

ACCUSER IS IN CAPITAL

(Associated Press.)

Investigation of charges by Ralph Kelley, former head of the Federal Land Office at Denver, that the Government has maladministered Colorado oil shale lands came to a temporary halt yesterday as officials sought in vain a conference with Mr. Kelley.

Assistant Attorney General Seth W. Richardson, who is conducting the investigation, said he had telephoned the former Denver official "at least ten times" and had finally sent a messenger to his hotel, but had failed to reach him.

Shortly after his arrival in Washington yesterday, however, Mr. Kelley said he was prepared to "substantiate in full" all his charges. He added he not only intended to "give detail and proof" of his statements but would insist upon the opportunity to do so.

Mr. Kelley submitted his resignation last Sunday to Secretary Wilbur, at the same time making public a letter charging the Interior Secretary had made "confession after concession" to large oil companies, which, he asserted, were attempting to secure billions of dollars' worth of oil shale land illegally. Secretary Wilbur refused to accept the resignation and called for an investigation, asserting the charges were "nonsense."

Mr. Richardson said yesterday that as soon as he could reach the former land official he would "offer him an office and all stenographic facilities so that he can make a recorded statement of his charges and objections."

He said he was having made a review of oil shale cases and had himself studied part of Mr. Kelley's correspondence with the Interior Department during his six years of office at Denver. He added if he could obtain a statement from Mr. Kelley of specific cases it would considerably hasten the investigation.

Meanwhile Mr. Kelley acknowledged the receipt of a letter from Chairman Nye of the Senate lands committee, asking him to amplify and substantiate his charges. He said he would be glad to confer with Senator Nye at any time.

FUND OF $25,000,000 FOR SEED FORECAST

Texas Delegation May Urge Such Legislation as Drought Relief.

HOFFMAN'S OFFICE OUT

(Associated Press.)

A farmers' seed loan fund of perhaps $25,000,000 was forecast in agricultural circles yesterday as a step toward alleviating drought distress.

Reports that the Texas delegation will initiate such legislation with a proviso that $5,000,000 of the fund be allotted their State followed closely an announcement by G. L. Hoffman, head of the Federal seed loan office, that his funds had been completely wiped out under a barrage of applications that was running high into the hundreds daily.

Farm leaders said the increasing demand for seed loans, thet fact that 1930 appropriations are exhausted and that no funds have been made available for crops to be harvested in 1931, indicated an effort would be made in the next Congress to create a seed loan fund of sufficient size to aid farmers in every State affected by the drought. They believe the administration would favor such a fund.

Seed loans require no further security than a mortgage on the crop the farmer expects to produce, and the farmer pays nothing more than the 5 per cent interest assessed for the actual number of days the loan is in effect. The Government bears the cost of all necessary legal transaction.

Mr. Hoffman said nearly 90 per cent of the $6,000,000 loaned to the flood sufferers in Georgia, Alabama, South Carolina, North Carolina, Florida and Virginia in 1929 has been repaid. Notes for seed loans, he said, frequently are renewed.

Baby Sea-Cows Get Their Discipline, Too

Miami, Fla., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—This "no, baby mustn't touch" stuff goes in sea cow families, too. "Maggie Murphy" and her 150-pound son, who is just past three months old, have been having a merry battle to see whether or not sonny eats eel grass, plentiful in their quarters in the Miami Aquarium.

Every time sonny makes a grab for grass, mamma slaps him down and his diet is still milk.

The infant manatee is the first sea cow ever born in captivity. It weighed 63 pounds at birth.

Force Called Futile In Fighting Hurricane

Miami, Fla., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Richard W. Gray, Government meteorologist here, told a luncheon audience today that "all the explosives in the world fired into a hurricane would have as little effect in dispelling it as a boy shooting it with a bean shooter." Mr. Gray said many persons lately have discussed the possibility of force being directed against hurricanes to dissipate them, but added that "the fail to realize there are forces outside which cause the storms."

"Any well-constructed building could withstand a storm without great damage," he said.

Text of President's Ohio Speech

The address of President Hoover before the convention of the American Bankers Association in Cleveland, Ohio, yesterday was as follows:

Members of the American Bankers Association and Guests:

I am glad to meet with this assembly of representative bankers from every State and almost every county of our country. During the past year you have carried the credit system of the Nation safely through a most difficult crisis. In this success you have demonstrated not alone the soundness of the credit system, but also the capacity of our bankers in emergency.

We have had a severe shock and there has been disorganization in our economic system which has temporarily checked the march of prosperity. But the fundamental assets of the Nation, the education, intelligence, virility, and the spiritual strength of our 120,000,000 people, have been unimpaired. The resources of our country in lands and mines are undiminished. Scientific discovery and invention have made further progress. The gigantic equipment and unparalleled organization for production and distribution are in many parts even stronger than two years ago.

Though our production and consumption has been slowed down to 85 or 90 per cent of normal, yet by the very fact of the steady functioning of the major portion of our system do we have the assurance of our ability and the economic strength to overcome the decline. The problem today is to complete the restoration of order in our ranks and to intensify our efforts to prevent such interruptions for the future.

Stability Great Problem.

And it is not a problem in academic economics. It is a great human problem. The margin of shrinkage brings loss of savings, unemployment, privation, hardship, and fear, which are no part of our ideals for the American economic system.

This depression is world wide. Its causes and its effects lie only partly in the United States. Our country engaged in overspeculation in securities which crashed a year ago with great losses. A perhaps even larger immediate cause of our depression has been the effect upon us from the collapse in prices following overproduction of important raw materials, mostly in foreign countries. Particularly had the planting of rubber, coffee, wheat, sugar, and to a lesser extent cotton, expanded beyond world consumption even in normal times. The production of certain metals, such as silver, copper, and zinc, had likewise been overexpanded.

These major overexpansions have taken place largely outside of the United States. Their collapse has reduced the buying power of many countries. The prosperity of Brazil and Colombia has been temporarily affected from the situation in coffee; Chile, Peru, Mexico and Australia from the fall in silver, zinc and copper. The buying power of India and China, dependent upon the price of silver, has been affected. Australia, Canada and the Argentine have been affected by the situation in wheat; Cuba and Java have been depressed by the condition of the sugar industry; East India generally has suffered from the fall in rubber. These and other causes have produced in some of the countries affected some political unrest. These economic disturbances have echoed in slowed-down demand for manufactured goods from Europe and ourselves, with inevitable contribution to unemployment. But the readjustments in prices, which were also inevitable, are far along their course. Most of these commodities are below the level at which sufficient production can be maintained for the world's normal needs, and therefore sooner or later must recover.

Because the present depression is world-wide and because its causes were world-wide, does not require that we should wait upon the recovery of the rest of the world. We can make a very large degree of recovery independently of what may happen elsewhere.

Depression of 1922.

I should like to remind you that we did precisely that thing in 1922. We were then experiencing the results of the collapse of war inflation in all commodities and in every direction. We had less organized cooperation between the business community and the Government to help mitigate that situation. The rest of the world was in chaos from the war far more menacing both to economic and political stability than anything confronting us today. Our difficulties at that time were far more severe than they are at present. The commercial banks particularly were sufferers from a large volume of frozen credits and enjoyed nothing to compare with the comfortable liquidity that prevails today. We then had overexpansion and large stocks in most commodities; today with one or two exceptions we are free from this deterrent. But we led the world in recovery. It was our independent recuperation from that depression, and the economic strength which we so liberally and largely furnished to other countries, that was the very basis for reconstruction of a war-demoralized world.

We are able in considerable degree to free ourselves of world influences and make a large measure of independent recovery because we are so remarkably self-contained. Because of this, while our economic system is subject to the shock of world influences, we should be able, in large measure, to readjust ourselves. Our national production is over one-third of the total of the whole commercial world. We consume an average of about 90 per cent of our own production of commodities. If, for example, we assume a restored normal home consumption and held even our present reduced basis of exports, we should be upon a 97 per cent of normal business basis. Even this illustration does not represent all of our self-contained strength.

We shall need mainly to depend upon our own strong arm for recovery, as other nations are in greater difficulty than we. We shall need again to undertake to assist and cooperate with them. Our imports of commodities in the main depend upon our domestic prosperity. Any forward movement in our recovery creates a demand for foreign raw materials and goods and thus instantly reacts to assist other countries the world over.

I wish to take your time to discuss some of the pivotal relationships of the bankers not only to the immediate problem of recovery but to the wider problem of long-view business stability. Any discussion of the one involves the other.

Before I enter upon that subject, however, I wish to say that no one can occupy the high office of President and conceivably be other than completely confident of the future of the United States. Perhaps as to no other place does the cheerful courage and power of a confident people reflect as to his office. There are a few folk in business and several folk in the political world who resent the notion that things will ever get better and who wish to enjoy our temporary misery. To recount to these persons the progress of cooperation between the people and the Government in amelioration of this situation, or to mention that we are suffering far less than other countries, or that savings are piling up in the banks, or that our people are paying off installment purchases, that abundant capital is now pressing for new ventures and employment, only inspires the unkind retort that we should fix our gaze solely upon the uphappy features of the decline. And, above all, to chide the pessimism of persons who have assumed the end of those mighty forces which for 150 years have driven this land further and further toward that great human goal—the abolition of intellectual and economic poverty—is perhaps not a sympathetic approach. Nevertheless, I always have been, and I remain, an unquenchable believer in the restless, dynamic power of American enterprise. This is no time—an audience of American leaders of business is no place to talk of any surrender. We have known a thousand temporary setbacks, but the spirit of this people will never brook defeat.

Our present situation is not a new experience. These interruptions to the orderly march of progress have been recurrent for a century. And apart from recovery from the present depression, the most urgent undertaking in our economic life is to devise further methods of preventing these storms. We must assure a higher degree of business stability for the future.

Blames Inflationary Booms.

The causes advanced for these movements are many and varied. There is no simple explanation. This is not an occasion for analysis of the many theories such as too little gold or the inflexible use of it. Whatever the remote causes may be, a large and immediate cause of most hard times is inflationary booms. These strike some segment of economic life somewhere in the world, and their reechoing destructive results bring depression and hard times. These inflations in currency or credit, in land or securities, or overexpansion in some sort of commodity production beyond possible demand even in good times—may take place at home or abroad—but they all bring retribution.

The leaders of business, of economic thought, and of government have for the last decade given earnest search into cause and remedy of this sort of instability. Much has already been accomplished to check the violence of the storms and to mitigate their distress. As a result of these efforts the period of stable prosperity between storms is longer, the period of storm is shorter, and the relief work far more effective. But we need not go beyond our situation today to confirm the need for further effort.

The economic fatalist believes that these crises are inevitable and bound to be recurrent. I would remind these pessimists that exactly the same thing was once said of typhoid, cholera, and smallpox. If medical science had sat down in a spirit of weak-kneed resignation and accepted these scourges as uncontrollable visitations of Providence, we should still have them with us. This is not the spirit of modern science. Science girds itself with painstaking research to find the nature and origin of disease and to devise methods for its prevention. That should be our attitude toward these economic pestilences. They are not dispensations of Providence. I am confident in the faith that their control, so far as the causes lie within our own boundaries, is within the genius of modern business.

Measures of Relief.

We have all been much engaged with measures of relief from the effect of the collapse of a year ago. At that time I determined that it was my duty, even without precedent, to call upon the business of the country for coordinated and constructive action to resist the forces of disintegration. The business community, the bankers, labor and the Government have cooperated in wider spread measures of mitigation than have ever been attempted before. Our bankers and the reserve system have carried the country through the credit storm without impairment. Our leading business concerns have sustained wages, have distributed employment, have expedited heavy construction. The Government has expanded public works, assisted in credit to agriculture and has restricted immigration. These measures have maintained a higher degree of consumption than would have otherwise been the case. They have thus prevented a large measure of unemployment. They have provided much new employment. Our present experience in relief should form the basis of even more amplified plans in the future. But in the long view the equally important thing is prevention. We would need have less concern about what to do in bad times if we discovered and erected in good times further safeguards against the excesses which lead to these depressions.

American business has proved its capacity to solve some great human problems in economics. The relation between employer and employe has here reached a more stable and satisfactory basis than anywhere else in the world. We have largely solved the problem of how to secure the consumption of the gigantic increase of goods produced through that multiplication of per capita production by the application of science and the use of labor-saving devices. That solution has been attained by sharing the savings in production costs between labor, capital and the consumer, through increased wages and salaries to the worker, and decreased prices to the consumer with consequent increased buying power for still more goods. Every step in that solution is a revolution from the older theories of business.

We may safely assume that our economic future is safe so far as it is dependent upon a competent handling of problems of productivity. But one result is to render further advance toward stability even more urgent, because with higher standards of living the whole system is more sensitive and the penalties of instability more widespread.

Country Looks to Bankers.

There is no one group of which the public expects so much in assuring stability as the bankers, because in the vortex of these storms many values lose their moorings. Nor can any other group contribute so much in constructive thought and action to solve the problem either today or in the long run.

Three most important relationships to these business movements lie in the bankers' field. The first is what, for lack of better terms, we call psychology—both that contagious overoptimism which accelerates the inflation of the boom and those depths of fear and pessimism which deepen and prolong the depression. The American banker has come to occupy a unique position in the strategy of stability, for he is the economic adviser of American business. He is the listening post of economic movement. He in large measure makes or tempers its psychology.

I do not suppose the banker has consciously sought this new function of general adviser, but such he has become. His business is no longer the simple function of discounting commercial bills and lending money on first mortgages. That is today but part of his work. These days, when he establishes a line of credit to a business, or furnishes loans upon securities of a business, or advises investment in a business, he must know the elements which make for success and failure of that business. And he must form judgment as to the future trend of business in general. On the other side, the American business man, big and little, the farmer, and the labor leader are coming more and more to consult with the banker on problems of his business. Whatever the origin of his position may be, the banker is now the economic guide, philosopher, and friend of his customers, and his philosophy can dampen our enthusiasm and equally it can lift our courage and hope.

The second point of the banker's unique position in relation to business trends lies in the part which credit plays in the whole business process. Obviously during the inflationary period the use of credit for unwise expansion and speculation draws away the supply of credit from normal business. It imposes upon normal business an interest rate which strangles the orderly commerce of the country. Commerce sickens under this pressure, its pace slackens and contributes to collapse. Therefore, I wish to emphasize what has long been recognized—that is, that the flow of credit can accelerate and it can retard such movements. Equally a wise direction of credit provides a large contribution to recovery from depressions.

Bankers' Activity Interconnected.

The third reason why this is so much a banker's problem is that banking is the one great line of business activity that is in itself interconnected. Each credit institution shares the credit burdens of others and all are largely coordinated through national organization—the Federal Reserve System.

The reserve system and its member banks and the Treasury participation in fact form a widespread cooperative organization, acting in the broad interest of the whole people. To a large degree it can influence the flow of credit. Bankers themselves are represented at each stage of management. And, in addition, the various boards and advisory committees represent also industry, agriculture, merchandising and the Government. The reserve system therefore furnishes an admirable center for cooperation of the banking business with the production and distribution industries and the Government in the development of broad and detached policies of business stability.

You have gained much experience from the two great crises of recent years. I trust you will seriously and systematically consider what further effective measures can be taken either in the business world or in cooperation with the Government in development of such policies, both for the present depression and for the future. I know of no greater public service. It is a service to every business man, to every farmer, to every worker, whether at the desk or bench. I am not assuming you can do it all, or that all disturbance, domestic or foreign, can be wholly prevented or cured.

The Government should cooperate. It plays a large part in the credit structure of the country. Its fiscal system has most important bearings. For instance, I believe an inquiry might develop that our system of taxes upon capital gains directly encourages inflation by strangling the free movement of land and securities.

Most Available Relief.

The regulatory functions of the Federal and State governments also have a bearing on this subject through their effect upon the financial strength of the railways and utilities. During a period of depression the soundest and most available method of relief to unemployment is expansion of public works and construction in the utilities, railways and heavy industries. The volume of possible expansion of construction in these private industries is about four or five times that in public works. During the present depression these industries have done their full part, but especially the railways have been handicapped by some provisions of the transportation act of 1920. With wider public vision the railways could be strengthened into a greater balance wheel of stability. We have need to consider all of our economic legislation, whether banking, utilities, or agriculture, or anything else, from the point of view of its effect upon business stability.

I have never believed that our form of government could satisfactorily solve economic problems by direct action—could successfully conduct business institutions. The Government can and must cure abuses. What the Government can do best is to encourage and assist in the creation and development of institutions controlled by our citizens and evolved by themselves from their own needs and their own experience and directed in a sense of a trusteeship of public interest. The Federal Reserve is such an institution.

Without intrusion the Government can sometimes give leadership and serve to bring together divergent elements and secure cooperation in development of ideas, measures and institution. That is a reenforcement of our individualism. It does not cripple the initiative and enterprise of our people by the substitution of government.

Proper cooperation among our people in public interest and continuation of such institutional growths, strengthen the whole foundation of the Nation, for self-government outside of political government is the truest form of self-government. It is in this manner that these problems should be met and solved.

I wish to revert to the influence of the bankers, through encouragement and leadership, in expedition of our recovery from the present situation. You have already done much, and at this juncture the responsibility of those in control of money and credit is very great. Without faith on your part and without your good offices, the early return to full prosperity can not be accomplished. This depression will be shortened largely to the degree that you feel that you can prudently, by counsel and specific assistance, instill into your clients from industry, agriculture and commerce a feeling of assurance.

Credit a Prerequisite.

We know that one of the prerequisites of ending a depression is an ample supply of credit at low rates of interest. This supply and these rates are now available through the cooperation of the banks and the Federal Reserve System.

The income of a large part of our people is not reduced by the depression, but it is affected by unnecessary fears and pessimism, the result of which is to slacken the consumption of goods and discourage enterprise. Here the very atmosphere of your offices will affect the mental attitude and, if you please, courage of the individuals who will depend upon you for both counsel and money. Many, perhaps all of you, have been through other periods of depression. Those of you who have had occasion to review the experience of the past will, I believe, join in the thought that there comes a time in every depression when the changed attitude of the financial agencies can help the upward movement in our economic forces.

I started with the premise that this question of stability was much more than a problem in academic economics—it is a great human problem, for it involves the happiness of millions of homes. A continued unity of effort, both in our present situation and in establishing safeguards for the future, is the need of today. No one can contribute more than our banking community.

Upholds Living Standard.

It appears from the press that some one suggested in your discussion that our American standards of living should be lowered. To that I emphatically disagree. I do not believe it represents the views of this association. Not only do I not accept such a theory, but on the contrary the whole purpose and ideal of this economic system which is distinctive of our country is to increase the standard of living by the adoption and constantly widening diffusion of invention and discovery amongst the whole of our people. Any retreat from our American philosophy of constantly increasing standards of living becomes a retreat into perpetual unemployment and the acceptance of a cesspool of poverty for some large part of our people.

Our economic system is but an instrument of the social advancement of the American people. It is an instrument by which we add to the security of richness of life of every individual. It by no means comprises the whole purpose of life, but it is the foundation upon which can be built the finer things of the spirit. Increase in enrichment must be the objective of the Nation, not decrease.

In conclusion I would again profess my own undaunted faith in those mighty spiritual and intellectual forces of liberty, self-government, initiative, invention and courage, which have throughout our whole national life motivated our progress and driven us ever forward. These forces, which express the true genius of our people, are undiminished. They have already shown their ability to resist this immediate shock. Any recession in American business is but a temporary halt in the progress of a great people.

Grass Cake for Cattle New British Experiment

London, Oct. 1 (A.P.).—Commercial interests are experimenting with the manufacture and use of a concentrated grass cake which is expected to be put on the market at $9 to $18 a ton under the present price of linseed cake as a feed for cattle.

Young grass, four or five weeks old, consisting largely of blade and cut before lignification starts, is used in making the dried cake.

pressing for new ventures and employment, only inspires the unkind retort that we should fix our gaze upon the unhappy features of the decline."

The President, making his only major address of recent months just a few weeks before the fall elections, spoke in the large auditorium in which in 1924 Calvin Coolidge was nominated for the Presidency by the Republican national convention.

Bankers in Majority.

His audience was composed largely of bankers and their wives drawn from all parts of the Nation for the 56th annual convention of the association who had been given preference in the admission tickets to the auditorium seating more than 10,000 persons. Amplifiers, however, carried the address to a supplementary auditorium behind the stage, where a second gathering heard the address, in addition to those who listened in on the national radio hook-ups.

Retorting in the course of his address to a suggestion in bankers' discussion that American standards of living be lowered, Mr. Hoover said, "To that I emphatically disagree."

"I do not believe it represents the views of this association," he added. "Not only do I not accept such a theory but, on the contrary, the whole purpose and ideal of this system, which is distinctive of our whole country, is to increase the standard of living by the adoption and the conveniently widening diffusion of invention and discovery amongst the whole of our people.

"Any retreat from our American philosophy of constantly increasing standards of living becomes a retreat into perpetual unemployment and the acceptance of a cesspool of poverty for some large part of our people.

Independent Recovery Urged.

"Because the present depression is worldwide and because its causes were worldwide," he said, "does not require that we should wait upon the recovery of the rest of the world. * * * We are able in considerable degree to free ourselves of world influence and make a large measure of independent recovery because we are so remarkably self-contained. Because of this, while our economic system is subject to the shock of world influences, we should be able in large measure to readjust ourselves. * * *

"I have never believed that our form of government could satisfactorily solve economic problems by direct action—could successfully conduct business institutions. The Government can and must cure abuses. What the Government can do best is to encourage and assist in the creation and development of institutions controlled by our citizens and evolved by themselves from their own needs and their experience and directed in a sense of trusteeship of public interest. The Federal Reserve is such an institution.

"Without intrusion the Government can sometimes give and secure leadership to and serve to bring together divergent elements and secure cooperation in development of ideas, measures and institutions. That is a reinforcement of our individualism. It does not cripple the initiative and enterprise of our people by the substitution of government."

Inflation Aid Hinted.

Turning to the possibility of new legislation, Mr. Hoover asserted that an inquiry "might develop that our system of taxes upon capital gains directly encourages inflation by strangling the free movement of land and securities." He also expressed a belief that the railroads have been handicapped by some provisions of the transportation act.

"With wider public vision, the railroads could be straightened into a greater balance wheel of stability," he said. "We have need to consider all of our economic legislation, whether banking, utilities or agriculture, or anything else, from the point of view of its effect upon business stability."

The auditorium was crowded almost to capacity an hour before the President ascended the platform. The United States Navy Band played for an hour before he arrived, when practically every seat in the huge hall was occupied.

The entrance of the Chief Executive and his wife was the signal for loud handclapping. The band played "Hail to the Chief," and after he was presented by John G. Lonsdale, of St. Louis, retiring president of the Bankers' Association, the audience applauded for more than a minute.

Slows Down Delivery.

The President began his address in a rapid but firm tone and a little later slowed down the speed of his delivery. His manuscript was placed on a pedestal slightly above the microphones, making it unnecessary for him to alternate his gaze downward and then upward. The first applause greeted his declaration, "No one can occupy the high office of President and conceivably be other than completely confident of the future of the United States."

A wave of laughter and then handclapping started immediately afterward when he replied to those critics who, he said, "Resent the notion that things will ever get better and who wish to enjoy our temporary misery."

The applause resumed when he said, despite these resentments, he was "an unquenchable believer in the resistless, dynamic power of American enterprise," and again with the declaration that the banker "is now the economic guide, philosopher and friend of his customers, and his philosophy can dampen our enthusiasm and equally it can lift our courage and hope."

In an atmosphere reminiscent of his 1928 campaign days, President Hoover came to Cleveland today.

Down crowd-lined streets with a mounted military escort leading the procession, the President and Mrs. Hoover rode in an open car. Ticker tape fluttered from windows, draping over their automobile, the presidential salute of 21 guns boomed and many applauded as the President passed slowly along. Smilingly he lifted his silk hat time after time, and Mrs. Hoover, wearing a large corsage bouquet, waved her handkerchief.

Shortly after his arrival, the President was the guest of 250 bankers and business men at an informal luncheon at which no speeches were made, while the First Lady was entertained by the Women's City Club.

Make Tour of City.

On the right of the President at the luncheon sat James R. Garfield, former Secretary of the Interior and son of the former President, while to Mr. Hoover's left sat Joseph R. Nutt, Cleveland banker and treasurer of the Republican national committee.

About the President also were grouped Postmaster General Brown, Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War and a member of the President's Law Enforcement Commission; John G. Lonsdale, outgoing president of the American Bankers Association; Harris Creech, president of the Cleveland Trust Co.; Samuel Mather, Cleveland philanthropist, and Mayor John D. Marshall.

In the afternoon, Mrs. Hoover again rejoined the President, and together they were taken on an automobile tour of the city for about two hours. They dined quietly with a few friends before going to the auditorium for the address.

Arriving in this city just as business houses were releasing their employes for lunch, the President found Euclid avenue a jostling lane of people peering down the street as his procession drew near.

Jam at Public Square.

Along the same route Abraham Lincoln had paraded in 1861 as he went to Washington for his inauguration as President. Since that time fifteen others who have occupied the White House have visited Cleveland, but this was the first welcome extended a Chief Executive since Woodrow Wilson spoke here in 1916 in defense of his policy of neutrality in the World War.

Passing from the station into the business section, the applause steadily became greater, and as the procession reached Public Square a mass of people had jammed every inch of room awaiting the coming of the President.

In order to reach the Capital early tomorrow so that he would have three days there before departing Sunday night for Boston and Kings Mountain in the South, Mr. Hoover arranged for his special train to leave immediately after the conclusion of his address.

FAIR TEST OF TARIFF IS ASKED BY CURTIS

Vice President Admits Act Has Some Rates That Are Not Justified.

SPURNS OTHER NATIONS

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Vice President Charles Curtis opened the Republican State campaign tonight in an address in which he declared the American Congress has the right to enact such tariff laws as it thinks best for the interest of the people of this country without regard for the "self-interested wishes" of other countries.

Mr. Curtis spoke at a Republican rally on behalf of the candidacies of United States Senator Daniel O. Hastings and Representative Robert G. Houston.

He dwelt at length on the opposition to the tariff bill by Democratic leaders. He said there were some objectionable features in the act; that perhaps some rates were not justified, but that the beneficial provisions far outweighed and outnumbered the others.

He said the measure had not been in operation long enough to determine its true merits and asked that it be given a "fair trial."

"In my opinion," the Vice President said, "the new flexible provisions will greatly speed up relief through the Tariff Commission if and when relief is necessary." * * *

During the afternoon Mr. Curtis spoke at a meeting of the Delaware State Women's Christian Temperance Union in the Harrison Street Methodist Episcopal Church. He told the meeting the future success of the prohibition law depends on "such women as are found in the W. C. T. U."

At noon Mr. Curtis was the guest of the Republican women of the State at a luncheon in the Du Pont-Biltmore Hotel. He urged the women to take full advantage of their right to vote, saying women had been of great assistance to the Republican party in the past.

Aid Is Dispatched To Naval Vessel

Montcalm Strikes Heavy Seas on Voyage From Cuban Waters.

(Associated Press.)

The Navy Department late yesterday dispatched the U. S. S. Concord to a point 500 miles southeast of Charleston, S. C., to meet the U. S. S. Montcalm, the naval station ship at Guantanamo, Cuba, which had messaged for assistance.

The Montcalm, a vessel of light tonnage, was proceeding from Guantanamo to Norfolk, Va., when it struck heavy seas and radioed for a convoy. The message was picked up by the Tropical Radio Station at Miami, Fla., and relayed to the Navy Department.

The department immediately ordered the Concord to its aid. The Concord is the flagship of the destroyer squadrons of the scouting fleet, and was en route from Newport, R. I., to Charleston with the squadrons. Navy Department officials said the Montcalm was in no immediate danger.

DEMOCRATS BOOST RATES, SAYS WATSON

Senator, in Radio Speech, Lays Some High Duties to Political Foes.

RALLY TO HOOVER URGED

Charging that certain Democratic Senators were responsible for some of the high duties in the Smoot-Hawely act, Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, Republican floor leader, gave what he termen "intimate sketches of Democratic contortionists" in an address last night over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The Democrats are at present engaged in a destructive rather than a constructive campaign, the senator declared, and they have offered no panacea for ills they are decrying.

"Today we find the Democratic party and its allies having no policy of their own for the betterment of industrial conditions, endeavoring to destroy the leadership of President Hoover in the great task of restoring prosperity in which he is now so intelligently engaged," he said.

"They ask you to do this by sending to Washington a Congress which will hinder rather than help him. The troubles e confronts are not of his own making. They are the result of a world-wide depression, a stock market crash, and the 'fourteen-months fight' against the administration tariff bill."

The fundamental differences between the attitude of the Republicans and the Democrats on tariff, Senator Watson stated, are that the former look at it from a national point of view while the latter consider only their local or sectional needs.

"My parting word . . . is: Give President Hoover a square deal—a fair chance," he pleaded. "Where he he failed to keep his own or his party's pledges?"

The recent tariff increase in Canada was not a retaliatory measure, the Republican leader asserted. The rates in the Smoot-Hawley bill on Canadian products, he said, were substantially lower than the Canadian rates on American products under the Canadian schedules which existed before the recent tariff act was enacted.

Highway Officials Arrive in Capital

Delegates From American Republics to Hold First Meeting Tomorow.

Delegates of the American Republics to the Sixth International Road Congress, which will be in session in Washington during the coming week, will assemble at the Pan-American Union tomorrow morning to consider and sign a convention on the regulation of automotive traffic between the republics of the American continent.

The traffic convention to be submitted for the consideration and approval of the delegates was drafted at the second Pan-American highway conference, which met at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, in August, 1929. The governing board of the Pan-American Union, to which the Rio de Janeiro project was referred, decided to take advantage of the presence in Washington next week of representatives of virtually all the American republics to arrange for a special Pan-American session at which the convention might be formally signed.

The delegates of the American republics to the sixth international road congress will be the guests at luncheon tomorrow at the Pan-American Union of the Pan-American Confederation for Highway Education.

NORTHCOTT HANGED FOR TRIPLE KILLING

Murder Farm Owner Is Led to Gallows, Blindfold Over Eyes.

FAKES SUICIDE ATTEMPT

San Quentin, Calif., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Gordon Stewart Northcott, 23, chicken rancher of Wineville, Calif., was hanged here today for the murder of three young boys after he had left a written confession of his crime and faked a suicide attempt.

Northcott was led blindfolded to the gallows and collapsed as he stumbled up the thirteen steps to the scaffold platform. Guards held him until the trap was sprung at 10:09 a. m., just as the Rev. Larry Newgent, Los Angeles evangelist, was intoning verses of consolation from the fourteenth chapter of St. John. Northcott exclaimed, "Don't, don't!" and fell through the little door to the beyond he had averred he did not fear. He died of strangulation twelve minutes later while 140 witnesses watched in silence. One man fainted.

About an hour before the execution Northcott sent a hurry call for Mr. Newgent and Warden James B. Holohan and said to the warden:

"Well, I've done it. I've beat the noose."

A small bottle crashed to the floor. The warden hastily called Dr. L. L. Stanley, prison physician, who applied a stomach pump, but found no trace of poison.

"Northcott has been dramatizing again," was the warden's comment.

The confession, one of many, was written in longhand. It admitted in substance most of the charges against Northcott, implicating his aged father, Cyrus G. Northcott, and by inference, his mother, Sarah Louisa Northcott, and his cousin, Sanford Clark, who first told authorities of the murders. Mrs. Northcott is serving a life sentence here for her alleged participation.

Northcott was convicted of murdering Louie and Nelson Winslow, brothers, and an unidentified Mexican boy. Walter Collins, a fourth boy allegedly slain by the Northcotts, was slain by the father, after being mistreated, the confession said. Mrs. Northcott was convicted of the Collins murder, but the father was exonerated.

Population of Alabama Is Placed at 2,646,248

(Associated Press.)

Alabama's final 1930 population bulletin was issued by the Census Bureau yesterday, with the remark that Alabama had passed Kentucky, Iowa and Minnesota in the past decade, giving it fifteenth instead of eighteenth place in the foster of States.

The Alabama population was given as 2,646,248, an increase of 298,074, or 12.7 per cent, since 1920. The 1930 population of Kentucky has been announced as 2,623,688; of Minnesota, 2,566,445; of Iowa, 2,467,900.

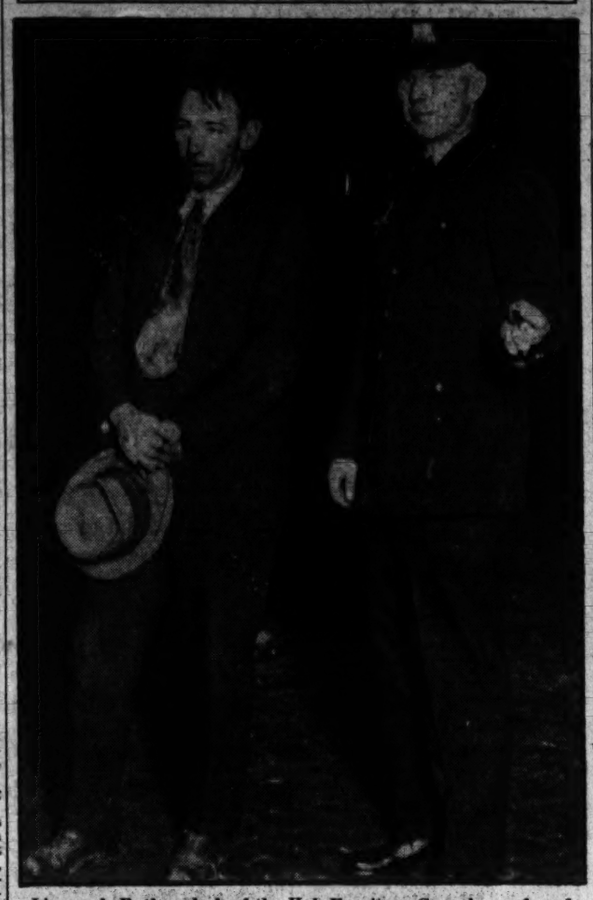
ADMITS CAUSING FOUR FIRES



Lingan A. Butler, clerk of the Hub Furniture Co., who confessed causing four of the five fires that have damaged the company's plants to the extent of $250,000 in the last two years. He is shown with M. P. Lewis, of the Sixth Precinct.

a match in a pile of excelsior, he told police. He made a hasty retreat as the flames mounted, his confession relates, and was thrilled with the same "sense of satisfaction" as this fire gained headway.

Probing in the ruins of the structure, Hub Co. employes ascribed the fire to the accumulation of heat in the upper floors, an opinion in which Butler heartily concurred, he told Inspector Shelby.

Recent Fire Described.

The questioning by detectives at this juncture led to the most recent Hub warehouse fire, causing $50,000 damages, which boosted to more than a quarter of a million dollars the aggregate damage in the series of blazes.

This was at a building at 80 L street northeast, at 10:47 in the morning of September 24, when, Butler told his interrogators, he loaded a wagon and went in the office to write a driver's paper and get the orders. When he came out the driver was not at the rear of his truck, which was backed up to the loading platform, Butler said.

He approached the driver at the front of his vehicle and after explaining one of the orders, walked back to the pitaform, lighted a match and threw it into a pile of excelsior and strolled through the office with an unlighted cigarette between his lips. He then went out and stood by the curb.

He then met Joe Kindfather, another employe of the company, and the two were talking when the cry of "Fire" was sounded by some one close by. He told Kindfather to give the alarm and together they went into the basement to save some lockers.

Nearly Trapped by Flames.

"We can't make it," Butler said he cried to his companion as the heat grew intense in the basement. For a moment it seemed they were trapped by the flames but they made their escape unharmed, the accused man said.

Butler, who lived at 1458 U street southeast, was employed for more than seven years by the Hub company. In the confession obtained from him he made the assertion that he voluntarily made the admissions contained therein and expressed satisfaction with the handling of the case by Lieut. Edward J. Kelly and Detective Sergts. Carlton Tally, George Darnall and Thomas Sweeney, who conducted the investigation.

Day and night they have worked on the case, aided by Raymond Roberts and Roy Gray, of the fire marshal's office.

$10,000,000 LIQUOR RING INQUIRY OPENS

Alleged Canada-to-Mexico Rumrunning Is Told to Louisiana Jury.

I'M ALONE IN BIG FLEET

Opelousas, La., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—A Federal grand jury of farmers and merchants today started consideration of evidence involving the operations of an alleged $10,000,000 international rum ring and implicating the Canadian rum schooner I'm Alone before she was sunk by the Coast Guard.

Before the jury was closeted, Judge Ben C. Dawkins cautioned secrecy in their deliberations and made certain that French-speaking natives understood English. Indications pointed to a two or three-day session with the evidence covering rum activities spreading from Canada down the coast to British Honduras and into the Gulf of Mexico and the coastal marshes of Louisiana.

The Government contends that the rum syndicate operated a fleet of rum boats of which the I'm Alone was one, in Atlantic and Gulf waters with a smuggling rendezvous on the Louisiana Coast, where liquors were slipped in on luggers from the larger rum boats and shipped to New Jersey points in box cars carrying rice and other grain.

While the Opelousas grand jury was in session, Roy W. Fisher, supervisor of customs agents in the New Orleans area, requested Brooklyn Federal authorities to airmail a photograph of Cecil Molyneaux, held there on charges of violating radio laws.

Mr. Fisher explained that the photograph will be placed before witnesses in Opelousas to determine if Molyneaux was the radio operator aboard the I'm Alone. If he is so identified, the grand jury will be asked to return a true bill against him.

Prosecutors claim that the rum syndicate maintained a high-powered outlaw radio station at Coney Island where rum boats were kept advised of the movements of Coast Guard vessels.

If indictments are returned by the grand jury, the trial will be held in January before the Federal District Court of the Western District of Louisiana. Some of the men already have been indicted and some have been convicted of rum operations around Gueydan, La., but the Federal prosecutors are seeking new indictments to include additional evidence.

New York, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Cecil Molyneaux was arrested here on September 27 at the key of a high-powered wireless set in Coney Island, which Federal agents believed was used by a rumrunning syndicate. Federal investigators identified him at that time as the wireless operator on the Canadian schooner I'm Alone.

Arrested with Molyneaux was a companion who gave his name as Malcolm McMasters and said he lived in Montreal. Federal men also believed Molyneaux was under $30,000 bail on charges of operating a rum radio station on the New Jersey coast, which grew out of his arrest last spring in a raid at Atlantic Highlands, N. J.

Sitting Up Straight Keeps Waistline Trim

Paris, Oct. 1 (A.P.).—Women have quit worrying about their hips and are concentrating reducing efforts on their waistlines. Since string silhouettes went out and curves came in, tape-measure attentions concentrate on the "abdominal contours."

"If you sit slumped down in a chair half the day with your abdomen out and your chest in," a fashionable gym class assistant confided, "not all the daily dozens or two dozens will correct your contours."

WOODCOCK UNMOVED BY GRAPE WINE PLAN

Hears Report of Campaign to Get Rid of Surplus Through More Home Production.

LEGALITY IS QUESTIONED

(Associated Press.)

Reports that the problem of surplus California grapes will be solved by increased home production of wine and grape-juice yesterday were brought to the attention of Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock.

The official said rumors of a campaign to market easily fermented grape products presented "a bridge I will not cross until I come to it."

He reiterated earlier statements that the manufacture of wine and beer in the home for home use is immune from Federal interference.

Woodcock Denies Reports.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former Assistant Attorney General in charge of prohibition, appeared recently before the Federal Farm Board on behalf of Fruit Industries, Inc., a cooperative representing about 90 per cent of the California grape industry.

Since then she has entertained a group of dry leaders who gathered here for a meeting of the executive committee of organization in support of the eighteenth amendment. Published reports have linked Mr. Woodcock with the function, but he said yesterday he had "read with great surprise that I was among the guests," and added he had not seen Mrs. Willebrandt for two months.

New York Inspection.

The Volstead act makes illegal the manufacture of any product or article with intent of use for making intoxicating liquor. The Rev. E. C. Dinwiddie, secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public morals, yesterday characterized this section as broad and stressed that an advertising campaign for marketing the grapes with the intent that they be used for wine would be unlawful, whether or not the advertising suggested wine-making.

Prosecution of such activity would involve a question of the intellectual honesty of the advertisers, Mr. Woodcock pointed out, adding that a campaign to stimulate grape-juice making would naturally be immune.

Mr. Woodcock announced he would leave Monday on an inspection tour of the New York district and would continue from there to Chicago to survey conditions. He said he found the situation in Tennessee, where he went last week, "almost ideal."

CANNON CASE SHIFTS TO CAPITAL FRONT

morning and another meeting later in the day at the home of Bishop Collins Denny, with the four elders, who lodged complaints against Bishop Cannon.

The guarded manner of his departure and his presence here, fast on the heels of the arival of Bishop Cannon from Brazil, was regarded as pointing to a talk between the two. Bishop Ainsworth apepared at the Raleigh Hotel yesterday afternoon to receive commuications sent to him there, but did not register. He hurried out, and at a late hour last night a check of a score or more hotels here for him proved unavailing.

Bishop Canon spent some time in his office at the denomination's Board of Temperance and Social Service yesterday in the Methodist Building, but to all questions, he replied that he had "nothing to say."

Bishop Ainsworth, according to Associated Press advices, arrived in Richmond Wednesday night and at once went into conference with the four elders, who included the Rev. Dr. Costen J. Harrell and the Rev. Dr. J. T. Mastin, of Richmond; the Rev. Dr. Forrest J. Prettyman, of Baltimore, and the Rev. Dr. I. P. Martin, of Abingdon, Va.

Dr. Harrell said after the first conference that he did not believe "anything was done that would be of any public interest." While the exact nature of the charges have not been revealed, Dr. Prettyman has stated there were accusations additional to the stock speculation and political activity charges of which Bishop Cannon was exonerated by the church at its convention in May in Dallas, Tex.

Under the church procedure, three elders of the church may prefer charges against a bishop, filing them with any other bishop of the church. It then becomes the duty of the bishop with whom the charges were filed to appoint a committee of twelve to investigate the charges. If a trial is recommended by the investigating committee the accused bishop is suspended until the next general conference when the trial will be held. The next Southern Methodist conference is in 1934.

Bishop Cannon's name came before the last general conference in connection with his trading on the New York Stock Exchange. At that time he expressed contriteness, was passed without a trial being called and was reappointed chairman of the denomination's Board of Temperance and Social Service.

Coal Smoke Most Valuable.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—The world's most valuable smoke is coal smoke, and it is also the most wasteful. Coal smoke contains oil, pitch, acid, coke and gas, all highly valuable industrial substances which scientists rapidly are learning how to extract before they go up the flue. But when they all are extracted there will be no smoke.

COMPANY TO INSURE TEETOTALERS ONLY

New Corporation Being Here Is Backed by Group of Drys.

$100,000 IS SUBSCRIBED

A new wrinkle in the life insurance game made its appearance here yesterday when a group of men prominently identified with prohibitionist groups announced the organization of the "American Temperance Life Insurance Co. of the District of Columbia," an organization that will underwrite teetotalers only.

Apparently concerned over life insurance statistics which reflect increases in deaths from alcoholism since prohibition, sponsors of the new company made it clear that the taking of even one drink will render any prospective patron ineligible.

Jerry A. Matthews, local attorney and a member of the committee of twelve backing the enterprise, said that the new company was ready for incorporation, approximately $100,000 capital having been subscribed to date. Stock is being sold at present through a "wholesale mail campaign," he explained, but later agents will be placed in the field.

Other members of the organization committee are: Edwin C. Dinwiddie, superintendent of the National Temperance Bureau andaffiliated with a large number of prohibition organizations; Representative Homer W. Hall, of Illinois; the Rev. A. J. Barton, president of the National Conference of Organizations Supporting the Eighteenth Amendment; Representative Louis T. McFadden, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House banking committee; Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Renick W. Dunlap, of Ohio; Dr. Everett M. Ellison, practicing physician here; Walter C. Balderston, local attorney; Orville M. Kile, Washington agricultural economist; Arthur G. Metcalf, chief of soil investigations, Bureau of Chemistrty and Soils, Department of Agriculture, and William E. Mooney, local contractor and builder.

Washington Grape Men To Ask Dry Law Change

(Associated Press.)

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—The question of repeal or modification of the State bone dry prohibition law will be placed before the 1931 Washington Legislature, the Belle Island Grape Growers Union of Grapeville, Wash., decided today.

In a resolution the members asserted the manufacture of light wine for home use is "not immoral" and "now is countenanced by the Federal Prohibition Enforcement Bureau and approved by many leading drys of the Nation." Continuing the resolution requested the State be placed on a parity in this respect with other States.

"Grapes are an agricultural product of Washington," the resolutions recited, "and their use should be fostered rather than discriminated against."

COLORADO TORNADO TAKES THREE LIVES

HOUSES ARE FLATTENED

Pueblo, Colo., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Three persons were killed, one is missing and five were injured by a freak tornado which swept a narrow path near Fowler, 30 miles east of here, late today. The storm area was about a quarter of a mile wide. Where the tornado came to earth and where it ended its destructive course was not known.

The dead are: G. W. Lackey and Mrs. John H. Downing, botth of Fowler, and Collie Noble, 58, of Manzanola, Colo.

J. W. Lawler, of Fowler, was not accounted for and was believed a victim of the storm. He had gone into the tornado-swept area today with a herd of cattle and no word has been received from him.

Mrs. Downing and Lackey were in an automobile in the path of the storm. They sought shelter in a small building near the highway. The storm flattened the building, crushing the pair.

Noble was a ranch foreman. He took refuge in a ranch house and the house collapsed, injuring him fatally.

Names of those hurt and the extent of their injuries could not be determined and details of the twister were lecking because of crippled communication lines.

Weather bureau observers here were at a loss to explain the tornado. It apparently developed without any barometric indication, officials said.

TENEMENT FALLS; FIVE SLEEPERS DIE

Seven Others Are Injured as Building Collapses In Greenwich Village.

WRECKING MEN ARE HELD

New York, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—The old brick walls of a Greenwich Village tenement groaned and collapsed today, burying the twelve occupants and killing five of them in their sleep.

The foundations of the house, on Greenwich avenue opposite Jefferson Market court, had been weakened for years by adjacent excavations, and wreckers have been demolishing four adjoining buildings, one of which housed the saloon of Luke O'Connor, where John Masefield, poet laureate of England, scrubbed the floors when he was 17.

All officers of the wrecking company which tore down the four houses were ordered arrested by District Attorney Crain, who blamed them for failing to shore up sufficiently the sagging walls of the neighboring structure.

Two of the dead are women, Mrs. Victorine Courtade, 48 years old, owner of the building and proprietor of a coffee shop on the first floor, and her daughter, Marguerite, 27. The others are Carlo Tornaghi, 29; Frank Burdon, and an unidentified man. Tornaghi arrived from France yesterday.

The rest were injured, two critically, a thirteenth tenant, Baptiste Lebastide, spent the night with friends and came home to find police and firemen digging the bodies of his fellow lodgers out of the ruins.

The Courtade Tenement had been a home for men and women from France and Belgium, drawn together by their common knowledge of the French language and by the flavor of the French coffee, which Mrs. Courtade dispensed.

Tenants who escaped serious injury told the district attorney that they could not keep their hands from shaking during the last few days as they lifted their cups in the coffee shop. Passing trucks set up ominous vibrations in the house, they said.

Hay Is Profitable Crop In Tobacco Belt's Heart

Winston-Salem, N. C., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Charles Goslin lives in the center of the bright-leaf tobacco belt of North Carolina, but he does not depend upon the "weed" for his cash crop. He raises hay instead of tobacco. For six years he has been planting clover and soy beans, followed in the spring with a mixture of timothy, red-top and alsike. This year, according to County Agent R. C. Poux, Goslin harvested 25 tons of hay from 13 acres.

The hay was sold at the farm for $30 a ton, a return of almost $60 per acre. Goslin will still get another clipping of lespedeza and carpet grass.

ALEXANDRIA'S BOND DEBT IS $2,205,400

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

In connection with the sale of the city gas plant to the Alexandria Gas Co., which was completed Wednesday by the delivery to the trustees appointed by the city council checks amounting to $750,000 by officials of the new company, it was brought out yesterday that the outstanding bonded indebtedness of the city at present is $2,205,400, which includes $99,000 indebtedness of the Town of Potomac, assumed by Alexandria when Potomac was included in the territory annexed on January 1 of this year, and $900 of a bond issue of 1879, which matured in 1909, and which have never been presented for redemption. The list of bonds follows:

July 1, 1902, street and sewer, 4 per cent, $50,000; outstanding, $31,500; date of maturity, 1932.

July, 1908, refunding, $745,000, 4 per cent, maturing in 1938; amount outstanding, $556,600.

May, 1916, annexation (serial), $70,000, 4 per cent, maturing in 1938; amount outstanding, $69,500.

July, 1919, school and improvement (serial), $100,000, 5 per cent, maturing in 1954; amount outstanding, $73,000.

October, 1921, street improvement (serial), $120,000, 6 per cent, maturing in 1937; amount outstanding, $57,000.

October, 1921, gas plant (serial), $180,000, 6 per cent, maturing in 1956; amount outstanding, $180,000.

August, 1923, public improvement and funding (serial), $195,000, 5 per cent, maturing in 1955; amount outstanding, $180,000.

August, 1923, schools (serial), $100,000, 5 per cent, maturing in 1955; amount outstanding, $90,000.

February, 1926, public improvement and funding, (serial) $150,000, 4½ per cent, maturing in 1961; amount outstanding, $138,000.

January, 1930, annexation, (serial) $750,000 4½ per cent, maturing in 1964; amount outstanding, $750,000.

January, 1922, Town of Potomac, sewer, $60,000, 6 per cent, callable after 10 years from date of issue; amount outstanding, $60,000.

1925, improvements, Town of Potomac, (serial) $39,000, 5½ per cent; amount outstanding, $39,000.

Of the $750,000 paid to the city for the gas plant seven-eighths, or $657,250, will, by the terms of the ordinance authorizing the sale of the property, be applied to the redemption of outstanding bonds, which would leave the bonded indebtedness of the city $1,544,150. In the event, however, the trustees are unable to redeem city bonds in a reasonable length of time, they are authorized to invest the balance of the money in securities authorized by the laws of Virginia, or in fiduciary funds, making reports to the city council of the action taken.

The officials of the new Alexandria Gas Co. are George A. G. Wood, president; Rudolph H. Yeatman, director; George B. Frazier, vice president and treasurer; Wilton J. Lambert, general counsel and director; Frank A. Woodhead, vice president, and Miss A. Ruby Harper, secretary, all of Washington.

President Wood stated yesterday that practically all employes of the plant will be retained, and for the present, at least, the old gas plant will be operated. The company intends, eventually, to pump gas from its mains at Rosslyn. The work of laying new mains in the newly annexed territory, as well as in sections of the older portion of the city which are now without gas, will be started immediately.

A new feature will be an arrangement for the payment of gas bills at the banks of Alexandria as is done in Washington.

It was stated by George B. Fraser, vice president of the company, that the new rates which will be placed in effect will reduce the cost of gas to Alexandria consumers between $40,000 and $50,000 a year, with the new minimum rate of $1.15 per 1,000 feet. The new rate, however, under the contract, will not become effective until four months after the taking over of the property, or February 1, 1931.

Hunting and fishing licenses issued from July 1 to September 30, inclusive, by Elliott P. Hoffman, clerk of the corporation court, numbered 603, which is a large increase over the number issued last year in the corresponding period. The increase is due mainly to the fact that local anglers are required to obtain a license, which was not the case last year. The revenue accruing to the State from these licenses amounts to $1,418.50. In November, when the season for birds opens, it is expected there will be a rush to obtain licenses.

Elmer Beasley, Negro, charged with the larceny of the automobile of Ernest Carroll, of 213 Wolfe street, pleaded guilty to the charge in police court yesterday and was held for the grand jury. He also pleaded guilty to colliding and leaving the scene after an accident, and was fined $50 and costs on this charge.

Capt. Richard H. Jeschke, United States Marine Corps, of the Quantico Marine Barracks, had eight stitches taken in his head early yesterday morning at the Alexandria Hospital by Dr. M. D. Delany, after he was struck by an automobile driven by J. R. Custer, of Lorton, who reported that the officer walked in front of his car at Johnsons Hill. Mr. Custer brought the injured officer to the hospital for treatment.

The northern Virginia advisory committee of the American Automobile Association will hold its first meeting in the George Mason Hotel at 2:30 o'clock today, when luncheon will be served and organization plans mapped out. State Senator Frank L. Ball is chairman and the members of the committee are residents of Alexandria and Arlington and Fairfax Counties.

Mrs. John S. Morrison, of 1130 Four-and-a-half street southwest, Washington, sustained cuts on the head yesterday when an automobile driven by her husband and one driven by Henry Porter, Negro, of Green Bay, Va., collided. Mrs. Morrison refused hospital treatment.

The collision occurred at the curve at Gum Springs, on the Washington-Richmond highway. Both cars were considerably damaged.

Mrs. Minnie Posey, 57 years old, wife of John Posey, died Wednesday at her home, 214 Wolfe street. Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons and two daughters.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at her late residence by the Rev. Percy Foster Hall, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, and interment will be in Bethel Cemetery.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ada Franklin, 68 years old, wife of William Franklin, who died Wednesday at her home, 327 South Patrick street, will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon from Cunningham's funeral home, by the Rev. R. F. Dodge, pastor of the Temple Baptist Church. Burial will be in Bethel Cemetery.

Mrs. Daisy May Strobel, 27 years old, wife of Ralph R. Strobel, died yesterday at the Alexandria Hospital. Besides her husband, she is survived by three children.

Funeral services will be conducted at Cunningham's funeral home at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon by the Rev. Ryland F. Dodge, pastor of the Temple Baptist Church, and burial will be in the Methodist Protestant Cemetery.

Miss Alice James' Rites Set.

Purcellville, Va., Oct. 2 (Special).—Funeral services for Miss Alice James, who died in El Paso, Tex., Sunday morning, will be held at Ketoctin Baptist Church tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. Miss James was 77 years of age and her death was due to paralysis. She was born in Round Hill, this county, and was the daughter of the late Mason and Patience James. She is survived by one sister, also of El Paso. Interment will be in Short Hill Cemetery.

Three Women Slain In Family Quarrel

Husband Shoots Wife and Aunt in Street, Then Kills Mate's Mother.

Williamson, W. Va., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Three women lay dead today, while State police, piecing together the story of a triple tragedy, said William C. Adams, captured in the mountains 2 miles from here, had confessed that he slew them and that he was "looking for two men" when he was apprehended.

Adams saw his estranged wife, Mrs. Flossie Adams, 29 years old, and her aunt, Mrs. Cynthia McGuire, walking on the street here yesterday. He left his automobile and attempted to talk to his wife. A quarrel ensued and, police said, Adams drew a pistol from his pocket and shot both women.

After the shooting, Adams went to the home of Mrs. John Campbell, his wife's mother, and killed her, police said. Then Adams fled to the hills.

Mrs. McGuire was a resident of Johnson City, Tenn., and was visiting here.

NIGHT SCHOOL OPENS MONDAY IN COUNTY

WAR MOTHERS BANQUET

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar, 509. Clarendon, Va.

With a faculty of ten teachers, night school at Washington-Lee High School will open Monday night, with registration at 7 o'clock, continuing for a term of eight months, according to an announcement yesterday from the principal, S. P. Vanderslice. The classes will be from 7 to 10 o'clock each night excepting Saturday night. The period for each class will be for one hour.

Courses will be offered in all branches of high school, English, mathematics, chemistry, physics, American history and civics, mechanical drawing, bookkeeping, typewriting, shorthand and commercial law.

Last year was the first time night school was attempted, and from the interest shown and the enrollment indications are that this year will find all classes well filled, Mr. Vanderslice stated.

With a total of 137 students, the organization of the Cadet Corps for the school year, under the leadership of Lieut. Col. C. S. McNeill, is now well under way. The band, numbering 30 pieces, will be under the direction of Mr. Yasell.

Meeting in the auditorium of the Matthew Fountain Maury School, at Clarendon last night, the Parent-Teacher Association went on record as supporting the movement looking to the organization of the Arlington County School Federation.

The project was explained fully by Arthur Orr, of Lyon Park, and Frederick P. Dewey, of Clarendon, who stated that it is proposed to perfect the organization at a meeting to be held in the auditorium of the Washington-Lee High School the evening of October 31 at 8 o'clock. President H. G. Luther said that he would announce the selection of the three delegates who will represent the school at the organization meeting.

Concluding the business session a reception to the teachers was held.

County School Superintendent Fletcher Kemp, the principal speaker, congratulated the organization on its work and especially on its showing made last year, it having a record for the largest number of paid-up members of any Parent-Teacher Association in the State, for which it will receive the silver cup at the annual State convention to be held at Lynchburg, October 28-29.

Concluding their second day's meeting, the Virginia American War Mothers, in convention at Falls Church, held a banquet last night at the Washington Golf and Country Club.

The banquet opened with the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" by Mrs. Anne Yogo McGuffey, of Falls Church, followed by the invocation by the Rev. George L. Conner, pastor of the Falls Church Methodist Church.

Among the speakers were Mrs. Virgil McClure, of Lexington, Ky., national president; Gen. Amos A. Fries, U. S. A., retired, of the Chemical Warfare Department, and Mrs. Norman N. Nock, national Gold Star chairman.

Music was furnished by the Drum and Bugle Corps, American Legion, Arlington Post, No. 139, and vocal selections were given by Mrs. Catherine Davis, of Falls Church, and a medley of national airs by the Falls Church Orchestra.

The delegates will meet this morning at 10 o'clock at the Falls Church Baptist Church and proceed by automobile to the Arlington National Cemetery, where a wreath will be placed upon the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier by the presidents of the two visiting chapters, Mrs. Oliver J. Wamble, of Tidewater Chapter, of Norfolk, and Mrs. Norman T. Williamson, of Alexandria Chapter.

Leaving the cemetery, the group will come to Clarendon, where they will be the luncheon guests of the American Legion Auxiliary, Unit No. 139, of Arlington Post, at the home of Mrs. Arthur J. Porter, Wilson boulevard and Clarendon avenue.

During the month of September there was a total of 298 deeds recorded in the county clerk's office, according to the monthly report given yesterday. The tax to the State amounted to $842.54.

Other items included in the report are: Wills and administrations, 18, State tax, $62.20; chancery suits, 79, State tax, $31.50; actions at law, 29, State tax, $33; fines collected during the month for violations of the prohibition law amounted to $150, with the costs amounting to $434.50; fines in cases other than prohibition were $67, with costs amounting to $134.75.

Delinquent real estate taxes collected during the month going to the State treasurer amounted to $178.23. The amount collected that goes into the county treasury totaled $1,638.69.

All persons who are otherwise qualified to vote and wish to participate in the coming election to be held in November, when the voters of Arlington County will be called upon to vote on whether or not there shall be a change in the form of local county government and for members of Congress, have only one more opportunity to register, tomorrow being the last day.

According to the law and as stated by Claude O. Thomas, secretary to the Arlington County Electoral Board, all registration books will be closed at midnight tomorrow night.

Registrars in each of the eleven voting precincts will set either at their homes or at the several voting precincts tomorrow, for the purpose of registering all persons who are qualified to do so.

At a special meeting of the Parent Teachers Association of the Stonewall Jackson School at Bon Air, held in the schoolhouse last night, it was voted to hold all future meetings of the association on the third Thursday of each month. Plans were also formulated to hold a reception to the teachers at the next meeting which will be held Thursday night, October 16, at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium.

The following committee chairman were appointed: publicity, Miss Lillian ers; membership, Mrs. C. R. Frank Masoletti; program, Mrs. Edith Rogers; membership, Mrs. C. R. Frank; parliamentarian, M. H. Lane; refreshments, Mrs. M. R. Ball and Mrs. J. H. Burns.

Suits in condemnation proceedings for the purpose of acquiring rights of way for the Lee Boulevard were filed in the county clerk's office yesterday by Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth in the name of the State Highway Commission against the following parties: William E. Peabody, Mary Florence Peabody, and Ireene Peabody, and W. E. Moore, W. Marvin Sutton, Henry Thomas, A. H. Brown, H. L. Choate, Frank Mann, Frank L. Ball and Harry R. Thomas, trustees of the Mount Oliver Methodist Church. Another was filed against J. W. Little. All property is located within Arlington Magisterial District.

The papers ask that commissioners be appointed to view the property and determine upon a just compensation.

According to the records in the county clerk's office, the State Corporation Commission has granted a charter to the Cop-EE, Inc., with principal offices to be located at Arlington.

The charter provides that the company will enter into the manufacturing of duplicating machinery and do a general stationery and printing business.

The capital stock is to be $250,000. The officers are Jesse L. Rogers, president; E. F. Super, vice president, and Frank L. Rogers, secretary.

Eager to support the athletics at the Washington-Lee High School, a group of the students now are carrying on a campaign over the county asking the citizens to come to their help by purchasing one of the school season tickets, which will entitle the holder to attend all athletic events at the school this year.

Beginning Sunday, October 12, and continuing through Sunday, October 19, a mission will be conducted at the St. Charles Catholic Church at Clarendon by the Rev. Xavier Gonter. Services, to which the public is invited, will be conducted each morning and evening, the hours to be announced.

Mississippi derived approximately $82,000 from tobacco taxes during June, the first month the tax was imposed.

DEMOCRATS TO MAP PLAN OF CAMPAIGN

Montgomery Candidates Will Meet in Rockville on Monday.

WILL HOLD 60 RALLIES

Democratic candidates and members of the Democratic State central committee for Montgomery County will meet Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the courthouse at Rockville, it was announced yesterday by Barry E. Clark, chairman of the county State central committee.

All Democratic candidates are expected to attend the meeting to assist in mapping plans for the intensive campaign to be launched prior to the November election. Approximately 60 political rallies are to be held, with four teams of speakers bearing the brunt of the speaking.

Plans for the meeting October 17, when Gov. Albert C. Ritchie and other State candidates are to visit the Rockville Fair Grounds in the afternoon and at the Silver Spring National Guard Armory and the Bethesda Theater in the evening.

A conference will be held at the Rockville Presbyterian Church tonight by the Montgomery County Christian Endeavor Union. F. C. Dixon, State field secretary and other prominent workers will address the meeting. Paul Smith, of Bethesda, president of the union, will conduct the conference, and the Rev. Henry K. Pasma, pastor of the Rockville Presbyterian Church, will conduct the opening exercises. The male quartet of the Darnestown Presbyterian Church, will sing.

The county union includes the societies of the Rockville and Hyattstown Christian Churches, the Rockville, Darnestown, Boyds, Hermon and Kensington Presbyterian Churches, the Brookeville Methodist Protestant Church and Mount Carmel Chapel. Officers of the union are: Paul Smith, president; Mrs. Roberta Higgins, of Rockville, secretary, and Wilton Boswell, of Brookeville, treasurer.

The union will hold its annual rally day Sunday morning in the Rockville Presbyterian Church, when Mr. Pasma will preach.

The Montgomery County Chapter of the American Red Cross, will meet October 22, at the Hungerford Tavern, Rockville, to discuss plans for the annual roll-call, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. J. Somervell Dawson, chairman of the chapter.

W. B. Walters has been elected president of the Fairland Parent-Teacher Association, succeeding Warren Adams. He was chairman of the program committee last year. Other officers elected were: Mrs. O. W. Roby, secretary; Mrs. John Wheeler, treasurer. The new program committee includes, Mrs. Wirt Ellin, Mrs. William V. Graybill and Miss Emma Muncaster.

Boy Slays Companion At 'Police and Gangster'

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Two 6-year-old boys played a game of "policeman and gangster" here yesterday and today one of them is dead from a bullet fired accidentally.

Everett Davis, jr., was the victim. James Ingram was holding the pistol. The accident occurred when James, holding the gun at his back with Everett behind him, pulled the trigger. A bullet tore through Everett's wrist and punctured his intestines.

Mr. Stepp Weds Mrs. Fultz.

Cumberland, Md., Oct. 2 (Special) Mrs. Sallie Lee Fultz and Samuel Stepp, both of Harrisonburg, Va., were married Sunday evening at Union Grove Methodist Episcopal Church, near Cumberland, by the Rev. J. W. Webb. A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's daughter, Mrs. Raymond B. Fey, near Union Grove. Mr. and Mrs. Stepp will reside at Harrisonburg.

Mr. R. C. Kirby Tells How Cuticura Healed Itchy Eruptions.

"Some time ago I began breaking out with small, red pimples. They bothered me at night, itching until I could hardly sleep, and when I scratched them it caused eruptions. They bothered me about two months.

"I tried several different remedies but was not successful until I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using them a few times, as per directions, the itching stopped, and in two or three weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) R. C. Kirby, R. D. 4, Manchester, Tenn., June 28, 1929.

CURRENT EVENTS IN VIRGINIA AND MARYLAND

WAR MOTHERS HOLD SECOND CONVENTION

Mrs. E. T. Fenwick Reelected Head of Virginia Group at Falls Church.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The second annual Virginia State convention of American War Mothers opened yesterday morning in the Sunday schoolrooms of the Columbia Baptist Church at Falls Church. Mrs. E. T. Fenwick, of Falls Church, president of the State organization, presided. Delegates from the Piedmont Chapter, at Falls Church; the Alexandria Chapter, and the Tidewater Chapter, of Norfolk, were in attendance. Several national officers and visitors from the District of Columbia Chapter were present.

An address was delivered by Mrs. Virgil McClure, of Lexington, Ky., president of the National Association. The welcome from the State president, Mrs. E. T. Fenwick, was responded to by Mrs. Oliver J. Wimble, president of Tidewater Chapter, of Norfolk.

Musical selections were given by Mrs. Mary Ryer, with Mrs. Grace Brown as accompanist. Mrs. M. C. O'Neil, national custodian of records, presented to the State Chapter a gavel made from wood from the White House secured when the building was remodeled a few years ago. The handle of the gavel is made from walnut grown on the Mount Vernon estate.

Yesterday morning's business session included the reading of the minutes of the first meeting of the State Chapter last year, when it was organized in Norfolk. The reports were made by Mrs. Fenwick to explain the movement under way for the organization of additional chapters throughout the State. Mrs. Samuel H. Styles gave the State treasurer's report. Reports were also made by the State committee chairmen as follows: Americanization, Mrs. Elizabeth Newell, of Falls Church; hospitalization, Mrs. George S. Fadley, gold star, Mrs. C. N. McGoarty, of Falls Church; finance, Mrs. Rosa F. Webb; memory tree, Mrs. T. T. Taylor; resolutions, Mrs. Norman Williamson; legislation, Mrs. Marshall; historian, Mrs. Lydia Spoffard. Luncheon was served at noon by the ladies of the Piedmont Chapter in the basement of the church.

The afternoon session was opened with an invocation by the Rev. Altorf B. Altfather, pastor of the Falls Church Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Robert Garner gave a violin solo, accompanied by Mrs. John T. Bowen. This was followed by reading of the report of the credentials committee, composed of Mrs. George M. Lester, of Falls Church; Mrs. Oliver J. Wamble, of Norfolk and Mrs. C. T. Howard, of Alexandria.

The nominating committee, Mrs. W. L. Turner, Mrs. Oliver J. Wamble and Mrs. Norman Williamson, presented its report. The election of officers was then conducted by Mrs. E. G. Waggoner, of Washington, recording secretary of the District of Columbia Chapter. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. E. T. Fenwick, of Falls Church, president; Mrs. O. J. Wamble, of Norfolk, first vice president; Mrs. C. T. Howard, of Alexandria, second vice president; Mrs. Samuel H. Styles, of Falls Church, treasurer; Mrs. Mary G. Derrickson, of Norfolk, recording secretary; Mrs. George N. Lester, of Falls Church, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alice D. Thrift, of Norfolk, chaplain; Mrs. Norman Williamson, of Alexandria, custodian of records, and Mrs. Lydia Spoffard, of Alexandria, historian. The officers were installed by Mrs. McClure. An address was given on "Our National Headquarters" by Mrs. E. C. Wagner.

A banquet was given in the evening at the Washington Golf and Country Club in honor of the national president and the State officers and guests. Beginning at 8 o'clock an open meeting was held. Gen Amos A. Fries, U. S. A., retired, spoke on "Chemical Warfare." An address by Mrs. N. N. Nock, national Gold Star chairman, closed the evening's program.

Today's program will consist of a pilgrimage to the Unknown Soldier's Tomb in Arlington Cemetery. The delegations will meet at the Baptist Church in Falls Church at 10 o'clock and from there will proceed in a body to the cemetery where they will be met at 10:30 o'clock by Mrs. McClure and other national and District of Columbia officers. A wreath will be laid on the tomb by the presidents of the two visiting chapters, Mrs. O. J. Wamble, of Norfolk, and Mrs. Norman Williamson, of Alexandria. After a tour of the cemetery the delegates will be entertained at luncheon by the American Legion Auxiliary, Arlington Post, 139, at the home of Mrs. Arthur J. Porter in Clarendon.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Franklin Sherman School at McLean will hold a reception for teachers this evening in the auditorium of the school house. Principal Gordon E. Smith has reported an enrollment of 310 pupils this year.

The reception to the faculty of the Madison and Jefferson Schools in the town of Falls Church will be held by the Parent-Teacher Association today. Mrs. James W. Brown has been appointed chairman of the musical program; Mrs. O. B. Livingston, introductions; Mrs. G. L. Robertshaw, decorations; Mrs. Harmond Green, games, and Mrs. J. C. Parrott, refreshments. Mrs. J. B. Gould will give a reading and the rest of the program will consist of music.

The Washington district meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Potomac Presbyterial will be held tomorrow at Floris. The cause secretaries will hold a 20-minute conference and the foreign mission secretaries will discuss the White Cross work and receive suggestions for that work during the coming year.

The annual achievement program of the Home Demonstration Clubs will be held this afternoon in the auditorium of the Oakton School. Miss Maud Wallace, of Blacksburg, Va., State demonstration agent will be the guest of honor. Mrs. James U. Kincheloe, of Fairfax, chairman of the Home Demonstration Agents Advisory Council, will preside.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church at Pender will meet tomorrow at the home of Mrs. A. A. Birch.

Investigation was being conducted yesterday by Postal Inspector L. A. DeWard into the robbery of the postoffice at McLean some time Wednesday night. The postoffice is a part of the general store of H. W. Storm. The safe was blown open and stamps valued at approximately $130 were taken. No cash is kept in the store overnight.

Entrance to the building was gained by forcing the front door. The robbery was discovered yesterday morning when Storm started to open for the day at 6 o'clock.

This is the fourth time in ten years that the McLean postoffice has been robbed. No clews were left by the robbers. Neighbors living nearby were not disturbed by the explosion, which tore the safe door from its hinges. Mail sacks were used to muffle the sound.

Youth, Hit by Auto, Dies of Injuries

Struck Near Winchester While Aiding Capital Widow After Crash.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Oct. 2.—Raymond L. Bowley, 20-year-old son of A. Wallace Bowley, died tonight in a hospital from skull fracture, broken back and other injuries, suffered early Tuesday when struck by an automobile north of here while helping Vincent Hollis and E. C. Johnson, the latter of Washington, to carry Mrs. Eleanor Walter, young Winchester widow, up an embankment after an automobile had been ditched.

Bowley, not a member of the party, drove along a moment after the first accident had occurred, returning from a dance at Jordan Springs.

A machine said to have been driven by George Snyder, of Winchester, sped down the road and struck Bowley and Hollis. Police summoned Mrs. Walter, Snyder, Johnson and Hollis for questioning. The latter still is in a hospital.

CUMBERLAND CRASH KILLS THREE FLIERS

Gasoline Tank Explodes as Plane Plunges to Earth; Fire Envelops All.

LOW TURN IS BLAMED

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Oct. 2.—William Lease, of Cumberland, was burned to death late this afternoon when an airplane in which he was riding with William Skelly, of Cresap Park, its pilot and owner, and Glondon Hott, Hilltop Drive, this city, took a nose dive at the abandoned Cumberland Airport, 6 miles from this city, near Cresaptown. The gasoline tank exploded as the ship struck the ground. The other men died later in a hospital.

Skelly and Hott either fell or jumped from the plane, from which they ran with their clothing ablaze. Persons who were near tore their clothing from them, and in a semi-conscious condition they were rushed to Allegany Hospital here.

When the blazing plane was removed from Lease he had been burned beyond recognition.

The plane had been up but a few minutes when the accident occurred. It fell in a field adjoining the airport track. Persons who saw the take-off said that Skelly had gone but a few hundred feet when he apparently started to turn. He had not reached a sufficient height to make a safe turn, and, with the two passengers in front the weight was responsible for the nose dive, investigators believe.

POLLARD MAY NAME STRIKE MEDIATORS

union picket, with assault, was exonerated in the police court after a hearing. Henry, supported by witnesses, said that Pugh pushed him away from a crowd of Negroes who were being persuaded to enter the mill gate. Pugh and other witnesses denied the charge. Robert H. Herndon, yard overseer of the mills, also charged with reckless driving and assault in an alleged attempt to run down James Elliott, also was dismissed.

Fifteen special deputies drawn from a remote part of Pittsylvania County were at their posts at the mill enclosure today but their presence drew no objection from the pickets. Thirty operatives were admitted to the plants today to perform emergency work and pickets were withdrawn by the union from mill gates which are upon mill owned property.

Francis J. Gorman addressed another meeting of the union men and women at the City Park, urging the strikers to remain firm. The fourth day of the strike was marked by no reported disorder.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Gov. John Garland Pollard today offered to appoint a committee of mediation to act in the Danville strike if 4,000 textile workers did not return to their work in the Dan River and Riverside Mills Monday morning.

The governor's offer was sent by telegraph to H. R. Fitzgerald, president of the mills, with a request to the Associated Press that it be transmitted to employes through the newspapers.

The telegram to Mr. Fitzgerald was as follows.

"On account of important public interests involved, I hereby offer to appoint a committee of mediation for the purpose of seeking to bring about an amicable settlement of the pending controversy between your corporation and its former employes to whom I am addressing the same offer."

Gov. Pollard said he had not considered whom he would appoint on the committee if the offer were accepted, nor the size of the committee.

COUNTY GROUP HOST AT CLUB INSTITUTE

Officers of Federation in Maryland Are Guests at Hyattsville.

FALL SHOW POSTPONED

A club institute was held in Hyattsville yesterday by State officers of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs. The purpose of the institute was to show members of the Prince Georges clubs the proper way to hold meetings and conduct various programs. Mrs. Frank Small, jr., president of the county federation, presided over the institute and its model programs.

State officers who explained the proper procedure in considering matters in their department were: Mrs. Henry Robertson, State parliamentarian; Mrs. H. Matthew Galt, State club institute chairman; Mrs. Calvin Gabriel, citizenship chairman; Mrs. Gardner Spring, jr., American homes chairman; Mrs. Addison J. Beane, jr., finance chairman; Mrs. R. W. Nicolls, educational chairman; Mrs. James Hooper Dorsey, conservation chairman; Miss Estelle T. Moore, public welfare chairman; Mrs. John Paul Troy, child welfare chairman, and Mrs. Mildred Kahler Geare, chairman of the State publicity committee.

Also on the program were Mrs. Albert G. Goodrich, Mrs. George H. Ward and Mrs. Harry E. Houck.

County business in Prince Georges was slowed up and, in some cases, stopped yesterday because of a large attendance of officials at the St. Marys County Fair at La Plata. Most of the county agents, whose headquarters are at Upper Marlboro, were reported to be attending the festivities and comparing notes with their brothers at La Plata.

Many private citizens of the southern part of Prince Georges County were also said to be attending the fair, which began Wednesday and lasts until tomorrow.

Congested traffic conditions on the Baltimore boulevard, which is being widened, have resulted in the fall industrial show, to be held in Hyattsville, being postponed until spring. The show is sponsored by the Exchange Club of Prince Georges County.

The Prince Georges County Circuit Court, which convenes next Monday, has a much lighter job than usual, though more criminal cases are on the docket than ever before, according to A. P. Ryon, deputy clerk of the court. Sixty-eight new cases will be considered.

Perhaps the most important case the county has had, the Brady bombing case, will be tried in Rockville late this year. No date for this trial has been set, though it has been said that the new hearing will begin either just before or just after Christmas.

R. Lee Van Horn, of Glenndale, Md., has resigned his post as president of the Lanham-Severn Road Association. A few days ago Gov. Ritchie declined to promise to support the road which the association wants.

Two bridges on the Leonardtown road between Bryantown and Waldorf, which were damaged in the floods of 1928, will be replaced in the near future. Work is expected to start within the next six weeks, according to Joseph Chaney, district engineer. Loads on the bridges have been limited to 10,000 pounds since the flood which swept through Zebiah's swamp two years ago. Improvement in the way in which various county roads are banked is also contemplated, Mr. Chaney said.

The current monthly pay roll of the school system in Prince Georges County is about $50,000, an increase of more than $2,000 over last year's bill, according to Nicholas Orem, county superintendent of schools. More than $44,000 of this sum goes for the salaries of teachers, with the remainder paying school bus drivers, school janitors and the staff of nine persons in the superintendent's office.

The Bladensburg Volunteer Fire Department was called out yesterday to cope with a small grass fire near Lanham. The fire was confined to a small area and was at no time threatening.

Father Held in Death Of Son Freed on Bail

Special to The Washington Post.

Moorefield, W. Va., Oct. 2.—J. Dan Cullers, of Mathias, charged with the fatal wounding of his son, George, a week ago at their home in this county, was released yesterday under $5,000 bond to await the action of the Hardy County grand jury October 21.

The younger Cullers' skull was fractured, an autopsy found, after death had been first laid by the family to paralysis. A corner's jury subsequently laid the killing to the father, who is alleged to have thrown a chunk of wood at the son after an argument.

Donahue Rites Today At "Actors' Church"

New York, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Funeral services for Jack Donahue, actor, who died yesterday, will be held tomorrow at St. Malachy's Church in West Forty-ninth street. Requiem mass will be sung by the Rev. Edward F. Leonard, pastor of the church and chaplain of the Catholic Actors' Guild. The pallbearers will be Joseph Donahue, Harland Dixon, John Boyle, Bobby Connolly, Earl Benham, Sam H. Harris, James Wright, Tom Bodkin and Robert Buckley.

Mr. Donahue fell ill while playing in Cincinnati in "Sons O' Guns." His death occurred shortly after his return here.

County Manager Urged At Citizens' Meeting

The county manager form of government, upon which voters of Arlington County, Va., will pass November 4, was unanimously endorsed by the Livingston Heights Civic League at a mass meeting held last night at St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

The proposed plan was explained by William C. Hull, president of the Federation of Civic Bodies, and by Robert M. Anderson. John A. Petty presided at the gathering.

HOOVER AND THE BANKERS.

The mind of the country is clarified by the masterly survey of the economic situation by President Hoover in his address before the American Bankers Association at Cleveland. Although overspeculation in Wall street has been charged with responsibility for "hard times," it is now well understood that world-wide depression was at hand before the Wall street collapse. The overproduction of raw materials in foreign countries is regarded by President Hoover as the "larger immediate cause of our depression." He adds:

> The prosperity of Brazil and Colombia has been temporarily affected from the situation in coffee; Chile, Peru, Mexico and Australia from the fall in silver, zinc and copper. The buying power of India and China, dependent upon the price of silver, has been affected. Australia, Canada and the Argentine have been affected by the situation in wheat; Cuba and Java have been depressed by the condition of the sugar industry; East India generally has suffered from the fall in rubber.

Because the United States is largely self-contained it has the power to recover quickly from world depression. Its credit position is intact. Normal business at home, together with even the present reduced basis of exports, will give the United States 97 per cent of its normal activity. This country is more nearly independent of foreign trade than any other large country in the world. At the same time, it is one of the largest consumers in the world, and as it recovers it will contribute to the recovery of other countries by taking more of their goods.

Discussing the relation of banking to business, Mr. Hoover remarked upon the change that has taken place whereby bankers are no longer mere discounters of bills or lenders of money upon first mortgages. They are compelled to inquire into enterprises that are asking for financial support. They must know the trends of business. They have become the financial guides of their customers. They can help to regulate the flow of credit, so that speculation can be discouraged and productive business helped with abundant credit at low interest. Banking is itself a gigantic business coordinated through the Federal Reserve system.

Holding the position of advisers, wielding strong powers over credit, and constituting in themselves potent business agencies, the bankers are qualified to lend valuable aid in studying the causes of depressions, in giving warning of their dangers, and in devising means of preventing them. Mr. Hoover suggests that they take up this study. He looks up on the prevention of depressions as something that can be accomplished by the cooperation of industry, banking and the Government.

Because of their close and confidential relations with business of all kinds, bankers can take the lead in encouraging a return of confidence. Mr. Hoover urges them to undertake this task in psychology. "Without faith on your part," he says, "and without your good offices, the early return to full prosperity can not be accomplished. * * * Here the very atmosphere of your offices will affect the mental attitude and, if you please, courage, of the individuals who will depend upon you for both counsel and money. * * * There comes a time in every depression when the changed attitude of the financial agencies can help the upward movement in our economic forces."

President Hoover correctly interprets the American spirit when he declares his "undaunted faith in those mighty spiritual and intellectual forces of liberty, self-government, initiative, invention and courage, which have throughout our whole national life motivated our progress and driven us ever forward. These forces are undiminished." Holding this faith, President Hoover has a right to ask in behalf of the people that the financial powers of the United States shall aid him in counseling the business men of the country to quit their baseless fears and go ahead.

The prosperity of the United States is temporarily held up by false pessimism based upon ignorance. Mr. Hoover performs a great public service when he urges bankers to take part in dissipating this fog.

BRITISH IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

When representatives of one-fourth of the world's population gather in conference their deliberations can not fail to attract universal attention. But the British imperial conference, which got under way in London this week, has a special appeal, for its decisions will affect the economic welfare of every nation. The trend of international commerce for the coming decade may be definitely shaped during the six weeks that these delegates are assembled at London.

The agenda of the conference calls for a loosening of the political ties that keep the British Empire together, and a strengthening of the economic ties. The dominions are no longer under the thumb of Great Britain. In the conference of 1926 the dominions were elevated to the status of "autonomous communities in the British Empire." Each of them is on an equal footing with Great Britain and with each other.

The crown is the only common connecting link. The present conference is expected to carry the independence of the dominions still further, and to define more closely their rights. These questions can not be avoided, because the Irish Free State is demanding that "recognition of our position as a free and sovereign state comes before all other considerations."

Some of the delegates are acting on the theory that the old system of imperial control, even when it became only a theory, weakened the spirit of cooperation. Now that Great Britain has relinquished every semblance of authority over Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and the Irish Free State, it is hoped that they may be induced to form an economic union for mutual benefit.

At present the empire is headed for dissolution. The different dominions are looking out for their own interests. Tariffs are levied against each other, and against the mother country. Only 37 per cent of Britain's imports comes from the dominions, and competing industries in foreign countries are furnishing the dominions with goods that might be supplied from English factories. As a result millions are unemployed in Britain, and business is in a serious slump.

It would be a great advantage to England to secure preferential treatment in the dominion markets. But the dominions are closely guarding their own interests, and they can not be expected to favor the mother country unless the trade proves profitable to them. This means that the question of closer imperial cooperation will be placed on a strictly business basis. There will be no flourish of sentiment, and little emotional oratory. A conference of equal nations has assembled to talk commercial facts and figures.

In the background there is the hope that a lively trade between British ports and the dominions would raise the standards of living through the empire. If this dream were realized every country that trades with the empire would be benefited. There is no thought at London of shutting out the trade of other countries, but only of stimulating empire trade where it is mutually advantageous. A spurt of prosperity in an empire that contains 450,000,000 people would enhance the welfare of all mankind.

CAMPAIGN TEXTBOOKS.

A textbook of Democracy, in which is catalogued every grievance against the Republican administration, be it real or imaginary, has been issued. At the same time the Republican national committee announced the issuance of two pamphlets which, with equal eloquence, blame the obstructive tactics of the Democrats during the economic depression.

Political textbooks were once quite superfluous. Candidates could interpret the policy of their respective parties in a manner that would draw the greatest possible vote from local constituencies. But in these days of the radio and wide newspaper circulation a politician has to be very circumspect in his remarks. There has already been evidence that textbooks are needed to hold the enthusiastic candidates to orthodox views. Candidates should be saved the embarrassment of contradicting their colleagues who may be speaking in distant cities on the same evening.

While the Democratic national committee was denouncing the Smoot-Hawley bill as "the most extortionate of tariffs" and listing a dozen economic ills that are charged up to the Republican policy of protection, Senator Wagner was making a keynote address in the Democratic State convention of New York, in which he admitted: "Of course, we voted for protection." "American living standards and wage levels are higher than those prevailing in the countries with which we compete," he continued. "Whenever possible we voted rates of duty to maintain and to raise our standards." Apparently the New York senator had not studied the textbook thoroughly.

On the Republican side, too, the need for a textbook has been more than once apparent. Senator Fess, the party's national chairman, and various other stalwarts have been contending with sound logic that the administration is not responsible for the world-wide depression. This issue is vital because it has been made the gravamen of the Democratic attack. Yet Senator Hatfield brings out a pamphlet entitled "Prices Decrease Under the Republican Tariff." Common sense connects the decline in prices with the economic depression. Since the party disclaims responsibility for the depression, how can the senator claim credit for the reduction of prices?

Much as the public dislikes textbooks, this political variety will be welcomed if it promotes consistency in campaign utterances.

EMERGENCY FLEET CHANGES.

It has been said, with cause, that once a Government bureau or agency has been established it defies destruction. The Shipping Board now intends to prove that the rule does not always hold true. The personnel of the Merchant Fleet Corporation, a subsidiary of the Shipping Board, is to be reduced by 50 per cent forthwith. Some 750 employes of the corporation, of whom 200 are located in Washington, are to be let out. The reduction is made possible because the Government is getting out of the shipping business. In so far as the reduction in personnel gives evidence of progress along these lines it may be hailed with satisfaction.

Recently the Fleet Corporation made what is known as a "lump sum" agreement with the operators of Shipping Board vessels, whereby they are paid in a lump sum the amount allowed by the Government to assist them in competing with foreignship lines. "Under the lump sum agreement," says the acting president of the corporation, "the operator is collecting and disbursing his own money. The finance department of the corporation will no longer require field representatives for the purpose of receiving and banking the operators' revenues and disbursing the funds required to meet the operators' bills." Under the new arrangement the corporation no longer will be active in securing business for the vessels or in handling traffic claims. In short, the operators of these vessels are to be put on their own.

Every one concerned in the operation of the merchant marine should be benefited by the new policy. The Government is enabled to reduce expenses. The operator will gain increased independence. As the merchant marine is transferred more and more to private hands additional reductions in Shipping Board and Merchant Fleet personnel can be made. Probably many of the employes will be taken over by the private shipping concerns.

HOW RUSSIA MAKES WAR

From the Wall Street Journal.

"Dumping" of commodities in the world's markets for account of the Soviet government accomplishes two purposes, both of which fit into its plans. It furnishes means to buy the machinery and manufactures needed for the industrial development of Russia and it helps to intensify the depression prevailing in the "capitalist" world. Coming at a time when the nerves of that world are in none too healthy state it takes on an atmosphere of malefic mystery and diabolic ingenuity, under the influence of which we are disposed to listen to the counsels of our fears rather than of our reason. If, however, we look calmly at the phenomenon it will not be difficult to strip it of some of its mystery.

The Soviet government can undersell all competitors in the world's markets so long as it can persuade or compel its labor to work for a less wage than that which labor elsewhere demands, and so long as it has the material upon which that labor can work. Such is its situation today so far as grain, lumber, petroleum, fruits, wood-pulp, &c., are concerned. Thus far it has been able to force or cozen its people to produce a certain amount of these things in return for low prices or wages paid in a currency which itself can be and is being debased at will. There is practically nothing being exported by the Soviet today which is not the result of this condition. There are in Russia no scientific miracles of method unknown elsewhere in the world—quite the contrary. Years ago, just before the war, it was said of Great Britain that her differential advantage in world-trade was underpaid and undernourished labor. If that were true of Great Britain in prewar days it is certainly true of Russia today. If it can be supposed that any people will consent, consciously or unconsciously, to exist permanently in such a state, that people, if it can command the necessary natural resources, can take the markets of the world with its products. To the extent that it has already occurred and is occurring, today's "dumping" is a sample. Theoretically, of course, the world might, for the protection of its own labor, close its markets to Russian products, but this is not a practical possibility, and, as a visitor from Mars might put it, if a people deliberately desires to play helot for other peoples why not let it do so?

In one respect the Soviet government is a unique historical phenomenon in that it aims openly at the destruction of those things which are the foundations of the western civilization. It has put us all upon notice that its word is worthless—even in business. It has struck at the home and the family—the very building stones of the state. Even the Hottentot and the Bushman have a code by which they will live, but the Soviet has none. And in order to make quite sure that there should be no mistake as to its purpose it has declared open war upon Almighty God Himself. It is about as complete a characterization as one could make of the modern "liberal" mind today that it seems to think well of all this.

PRESIDENT VS. SERIES.

Next Monday, when the fifth world series game is played in St. Louis, and Mr. Hoover about the same time addresses the American Federation of Labor in Boston, it is baseball, not the President, which will have priority on the air. This, observes the New York World, is said to have been decided by Mr. Hoover rather than by the radio officials; their original idea was to seek a postponement of the game, either to another day or to a later hour in the afternoon. Whoever was responsible for the decision, it can hardly be argued that it was contrary to the sentiment of the great American citizenry. Given a choice between a presidential address and a baseball game, it will tune in on the baseball game every time, although the address has a demonstrable relation to its fortunes and the baseball game has not. Similarly, confronted by the dilemma of whether to continue on its way to a political meeting in its district or to stop and watch a dog fight on the corner, it will choose the dog fight. Which dog wins is one of those things which can hardly affect its destiny much one way or the other, but that is the way its taste lies. This general habit of mind is called "apathy," and is one of the factors contributing to the greatness of the American civilization.

While other nations rend themselves with bitter dissensions as to whether Fascisti shall rule, or Communists, or left wing Socialists, we gape placidly at the score boards, at the flagpole-sitting, at the nonstop cycling contests; the chief clerks toil faithfully at their desks, and the republic endureth forever.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

UNTUTORED.

He could not spell iconoclast;
I think the word he never knew,
The tenses present, future, past
He knew not as grammarians do.

Men often smiled to hear his speech
Though words are but the garb of thought.
We strive always the mind to teach,
But often leave the heart untaught.

But never did they smile in scorn
To whom he went with help and cheer,
The poor, the troubled and forlorn
Rejoiced to have him standing near.

What mattered tangled verb and noun?
No selfish act his friendship marred.
This was the jewel of his crown:
Pride could not make his nature hard.

Who builds his frame on perfect speech
The rules of grammer sorely needs.
But there's no eloquence can reach
The eloquence of generous deeds.

There Would Be No Ninety-Horsepower Cars if People Had Been Content With Twenty.

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

IN America the penalty for success is speechmaking. If a man makes a better mousetrap than his neighbor or in any other manner so distinguishes himself as to win a place on the first page it is assumed that he has talent as an orator.

Thus he becomes of interest to another American characteristic, the luncheon club. Business men meeting to exchange ideas or promote fellowship require something more entertaining than food, and entertainment committees attempt to outdo one another in procuring the services of the latest and most prominent celebrity.

Unfortunately, the ability to make mousetraps does not give assurance of an ability to make speeches. And since the newly famous frequently are unaware of their shortcomings or lack the ability to say "no" assembled merchants must at times endure short periods of the world's worst oratory.

The more charitable among them merely suffer in silence, the more discriminating endure the additional pain of feeling cheated.

It is an unpleasant situation, to be mended only by general acceptance of the rule that a man has no right to hang out his shingle unless he knows his trade.

There is an established principle that lawyers, teachers, physicians, dentists and plumbers must prove their worth before offering their services to the public. It is a sound principle and should be universal in its application.

The fiddler and the comedian who take the public's money pledge themselves to provide entertainment worth the price. If they fail to meet the implied obligation they are frauds and cheats.

And the man who accepts an invitation to speak by so doing lays claim to the charm and wisdom necessary to please and profit his audience.

It should be a truism that no man has a right to practice any art in public unless he can do it well.

True, the ambitious beginner must have opportunity to show what he can do, but let him practice in the woods until he knows he has mastered his art.

A country that is tolerant of mediocrity gives youth no incentive to develop excellence.

PRO AND CON

Various Aspects of Political Issues Discussed by the Press.

The Wets' Noble Experiment.

Topeka Capital.

In this year's conventions the wets seem to be making progress toward a platform, if not a program. Probably far from a majority of wets are satisfied with the 1930 platform, but they are interesting as being all alike, whether by wet Democrats or wet Republicans. Mr. Morrow in New Jersey does not differ from Al Smith in New York. And in New York Gov. Roosevelt's platform is identical with District Attorney Tuttle's on the Republican side. They have found for the time being common wet ground: Repeal of the eighteenth amendment, but no return of the saloon. Al Smith said it first. An end of national prohibition, but prohibition of the saloon in wet States. Let every State that wants prohibition have it, but wet States must go into the liquor business; no private sale of liquor. It is the noble experiment of liquor socialism.

This is one industry that the Republican and Democratic wets, so far at least as platforms and the politics of the matter go, agree the State can go into in preference to private capital.

But how have they solved the liquor problem? State's rights Democrats spew the shame new State's rights out of their mouths. It is not State's rights, if the Federal authority limits the liquor business in the States to State dispensaries.

How is the liquor problem any nearer solution by the mixed prohibition and State dispensary plan of these wets? The liquor problem under prohibition is enforcement. That is all it is. The wets claim it can not be enforced, and point to bootlegging and importations to prove it. Well, how will they keep bootlegging out with the State selling liquor, any better than the flat prohibition of the traffic? How are they going to enforce it any more than prohibition could be enforced—or as well?

The wets have not yet got far enough along on their new platform to go into the matter of enforcement. What sort of prices is the State to charge for liquor? If it sells at cost or at a low profit, it will have done more for increasing the consumption of liquor than bootlegging ever did. If it sells high at a great profit, bootleggers will compete for a certainty.

Roosevelt and Tuttle.

New York World.

On the basis of all past experience the Republicans have a decisive majority outside of the five counties which constitute New York City. The majority is larger in presidential years than it is in off years, like this one. Thus in 1928 Mr. Ottinger ran about 380,000 votes ahead of Mr. Roosevelt in the upstate; in 1926, an off year, Mr. Mills ran about 235,000 votes ahead of Mr. Smith in the upstate. Both Smith and Roosevelt were elected because their majorities in New York City were large enough to overcome the Republican lead.

In an off year the Republicans, therefore, must always try to do two things; they must get out and hold the upstate Republican majority; they must cut down the Democratic majority in the city. Mr. Tuttle has a good start in the City of New York and in other large cities of the State. By coming out against prohibition he has removed one of the principal reasons why so many national Republicans have for the last ten years voted Democratic in State elections. By his part in uncovering local corruption he has made a strong appeal to local Republicans and independents. On the other hand, in opposing prohibition he faces the risk, how great it is not now possible to say, of Republican desertion upstate. Only the election returns themselves will show how far his gains in the cities balance his losses in the dry rural counties.

The Democrats have normally an initial advantage in off years. Their vote is concentrated in the cities. It is more easily mobilized than the rural Republican vote. This year, however, the Democratic machine in New York City is to some degree demoralized.

Thus at the outset of the campaign we find the usual situation reversed. Mr. Roosevelt is rather stronger upstate than the normal Democrat and Mr. Tuttle is rather stronger in the city than the normal Republican. The outcome seems to us to be genuinely in doubt.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Up Rises a Champion of the State, War and Navy Building—Thinks It Is Beautiful.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is really a great pity that the State, War and Navy Building is to be altered, brought into harmony with the so-called classical architecture, consisting of little more than porticos for outstanding features. Regret has been expressed before in The Post over the plans for the building, but it has always seemed that the plan could not be carried through as being too expensive anyway—$3,000,000. But it seems now we are to have a twin of the Treasury Building and, in addition, the beautiful sunken gardens of both are to go to make room for subterranean garages and rooms.

It is amazing that persons who profess to architectural attainments should favor the alteration, but one can never tell what an architect will not do. They are artists par excellence in providing hideous things for us to look at. The creation of the beautiful is exceptional with them.

Europe, and especially France, has types of buildings like the present State, War and Navy Building, and they are not thinking there of demolishing or altering the structures. I heard the comment the other day that it was a pity that Washington is to lose the only European structure it has. It at least gave variety to Washington. The contraptions now going up or planned, or standing for some time, look like so many peas in a pod. They are monotonous; see one and you need not see the rest.

There is a great deal of grandeur about the State, War and Navy Building. It has more and better proportioned mass than any other structure in Washington. It has, of course, some flaws in too many details, but if one wants to feel a bit of the sublime let him see the structure by lamplight or in a fog, and it makes a grand etching, no matter from what point viewed. There is nothing else like it in Washington, except the Patent Office, classic though this be.

What do the people think of the State, War and Navy Building—the man in the street? The other day I was approached by an apparently visiting couple. They were looking at the White House and the State, War and Navy Building, and they asked me if the building they were pointing to was the White House. They were pointing to the State, War and Navy Building. It impressed them more.

Furthermore, $3,000,000 is to be spent on altering the exterior of a building which the National Board of Fire Underwriters, in a formal report, has described as one of the most inflammable and poorest risks in the country, stone though it be, inside and out. On this score it is a prototype of the late Equitable Building in New York, which burned like a tinder-box. We are going to put a $3,000,000 face around this tinder-box. Would that it might have been left to burn!

A Modified Wet Regime Would Last But Three Weeks, Mr. Carrier Writes.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: After following the nineteen articles by Maj. Maurice Campbell appearing in The Post, giving reasons why the prohibition laws, in his estimation, are failures, it occurs to me that all his long-winded protests could be boiled down to the one sentence: "A lot of white-livered, lily-fingered nincompoops have been in charge of enforcement."

Maj. Campbell can never realize what the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law have saved us from. If these statutes are repealed, the country will learn a lesson which shall never need to be repeated.

Three weeks of a "modified" wet regime would restore prohibition, and restore it, at that, to a firmer foundation and a public confidence than is ever possessed before. Many innocent people may suffer, in this motorized age, through a brief revival of booze, but after all it will be worth while, as it will demonstrate conclusively that intoxicants are no longer amenable to compromise in distribution or consumption.

Thinks Minimum Charge for Gas Should Be 50 Cents, Rather Than 75 Cents.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: There are 13,000 users of gas in the District of Columbia who use less than 75 cents worth a month. Of course, 13,000 is not a large number, considering all of the other gas users in the city. But why pick on the minority in order to let the greater number have reduced rates? Most of the 13,000 are single men and women trying to create a home life for themselves, or else young married couples trying to economize.

Why should these have to pay 75 cents for gas, a third of which they do not use, in order to lower the rate for those who use all they are charged for?

Personally, I have had a small apartment for five years and during that time my gas bill was never over 40 cents, while most of the time it was less. I could name others who are small users. Why should they be the goats? A minimum charge of 50 cents would be in reason.

A Little Remembrance of a Man Who Loved Mankind.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In the passing of the Rev. J. M. Little, Washington has lost a great benefactor and an old landmark, for he was a preacher of the street, and gave all that God had given to him to try to uplift humanity.

Great men often leave great fortunes; that is, houses and lands, stocks and bonds, but not so with the Rev. J. M. Little. His fortune was only a memory and a good name. It has been said, a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches. He will be remembered when many "great" men are forgotten.

PARLEY ON BRITISH EMPIRE IS SECRET

Imperial Conference Holds Its Debates Behind Closed Doors.

TRIBUNAL IS DISCUSSED

London, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—The imperial conference of the British Empire today debated behind closed doors constitutional questions affecting the welfare of 450,000,000 persons.

Creation of an empire tribunal of appeal, about which the Irish State delegation apparently is greatly concerned was one of the important matters coming up.

Patrick McGilligan, Free State minister of foreign affairs and chief delegate at the conference, left his delegation's stand somewhat ambigious in a speech at the opening session yesterday.

Cooperation Is Weakened.

"For us, the recognition of our position as a free and sovereign State comes before all other considerations," he said. He objected that while "certain elements of the old system of imperial control were maintained, even though it was only in form, the will to cooperate was correspondingly weakened."

This statement recalled the fact that many Irishmen, even those warmly approving the imperial connection of the Free State, resent the ascendancy as the empire's supreme legal authority of the privy council of England, through its judical committee.

Mr. McGilligan said further "We most earnestly urge upon the conference the need for removing finally those last obstacles."

Coloring of Compulsion.

"So long as any form of compulsion remained, cooperation had to be tinged with some coloring of compulsion that made it less wholehearted and effective."

Though Mr. McGilligan's speech was chiefly in the past tense, it is assumed the Free State delegation is hoping for a clear-cut ruling on the relations of the privy council and the supreme court of the Free State.

The problem before the conference is how to give effect to the recommendations of the report of the 1926 imperial conference, which left the question pending.

Subcommittee Is Recommended.

A subcommittee to consider the establishment of an empire tribunal was recommended today. Under the presidency of the distinguished jurist, Lord Sankey, it will study means for referring to a single body differences of opinion on certain matters between the countries of the empire.

The imperial tribunal of appeal was opposed at an expert conference last year. It was generally felt then that it would be inadvisable to submit interempire disagreements to any body outside the empire, such as the World Court.

The conference appointed subcommittees to discuss interimperial relations, mandates, arbitration and disarmament, war graves, and defense. The general economic committee alone established four subcommittees.

Mrs. Scullin, wife of Australia's Labor prime minister, has suggested, meanwhile, that the wives of the delegates hold a conference of their own to discuss from the woman's point of view the questions of imperial significance occupying their husbands.

STUDENTS LEAD CUBAN CLASHES

Spirited clashes between Cuban university students and policemen, like this fight in Havana, marked the opening of disorders this week in a violent antigovernment campaign in which a dozen or more policemen and students have been wounded with guns, machetes and sticks. These university youths battled while in a march to the Presidential Palace to demand the resignation of President Machado.

Barraque, former secretary of justice, and Gen. Carlos Rojas, secretary of war. It was agreed that the extraordinary session of congress be called.

The conference followed issuance of a manifesto by the president indorsing the activities of police in using armed force to break antigovernment demonstrations Tuesday. The executive in this statement attributed the responsibility for the clash to the work of Communists and Nationalists, and not to the students in the name of which the demonstration was staged.

Immediately after the manifesto had been issued the twenty professors in the college of law at the University of Havana issued a formal statement in which they deplored the action of police in using arms against the student participants, one of whom was fatally wounded.

A staff of three members of the law college was appointed to defend the interests of the students detained following the demonstration, and to fix responsibility for the incident.

Dr. Clemente Inclan, dean of the university, and uncle of the speaker of the Cuban house, resigned his post at the university yesterday.

Public Utilities Inquiry Postponed Indefinitely

The Federal Trade Commission yesterday postponed indefinitely its investigation of public utilities after receiving testimony concerning the financial affairs of the Minnesota Power & Light Co.

Commissioner Edgar A. McCulloch, who presided, said he would announce later when the hearings would be resumed.

crisis. Nevertheless, the State Department wants it to be known that, in the future, every case will be judged on its merits, and that a situation might arise which would have to be distinguished from preceding situations.

The truth of the matter is that President Hoover is extremely loath to interfere in the affairs of this country's neighbors to the South, much more so than his predecessor. Consequently conditions in Cuba will have to reach a mighty perilous stage before this country takes a hand.

While the State Department has waited until now to make known that it was anxious about the situation in Cuba, a member of Congress—Senator Shipstead (Farmer-Labor), of Minnesota—called attention to the turmoil in the island as far back as April, 1928.

Shipstead Asks Inquiry.

In a resolution, Senator Shipstead asked for an investigation by the Senate foreign relations committee, an investigation to determine whether the rights of American citizens in Cuba and the liberties of the Cuban people were being fully protected under the Platt amendment.

The resolution charged that a virtual dictatorship had been set up in Cuba, and that freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, freedom of petition and electoral freedom had been destroyed.

It further charged that there had been "numerous assassinations, imprisonments, deportations," and that many persons had been exiled.

JUDGE F. S. DIETRICH DIES AT AUTO WHEEL

Western Jurist, Mentioned for U. S. Supreme Court, Expires Suddenly.

WON WIDE REPUTATION

Boise, Idaho, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Judge Frank S. Dietrich, of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at San Francisco, died suddenly here today of heart disease as he was starting on an automobile drive to San Francisco. He had been in Boise for several days, and last night attended a wedding.

Judge Dietrich, who had spent most of the latter half of his 67 years of life in Idaho, frequently had been mentioned in connection with an appointment to the Supreme Court of the United States.

His death drew messages of regret from Idaho bar and court circles, from the governor of the State, from Senator William E. Borah and from prominent figures in many parts of the country. Although it was known Judge Dietrich had suffered from heart trouble in recent years, the seriousness of his condition was not realized until he slumped over the wheel of the automobile he was driving and the car rolled off the side of the road and came to a stop.

Friends said the jurist had won a reputation that was well known to the late Chief Justice William Howard Taft and other bar leaders, virtually assuring the Idaho man of a place in the Supreme Court. It was toward this goal Judge Dietrich had pointed his endeavors almost from the time he came to Blackfoot, Idaho, to practice law more than 30 years ago.

Friends of the jurist here said he was offered the post of Attorney General in the Cabinet of President Harding but declined it, feeling his ambition could more rapidly be achieved through the route he was following.

He was born in Ottawa, Kans., January 23, 1863, the son of Jacob and Catherine Dietrich. In 1893 he married Martha Behle, of Blackfoot, Idaho, who survives him. Other survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Granger and Margaret Ifft, Pocatello, Idaho, and Frank S. Dietrich, a son.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon and interment will be in Morris Hill Cemetery, in Boise.

Driver, Sister Hurt When Auto Hits Truck

Waring A. Thayer, of 1314 Fourteenth street northeast, was badly injured and his sister, Miss Evelyn M. Thayer, was bruised and cut yesterday afternoon when their autoobile collided with a truck and went into a ditch on the Bladensburg road near Central street northwest. Leroy T. Buckingham, of Hyattsville, driver of the truck, escaped injury when his machine also went into the ditch.

At Casualty Hospital Mr. Thayer was said to have sustained a shattered right arm, severe bruises and a possible fractured skull. Mrs. Thayer returned to her home after receiving first-aid treatment.

Eliot or Chisholm Will Work With Brumback on Plans for Memorial Road.

CHOICE OF THIRD LATER

Keith A. Brumback, of Arlington County, who has been designated by the county board of supervisers to represent the county on the board of appraisal in the development of the George Washington Memorial Parkway, will have associated with him either Charles W. Eliot 2d, director of planning of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, or Capt. E. N. Chisholm, jr., its engineer.

Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, vice chairman and executive officer of the commission, explained yesterday that he will confer with his two associates and determine which shall handle the post. Mr. Eliot has been ill and at the present time Capt. Chisolm is in St. Louis where he is attending the convention of the American Society of Civil Engineers. Upon his return Col. Grant will call a conference and discuss the matter.

Both Mr. Eliot and Capt. Chisholm have been actively engaged in preparation of plans for the parkway.

With the appointment of a member by Col. Grant, the appointee with the representative from Arlington County will choose a third member.

SCHACHT HITS TALK OF GERMAN REVOLT

Former Head of Reichsbank Questions Ability to Pay Indemnity Claims.

HERE FOR SPEAKING TRIP

New York, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former president of the German Reichsbank, scoffed today at the idea that Fascist gains in the recent German elections might seriously interfere with constitutional government.

Arriving here on the liner Resolute to start a speaking tour and to place his 20-year-old son, Jens, in a Chicago bank for training, the German financier said his country's problems were economic, not political, and intimated he doubted that the indemnity payments asked of Germany were feasible.

Dr. Schacht left Germany on election day and professed to be out of touch with the political situation. He was irritated, however, by questions as to whether the people might settle internal problems by revolution.

"If there is trouble in Europe or over the world, I should say that there is perhaps more to be expected from other sides than from Germany," he retorted. "The Germans are an orderly people."

"Why is it that when a man from the left rises to power in France, there is no excitement, but when an extreme rises to power in Germany, it is different? Do you think that we are a people without a strong sense of nationalism?"

Sees No Constitutional Change.

Questioned as to possible repercussions from the elections he said:

"Everything that has happened in Germany in these elections and prior to them has been within the constitutional provisions. I do not think that any one in Germany wants to do anything against the constitution.

"You speak of Hitler, and the possibility of his changing the constitution. There will be no changes unless the voters decide. Surely a man whose strength has been increased ten times in an election would gain nothing by a drastic step when he can rely on the polls of the people.

"It is of little importance that Hitler has gained in strength, but it does matter when the issue is whether Germany is to starve or live. If Germany starves, you will not find one, but many Hitlers."

"Conditions are now favorable for home builders who have the resources and intend to build to go ahead." Mr. Lamont pointed out that the lower prices of building materials, the availability of an ample number of highly skilled tradesmen and contractors anxious to obtain work, together with the general availability of first-mortgage money at reasonable terms, all combined to make this a favorable period for such development.

HANDS-OFF PROGRAM IS ADOPTED IN HAITI

U. S. Will Not Interfere With Election to Be Held on October 14.

RUSSELL TELLS STAND

The United States Government will keep hands off in the elections to be held in Haiti on October 14. This policy was announced to the press in Port au Prince by Brig. Gen. John H. Russell, American high commissioner, and released by the State Department yesterday. Gen. Russell's statement follows:

"The various political factions in Haiti, having urged the holding of congressional elections, President Eugene Roy, who was chosen by these factions as a neutral president for this purpose, has decided to hold congressional elections on October 14 next. These elections will be held to elect 15 senators and 36 deputies.

"The United States Government's activities in Haiti are covered by the treaty of 1915 and subsequent protocols or agreements. None of these provides for the United States lending assistance at any election. Consequently the United States will exercise no supervision over the elections and will not instruct its officials in Haiti to assume responsibility in any way in the holding of said elections. The matter is entirely a Haitian affair and the United States Government and all the United States officials in Haiti have been instructed to maintain a strictly neutral attitude and not to indicate by word or deed a preference for any individual.

"The Garde of Haiti, Haitian police force commanded in part by American officers, will not participate in the elections in any way unless called upon by the election officials to preserve order in the vicinity of voting booths.

"On election day all members of the United States forces on duty in Haiti (Cape Haitiean and Port au Prince) will be maintained in barracks. Any disorders will be handled in the usual manner by the Garde of Haiti as a Haitian police force."

$8,000 Damages Given In Fatal Bus Accident

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Oct. 2.—Administrators of the estate of John W. White were awarded $8,000 damages by a special Stafford County grand jury in a $10,000 suit in which the Richmond-Greyhound Lines was defendant. White, a Norfolk man, who was employed in Washington, was killed two days before last Christmas when the car he was driving was in collision with a Richmond-Greyhound bus on the Washington highway just north of here. In the same accident Mrs. Charles Boorman, of Washington and Norfolk, a passenger in White's car, lost her life and her husband sustained serious injuries.

A motion by the defense counsel to set aside the verdict was granted and will be argued before Judge Frederick W. Coleman at a later date.

Gulf Stream Power Turns Cuba Laboratory Turbines

Prof. Georges Claude, in Charge of Station, Pronounces His Effort to Harness Ocean Current "Satisfactory for First Experiment."

Havana, Oct. 2 (A.P.). — Prof. Georges Claude this afternoon started up for the first time the turbines in his laboratory for the production of cheap industrial power from the waters of the Gulf Stream.

In a telegram to the Associated Press he pronounced the results "satisfactory for a first experiment."

At 4,000 revolutions per minute the turbines generated 10 kilowatts of power. However, more than the amount of power produced had been used in getting the machinery under way.

The turbines were started at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the laboratory of the French scientist on Matanzas Bay, where he has been quietly working on his experiment. He hopes to utilize the thermal differences between surface and deep water of the Gulf Stream.

His huge turbines actually turned under the impulse of steam created by exposing surface water to a vacuum, which Prof. Claude, despite the contrary belief of many engineers, had maintained they would do.

The plant he has been using was built with the idea rather of assembling important data than of producing a surplus of power, from the first the French scientist has admitted that with his present equipment he would use more power than he could produce.

Prof. Claude said no attempt had been made to make practical use of the energy he had developed other than to make his turbines operate. Within a few days he will call in a group of engineers and scientists to witness his work.

LEAGUE KILLS PLAN TO FIT COVENANT AND KELLOGG PACT

of the assembly provides that loans would be awarded to attacked countries only on unanimous vote of the league council, which is empowered to determine which state is the aggressor.

Great Britain made her adhesion dependent upon realization of a general disarmament scheme. Subscriptions to the loans envisaged are to be made by signatory states in proportion to their budgetary contributions for the support of the league, to which Great Britain is the heaviest contributor. Finland is the author of the plan.

Signers of Convention.

The countries which signed the convention to day are: Australia, Lithuania, Austria, the Irish Free State, Belgium, Bolivia, Great Britain, Bulgaria, Cuba, Denmark, Spain, Estonia, Finland, Ethiopia, France, Greece, Latvia, Norway, Holland, Peru, Persia Poland, Portugal, Roumania, Jugoslavia, Sweden, Albania, and Czechoslovakia.

Nicholas Politis, of Greece, emphasized the value of the convention to smaller states by saying, "material financial assistance is extremely important for small states in order to aid them in defending themselves against war or the menace of aggression.

"The protection thus given will certainly be very valuable, because with assurance of prompt credits they will be able to maintain themselves in a struggle, whereas otherwise it would be impossible for them to do so. This convention is a choice object to add to our previous collection of measures for preventing war."

The assembly's budget committee today adopted a report on next year's estimated cost of league operation, providing for expenditures of 31,637,501 Swiss francs (about $6,137,675).

Prospects tonight are that the present assembly will adjourn Saturday. Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, left today for Paris.

Royal Baby's Registry Delayed to Dodge 13

Glamis, Scotland, Oct. 2 (A.P.). The birth of little Princess Margaret Rose of York was registered by her father, the Duke of York, at the little village postoffice today. She just escaped being baby No. 13 on the village registration list.

Registration was delayed longer than usual. The delay is generally explained as due to the desire of the duke and the duchess to avoid having the baby princess entered as No. 13.

Had her name been put down soon after her birth she would inevitably have gone into the thirteenth place. Another child has since born in the village, and to this child the number fell. Little Princess Margaret Rose was entered as No. 14.

Man Pleads Not Guilty To Two Auto Charges

Charged with reckless driving and operating a smoke screen, Charles S. Lee, Negro, of W street, near Third street northwest, was arraigned yesterday in Police Court and pleaded not guilty to both charges. Judge Gus A. Schuldt ordered him held under $1,000 bond for grand jury action on the smoke-screen charge and under $300 bond for jury trial on the reckless driving charge.

Lee was arrested Wednesday night after he had twice eluded police by use of his alleged smoke screen. Policemen R. E. Burton and C. L. Smith, of the Traffic Bureau, were the complaining witnesses. Assistant United States Attorneys Michael F. Keough and Walter McInirery appeared for the Government in the smoke-screen case, while Assistant Corporation Counsel Edward M. Welliver appeared for the District on the other charge.

Italy's Plans To Chain Cupid Stirs Capital

Envoy Nobile de Martino Faces Many Questions on Marriage Ban.

"MUCH ado about nothing" may be the pronouncement of the Italian Ambassador, Nobile Giacomo de Martino, concerning the highly disturbing news from his government which would place a ban upon the marriage of Italian diplomats with women of foreign birth.

When the ambassador reaches town early next week from a stay in Italy, he will find himself besieged on all sides for really authentic information about Mussolini's latest proposal. Engaging young society girls and ambitious mothers are wondering just how far-reaching the edict might prove were the idea to ramble over Europe or drift down to the Pan-American countries.

For international marriages in Washington are "being done," speaking in the parlance of the smart young women of the rapidly moving age. For that matter a glance into the pages of diplomacy in Washington reveals a long list of brilliant and cultured women who are allied through marriage with the aristocrats of nations.

Three deans of the Diplomatic Corps were married to Americans. Mme. Don Juan Riano, wife of the former Ambassador to Spain, was the lovely Miss Alice Ward. The Rianos, who preceded the present Ambassador of Spain and Senora de Padilla, now live at Newport. The courtly Jules Jusserand, Ambassador of France for 22 years, married Elise Richards, one of the beloved chatelaines of the corps. They are living in Paris, where friends from all nations find welcome in their house. Mme. de Cartier de Marchienne, wife of the Ambassador of Belgium, who preceded Prince de Ligne, is an American.

It is true that the Italian diplomatic circle has at present but one American hostess—Mme. Catalani, wife of the counselor of Embassy, and a charming hostess she is. Niece of Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, Mme. Catalani has inherited the definite charm and smart style of the Whitney family. Incidentally she also has inherited the wonderful pearls of that famous New York family. The Catalanis live with Mrs. Dimock, who last year brought out Miss Victoria Catalani, niece of the Counselor and Mme. Catalani.

England scarcely could have the heart ever to protest alliance with members of their Diplomatic Corps, what with the lovely Lady Lindsay, chatelaine of the British Embassy, of American birth and the bride of the embassy, Mrs. Arthur Pack, who was Miss Betty Thorpe, daughter of Col. and Mrs. George C. Thorpe, of Washington. Mr. Pack is Commercial Secretary of the British Embassy.

And there is Mrs. Leander McCormick Goodheart, one of Washington's charming hostesses, who, as the wife of the Commercial Secretary at the British Embassy, opens her home to guests throughout the season. The dashing Ellen Cox Ewing, now Mrs. Thomas A. Stone, was married this summer and resides in the home of the First Secretary of the Canadian Legation.

The list, seemingly endless, includes Mme. Prochnik, doyenne of the Austrian Legation, who was Miss Gretchen James, of Boston, and exceedingly popular; Baroness van der Elst, of Belgium, the former Allison Roebling, daughter of Mrs. Arthur O'Brien, whose name is significant of wealth and social distinction.

There is Mrs. Henry de L. Hopkinson, wife of a former attache of the British Embassy, who was Alice Eno; Mme. Emmanuel Lombard, the former Helen Carusi, considered a beauty in any costume, but particularly stunning in evening things. M. Lombard and his lovely wife are coming again to Washington, where the former attache to the French Embassy again will be attached to the embassy.

Of course, Countess Szechenyi, wife of the Hungarian Minister, is one of the favorites of the corps, although the countess, who was Gladys Vanderbilt, entertains but seldom in the legation on Massachusetts avenue. Senora de Prada, Elizabeth Howe, will take her place as mistress of the Peruvian Legation in London, where Senor de Prada has been named minister.

In and out of Washington they come and go and the probabilities are that lovely women the world over will continue to capture the gallant diplomats who come from all lands, including Italy.

MISS EMILY CRAMER, Daughter of Maj. Myron C. Cramer, U. S. A., and Mrs. Cramer, who recently arrived in the Capital from Fort Leavenworth, where her father has been stationed. Maj. Cramer is now on duty at the War Department.

Foreign Army Officers Will Visit Capital

Generals of France and Germany to Be Guests Over Week-End.

France and Germany hold the center of the stage in Washington these days, with the visit of Gen. Henri Goursud, military governor of Paris, who arrives in the Capital this morning, and Gen. Warner von Blomberg, commander of the first division of the German army, who will arrive tomorrow morning on the first lap of an inspection tour of the United States Army posts. He will be accompanied by Col. Erich Kuhenthal, of the Reichswehr ministry.

Gen. Goursud will only be here until tomorrow and every moment of his time will be filled, with official visits to President Hoover and the Secretary of State, Mr. Stimson, on the schedule, as well as a luncheon today with the Military Attache of the French Embassy, Brig. Gen. Raymond Casanave, as host. Tonight the general will dine with the Ambassador, Mr. Paul Claudel, at the embassy. He leaves for Boston to be the guest of the American Legion at the Tercentenary celebrations.

Gen. von Blomberg and his compatriot will be here a little longer, and a number of fetes have been arranged in their honor. They will be received by Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff, who will entertain them at luncheon on Monday. That evening the commandant of the Army War College and Mrs. William D. Connor will be hosts at a small and informal dinner for the distinguished visitors.

Another pleasant party has been arranged for them by the charge d'affaires of Germany and Frau Klep, who will entertain at dinner on Tuesday evening.

Gen. von Blomberg and Col. Kuhenthal will include in their itinerary visits to Fort Sam Houston, Tex.; Fort Myer, Va.; the Presido, San Francisco; Fort Winfield Scott, Calif., and Fort Totten, N. Y., and will study the Army War College, the Infantry School, primary and advanced flying schools, the Command and General Staff School, West Point and the Tank School.

The former Second Secretary of the Brazilian Embassy, Mr. Reubens Ferreira de Mello, and Mme. de Mello are now established in Vienna, where the former is stationed as Second Secretary of the Brazilian Legation. After leaving Washington last spring Mme. de Mello went to her home in Denmark to visit her parents. It is the first visit she has paid to her own country since her marriage three and a half years ago, when Mr. de Mello was attached to the legation there.

Mr. de Mello, who has received high praise for his literary works in Portuguese, the national language of Brazil, is the author of a new satirical novel, "Ambassador Fegundes," which was written first in Portuguese and has now been translated into English.

Ambassador to Cuba Plans Day in Capital.

Planning to spend today in Washington, the United States Ambassador to Cuba and Mrs. Harry F. Guggenheim are en route from New York to Key West, Fla., where they will go by airplane to Havana.

Mr. Guggenheim, who was president of the Daniel Guggenheim fund for promotion of seronautics, was the first ambassador to fly to his post after his appointment.

Countess Herman Seherr-Thoss has arrived in New York from Europe, where she passed the summer and has taken an apartment at the Westbury in New York. Countess Seherr-Thoss is the daughter of the late Henry White, one-time Ambassador to France.

The Minister of Greece and Mme. Simopoulos will return to Washington Sunday night after spending the summer in Newport. They closed their cottage a day or two ago and are in New York, staying at the Ambassador before their return to the Capital.

Lieut. Col. H. F. Forest, of Orange, N. J., has come to Washington for duty at the War College this winter and has taken an apartment at 1620 R street.

Brig. Gen. and Mrs. George B. Pillsbury are making a short visit at the Mayflower. Gen. Pillsbury is assistant chief of engineers, U. S. A.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis Return Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hamilton Davis and Miss Emiscah Gale Davis have returned from their summer home at Squirrel Island, Me., and are at their home, 1708 R street.

Mrs. William M. Guthrie and Mrs. F. Henry Jones are in New York, staying at the Savoy-Plaza, where they will remain until Monday.

After spending the summer in England and on the continent, where they traveled extensively, Dr. and Mrs. Ulysses G. B. Pierce have returned to their home on Lamont street for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hart are spending several days in New York, where they are staying at the Weylin.

Mrs. Katherine Puqua has taken an apartment at the new Shoreham Hotel, where she and her daughter, Miss Katherine Puqua, will reside this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Foraker have returned from their summer home at Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., and are in their house on Wyoming avenue.

Mrs. Foraker's sister, Mrs. Daniel L. Borden, has joined Dr. Borden at their home on Ashmead place, coming fr Chaumont, N. Y., where she and their children have been in their cottage on the shore of Lake Ontario.

Wythe House Trip Planned On October 6

Colonial Dames of Three Cities to Join Capital Pilgrimage.

With the return to Washington of Mrs. Walter Tuckerman, chairman of the committee for the restoration of Wythe House at Williamsburg, Va., active plans are being advanced and a series of interesting parties planned for the early autumn. Coming from Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York on October 6 are twenty representative members of the Colonial Dames of America, who will join the group from Chapter 3, of Washington, for a pilgrimage to William and Mary College and Wythe House which will coincide with the celebration on October 13 of the 150th anniversary of the surrender of Yorktown.

Wythe House, which served as the headquarters of Gen. Washington before the Battle of Yorktown, is being restored by the Colonial Dames of America, the work being furthered locally through the efforts of Mrs. John Rutherford, president of Chapter 3. With Mrs. Rutherford on the committee are Mrs. Tuckerman, first vice president; Mrs. Fendall, second vice president and treasurer; Mrs. Montgomery Macomb, Mrs. Robert Giles and Mrs. Frank Anderson.

During the five days in which the representatives of the Colonial Dames will visit Williamsburg many social hospitalities will be extended, with dinners and luncheons at several of the historical estates on the James River.

Following the ceremonies on October 13 the group will return to Washington and on October 14 will be the guests of Mrs. Tuckerman at a luncheon at the National Women's Country Club.

The newly appointed Charge d'Affaires of Hungary, Mr. Nicholas de Vegh, who recently arrived in this country, has closed the summer headquarters of the legation staff at Newport for the season and will arrive in Washington today, accompanied by Baron Paul Schell, attache of legation.

The Minister, Count Laszlo Szechenyi, with Countess Szechenyi and their family are in Hungary and will not return to Washington for some time.

Mrs. Davison and Sons Return to City.

Mrs. F. Trubee Davison, with her small sons, Trubee, jr., Endicott, Dannie and Gates, have returned to town and are with Mr. Davison, Assistant Secretary of War, at their home, 3283 N street. Mrs. Davison was in Europe through the summer, returning a few weeks ago to New York, where she went directly to Peacock Point, Locust Valley, Long Island, where Mr. Davison's mother, Mrs. Henry P. Davison, has a summer home.

During Mrs. Davison's absence in Europe the boys were with Mrs. Henry P. Davison at her ranch at Entrance, Alberta, returning to Long Island early in September.

Lieut. Gen. Ayao Kishimoto, of the Japanese army, who is making a tour of the United States to inspect activities of the Army ordnance department and private establishments engaged in the manufacture of ordnance material, left Washington yesterday after passing Wednesday night at the Japanese Embassy as the guest of the Ambassador and Mme. Debuchi.

While in the Capital Gen. Kishimoto called at the War Department to pay his respects to Secretary Hurley and his military assistants.

Rear Admiral Charles E. Riggs, U. S. N., chief of the Bureau of the Medicine and Surgery of the Navy Department, with Mrs. Riggs, has returned to Newport, where they are the guests of Capt. H. W. Smith, U. S. N., commanding officer of the Naval Hospital, and Mrs. Smith. Admiral Riggs was commanding officer of the hospital for several years and is widely known there. He is now on an inspection tour of naval hospitals.

New Plane Radio Set.

London, Oct. 1 (A.P.).—The British air ministry has approved a new Marconi radio set for use in civil aircraft. It has a 150-watt transmitter suitable for sending both telegraph and telephone signals.

Dare Interprets the Mode

Paris, Oct. 2.

SPEAKING about colors, I beg to observe that I have not seen a decided brown or beige anywhere in Paris. There are plenty of those lovely subdued browns with a purplish cast to them, and there are plenty of that grayash-looking beige which has been floating around loose for several years now and disguising itself under various names, such as "string" and "grege."

And then where, oh, where is the flattering pink that Patou sponsored in his last two collections, the last two before this one, I mean! Well, I will tell you where—it's on a lot of new dresses being worn by lovely ladies the world over, but it isn't on any of the dresses in Patou's present collection. In its place there is a lovely new green, one of those very soft, mysterious shades that are so popular now. And it is no more yellow than it is blue, consequently very flattering.

The newest gray is the shade that ermine takes when it is dyed gray, a sort of dull pearl shade. This is very pale and not practical for general wear, but rather elegent, even as white in cities is elegant if not practical. As to the grays in furs, they are in very many shades, and especially several shades of gray at the same time, a sort of ombre effect which is, however, not dyed into the fur, but made before the furs are sewn together.

Certain houses are showing a new silhouette that is very reminiscent of the 1830 period of tight bodices, dropped shoulders and high waistlines. Worth has a delightful dress appropriately named "tralala," with its ruffles running vertically up the skirt, which is indicative of this silhouette.

• • • •

And I had to live without one! Oh dear! But then they were all carved by hand, each and every crystal square or oval that made them, so you could almost understand what they did to a hundred dollars. Belts, I mean, like those Suzanne Talbot shows, and I have sketched for you in the corner. And they do look so stunning on certain chiffon dresses.

You don't have to live without a couple of darling Paris-made (or almost) underskirts, though. Because I have made an illustrated leaflet telling you exactly how my two are made that I just had delivered. And if you think that there isn't anything to cutting a long costume slip other than cutting any costume slip that you know about, and just making it longer as to hem, you'll find out!

Don't spoil a lot of nice material, or achieve a slip that will do unexpected things when you wear it. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post and look at the leaflet first.

A Suzanne Talbot dress with an air! Made simply of brown crepe with beige dots, it yet paused to be different as to collar and cut of skirt, the while it remained in practical good taste. And little white cuffs matched with a second collar of white—the first collar is of the material, you see.

• • • •

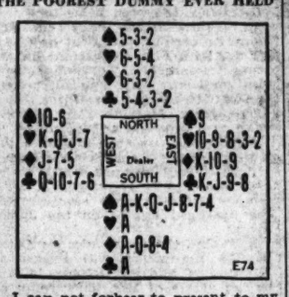
THE POOREST DUMMY EVER HELD



I can not forbear to present to my readers what I believe to be the poorest dummy ever held. A Six was its highest card; yet it furnished all the aid that the Declarer needed.

The hand was played in a Progressive Duplicate game of Contract, and the various Souths treated it in a great variety of ways. Those who believed in forcing bids made them, but either they were disregarded by North on account of the extreme weakness of his hand, and South was left to play at less than game; or North, taking out but refusing to show strength, placed South in a position in which game was the only safe bid. One player in the entire lot made the totally unjustified bid of six Spades, giving as his reason for doing it that he had never held so strong a hand and that if he could not get a small slam with that hand he never would be able to make one.

It is conceded that the hand is a difficult one to bid. Even if South should bid five Spades (a tempting bid) and find North strong enough to bid six, the game might go wrong because if North's assistance turned out to be in Hearts or Clubs, South might not be able to benefit by it. A bid of four Spades would be conservative, but would not be apt to produce a raise from North.

In the play for the small slam, the apparently worthless dummy was shown to have some merits. A Heart was led, won with the Ace and the adverse trumps drawn in two rounds. Then South led the trump Four to put dummy in the lead with the Five, and dummy led a Diamond. The finesse won, and then all but one of South's Spades were led in succession. Then came the Ace and another diamond, the latter establishing the thirteener in the South hand and making good a bad bid.

HELIOTROPE AND ABUTILON FOR THE HOUSE.

THE heliotrope and abutilon are old-fashioned varieties, but they have stood the test of time and are as popular today as they were years ago. The heliotrope, while fragrant, is not as showy as many less desirable varieties of house plants.

The heliotrope will be an excellent winter bloomer if it has not been allowed to bloom during the summer.

It has some decided likes and dislikes which we must take into account if we are to be successful with it. First, it demands a soil composed of good loam, sand and well-decomposed manure, in equal parts. Second, it demands plenty of root room, and care must be taken to see that its roots never become dry. It has a great number of fine, thread-like roots, which enable it to make use of large amounts of water daily. If you are growing heliotrope for the first time, the amount of water it requires will surprise you. A medium-sized plant requires much more water than a large-sized geranium.

If it is allowed to become a bit pot-bound or if its roots dry out, its leaves will begin to brown at the ends and later they will drop off in large numbers.

In March, in this column, I suggested starting your plants of heliotrope. If you followed instructions, these young plants should now be ready for their third shift. The heliotrope is a tropical plant and, therefore, can stand a stronger sun than most house plants.

PREVENT "CYCLAMEN ROT"

which is the most dread, incurable disease of this lovely flower. You will find the method of prevention, as well as the whole care of cyclamen in the special leaflet on this subject. If you would like to have it, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for it to JANE LESLIE KIFT, Care of The Washington Post.

The abutilon, commonly known as the flowering maple, because of the resemblance of its leaf to that of the maple, is one of the very best plants for window culture. Like the heliotrope, it may be raised by amateurs. It will grow any place where a geranium will thrive.

It has one great asset which most plants do not possess; that is its ability to bloom throughout almost the entire year.

The flowers are pendulous and bell-shaped; hence this plant is sometimes spoken of as the Chinese bell flower. Its foliage is always bright, being a trifle lighter in color than most foliage plants.

The abutilon may be propagated from cuttings which, if started in sand, are almost sure to develop roots. In fact, one authority on this plant tells us that scarcely 1 in 50 fails to root in sand.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU. "LIBRA."

IF October 3 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 3 p. m. and 10 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from noon to 1 p. m. and 8:30 to 9:30 p. m.

Do not let pleasure cross your path of duty on this date; there are snares and shadows encircling your intimate personal relationships. Let reason and not your heart be your dictator. The things you most want will seem to be hitherbound—be patient! Success is within your reach.

The child born on this October 3 will have a bright, cheerful and romantic nature—such traits as will court popularity. It will have an electric mind, and upon occasion a fiery temper. It will not excel in sports. Its pursuits will be more intellectual than physical.

When your sun shines, you are a very enthusiastic, hearty, normal being. At such times you are delightful to meet, and your good qualities dazzlingly blind one to your sins. When times are out of joint for you a very different personality is presented to the world. Your eyes are dull, and turned inward, studying remorselessly, tirelessly, that finite creature called "me." You are too sorry for yourself to be a fit companion for any one. You are not always able to adjust yourself to things as they are. You wait for wind and tide and often refuse to move until everything is just what you desire. This attitude of mind is keeping you down.

If you be a man, you love movement and action—things that are swift and dashing. You have a strictly limited sense of humor. Among your faults, timidity has no place. Your mind, when not poisoned by the "blues," is quick and subtle. You rely more upon the caprices of luck, than the practice of thrift for the continued security of your material living. You are rather indifferent to your well being, and live too much for the moment. You may find that your extravagance will prove to be the mother of want. You are rather too busy casting out other people's devils to have the time to cast out your own. Try to become more understanding! You would make both a passionate and jealous lover.

Successful people born October 3:

1. George Bancroft, historian.
2. Charles A. Pillsbury, manufacturer.
3. Lillian Whiting, author and journalist.
4. Hugh Chalmeres, automobile manufacturer.
5. General Gorgas.
6. Charles Gordon Ames, pastor of Church of the Disciples, Boston.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

DEAR Miss McDonald: Please print an answer to this, as I am anxious for your opinion.

There are two men in my case. The first, all a girl could desire, a real sociable, good-looking, clean-living young man, with a bright future, whom I admire and am proud of.

The second, an irresponsible young man, a real lover; but he doesn't seem to find a steady job, and likes his liquor. But what a way about him! I love him and him only, even though he doesn't seem to make himself what he knows I want him to be.

I am 24, and have known both for years. It's getting to be where I have to choose between them. Is there any way I can make a real man out of the second? Or shall I stick to the first? Thanking you. RED.

You can make a real lover out of the real man, but you can never make a real man out of a liquir-loving, woman-loving imitation. This first man will prove everything you desire. The type is more lover-like after marriage than before. The other is the type that ceases to be the lover after marriage, and settles down to serious drinking. His love making is done outside his home and his wife is an annoyance. These so-called perfect lovers are always and invariably inferior men. And from an inferior man a woman may expect almost anything—but manhood. Professional lovers are superficial lovers. They have no depth and no dependability. They usually are lacking in energy and ambition, deriving their moments of accomplishment from sofa activities rather than from efforts in the marts of trade.

If you marry the weakling, you will pay for his liquor and pay for the experience. You will not have a lover, but a peevish alcoholic on your hands. If you marry his rival, you will have a man whose life will be centered in you and your children, and whose love makings will be of a kind to make the other look the cheap and trivial substitute it is.

Since time began, women have been marrying weaklings for the sake of their babblings, and finding that even the babblings ceased after marriage. The moment a woman knows she is not proud of a man, she should know that to marry him is the grossest folly.

Has your question been answered? And will it make any difference?

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

(Children's Bureau, Department of Labor.)

Healthy ears require little or no care beyond keeping the external portion clean. No hard article of any sort should be introduced into the ear. It is better not to attempt to remove accumulations of wax, since nature usually takes care of any superfluity and efforts at removal may do harm.

Discharging ears, pain or swelling in or near the ears, and deafness are symptoms of trouble which need prompt medical attention. Many school children suffer from impairment of hearing which greatly retards their progress and makes them seem dull and stupid. Deafness often occurs because ear troubles were not properly treated. It is comparatively easy to cure certain conditions in the ear at the start, which, if allowed to go on without treatment, may cause permanent impairment of the hearing.

Children sometimes push beads or other objects into the ears. As a rule, these will slip out if the outer ear is pulled downward and back, with the head inclined. Injury often results from attempts to remove a foreign body. If an object which has been introduced into the ear can not be easily removed with the fingers, the child should be taken to a physician.

Capital Folk Return Home For Fall Days

Close of Vacation Trips Draws Residents to City For Season.

Washington of Maj. Sutherland's parents, the Alien Property Custodian and Mrs. Howard Sutherland.

Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. J. N. McLaren, of Chevy Chase, have leased the home of Col. and Mrs. Alvin B. Barber in Bradley Hills for the coming season. The Barbers have taken an apartment at 2311 Connecticut avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tuckerman and their daughter, Miss Laura Wolcott Tuckerman, and Miss Elsie Ekengren returned yesterday from a house party at the estate of Col. and Mrs. Theodore Davis Boal at Boalsburg, Pa. Before going to the estate Miss Tuckerman was the guest of Miss Katherine Phillips in Butler, Pa.

Mrs. Paul Fitzsimmons went to New York yesterday from Newport to attend the reception given last evening by the Newport County Women's Republican Club at her home, Harbourview, for Gov. and Mrs. Norman S. Case.

Mrs. F. Louis Slade, of New York, returned home late yesterday following a short visit at the Mayflower with Misses Helen and Betty Arbuthnot, of London.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer, of Clayton, Mo., arrived in Washington yesterday for a short stay at the Mayflower.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Alger Will Visit Capital.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hinckley, the latter a daughter of the former Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Theodore Douglas Robinson, will have as their guests for the week-end of October 9 Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Alger, who are coming from their home in Detroit. Mrs. Alger was before her marriage Miss Suzette Dewey, and spent several seasons in Washington during the time her father was Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. Mrs. Hinckley and Mrs. Alger were both great belles of the "Little Cabinet," as the group of Assistant Cabinet officers is called.

Lieut. Comdr. O. B. Hardison will motor to New Hampshire the latter part of the week, where he will join Mrs. Hardison and their small son. Together they will return to Washington, where they will be at home in the apartment in the Parkwood, which they have taken for the winter.

Mrs. Hardison is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Gerry Morgan and has spent the summer with them at their camp, Lieut. Comdr. Hardison joining his family whenever his duties at the Bureau of Aeronautics permitted.

Mrs. James C. Pilling has as her guest in her cottage at Charmian, Pa., her daughter, Mrs. Carroll Dunham 3d, of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Dunham have recently arrived from Europe, where they spent the summer traveling in England, France and Italy. Mr. Dunham went directly to their house at Cedarhurst, where Mrs. Dunham will join him on the conclusion of her visit to her mother.

Mrs. Pilling will shortly open her house on California street for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Boynton and their daughter, Miss Betty Boynton, have returned to their home, 1818 Twenty-fourth street northwest, after spending the summer on the New England coast.

Dr. and Mrs. Duncan McKim have arrived in town and are established in their house on Eighteenth street. They were in the charming little village of Avondale for the summer months. Avondale is most picturesque, and is situated near Watch Hill, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Whiting Estes are now at the new Shoreham Hotel, where they have taken an apartment for the coming season.

Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich Dudley have arrived at the Powhatan from their home in Middleburg, Va., for a visit of several days.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Vecker, of Havana, Cuba, have arrived and are stopping at the Carlton.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Mann and Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Wilkinson have motored to Washington from their home in Norristown, Pa., and are at the Carlton for a few days.

Dr. and Mrs. Tom A. Williams, who have been occupying a charming house in Volta place in Georgetown, will leave for Florida before the winter season. To the regret of their many friends here, Dr. and Mrs. Williams leave Washington in the winter for the more pleasant climate of the South and are here for a short time during the spring and fall.

Mrs. George Barnett is in Washington and is occupying her house at 1622 Rhode Island avenue. She will go to her estate, Wakefield Manor, in Virginia, for the end of the week for an extended visit, after which she will return to Washington for the winter.

Lieut. Vanderwerker Spends Vacation in Capital.

Lieut. F. H. Vanderwerker, of Fort Wood, N. Y., is spending a short vacation in Washington at the Potomac Park Apartments.

Commander and Mrs. Archibald H. Davis, and their daughter, Miss Emily Davis, have returned from Watch Hill, R. I., where they passed the summer, and are established in their home on Hillyer place for the season.

Miss Winifred A. Clarke, of Melton Mowbray, Leicestershire, England, has been at the Dodge Hotel for several days just before sailing to Liverpool whence she will go to Johannesburg, South Africa, to take up again her residence there.

Mrs. Richard Wilmer Bolling and her daughters, Miss Clara Bolling and Miss Barbara Bolling, have returned from Maine, where they passed the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wiley moved yesterday into their apartment on Nineteenth street. During the summer months they had a house at Bethesda.

Mrs. George Dorsey Price is visiting her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Walmsley, in her apartment on East Fifty-first street, New York.

Mrs. Renshaw, of the Anne Tillery Renshaw School of Speech, will entertain at tea Sunday, October 5, from 4 to 6 o'clock. All her old students are invited to attend. Margaret Wright Schutz will read at 5 o'clock.

Mrs. William Fitch Kelley returned Wednesday to the Knole, on the Rockville pike, after staying for some time in Atlantic City. She will be at home on Sunday before closing her house to return to the city for the winter.

Mrs. B. H. Gruver, of Chevy Chase, Md., is spending some time at the Traymore in Atlantic City with her sister, Miss Elizabeth Quilligan.

Miss Frances Clarke has returned to her apartment at Stonsleigh Court after an absence of three months. She will have with her in the late fall her niece, Miss Berenice de la Croix, of Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Graves have gone to Asheville, N. C., where they are staying at the Grove Park Inn.

Mrs. Frederick T. F. Johnson returned yesterday to her apartment in the Mendota after spending two weeks at the Chalfonte in Atlantic City.

The Wilson College Club of Washington will hold the first fall meeting this afternoon, with Mrs. Johnson, the president, in her apartment in the Mendota, when all graduates and former students will be welcomed. Officers elected at the first meeting are: President, Mrs. Frederick T. F. Johnson; first vice president, Mrs. Robert W. Dowdy; second vice president, Mrs. Garfield McKinney; recording secretary, Miss Madge Cooke; corresponding secretary, Miss Annan, and treasurer, Mrs. Calvin H. Ziegler.

When the seventeenth annual convention of the National Society of Industrial Engineers opens in Washington October 14, the delegates and their wives and daughters will be received in a whirl of social activities.

President and Mrs. Hoover will receive the visitors at noon on the initial day of the convention. Mrs. Edward Everett Gann will receive the wives and daughters of the delegates at her apartment at the Mayflower on Friday, October 17, at 5 o'clock. That morning the woman visitors of the delegations will be guests at the orchid show being given under the auspices of the American Orchid Society at the Willard Hotel.

Mrs. Alvion Noyse Doe, wife of the national president of the Society of Industrial Engineers, left early in the week for her home in New York, after completing plans for the entertainment of the women. Several dinners and luncheons to be given by official folk will be announced later.

Mrs. Hoover May Dispense With Social Mentor's Aid

Failure to Replace Mary Randolph, Who Resigned in Spring, Brings Speculation She Intends to Guide Her Own Ship of State Functions.

(Associated Press.)

The possibility that Mrs. Herbert Hoover may choose to steer her own ship of state functions, instead of being guided by a social secretary, has become a subject of speculation in social Washington.

Many wisps point to such a solution of the present situation.

Miss Mary Randolph, White House social secretary during the past winter, resigned early in the spring. All summer long the White House had no social secretary. Miss Helen Greene, a Stanford University friend, came to Washington, but it was announced that she was to take the places of Mrs. Hoover's two private secretaries, Miss Mildred Hall and Miss Ruth Fessler, when they were on vacations.

The vacation season is well past, and Miss Greene still lingers. The watchful are beginning to wonder if that does not mean her position is to be continued permanently, with no vacancy existing for the woman expert in Washington's intricate social usages and diplomatic red tape employed for several administrations past to guide the White House hostess through the maze of manners.

It has been pointed out it would be quite "in character" for Mrs. Hoover to dispense with a social secretary, and go back to the simpler scheme of an earlier day when White House hospitality reflected only the spirit of the hostess.

She has, on occasion, dispensed with the liveried chauffeur and driven her own car. She has seized upon opportunities to appear informally with her own friends, dispensing with the close watch of the secret service. In many mansions and climes she has managed her own social events, and as wife to a Cabinet member she knew the ins and outs of White House etiquette long before she went there as mistress.

The tentative social schedule for the coming season is in process of formulation, but no sign of a special social secretary to arbitrate it has yet appeared. It is generally understood that Mrs Hoover is free to choose whether she shall accept such a service, though there are those who argue that it would be impossible to run the heavy social program without one.

Under previous administrations the President's wife had but one secretary, the authority on social usage, paid by the Government. But Mrs. Hoover's varied interests have commanded the services of two others, not salaried by the Government. It is believed she may feel the group would be more cohesive if all were on the same status, and directly under her own guidance.

Early in the social scheme the Hoovers planned innovations in the official program of state functions, increasing the number of functions to include more groups; cutting down their size to make them more informal, and to give guests a better opportunity to get acquainted with each other.

The deaths of Secretary Good and Chief Justice Taft, the trip to Florida and Mrs. Hoover's accidental injury greatly curtailed this program. But now, after a summer spent largely at the Rapidan camp, Mrs Hoover is said to be in the best of health and spirits and apparently ready to swing into a full official social season.

And her friends say she will be quite capable of engineering it herself, with the aid of young women accustomed to carrying out her ideas back in the S street days.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS.

MEDICINE FOR WORMS.

WHAT is the best worm medicine? We have answered as to hookworm, the answer being a mixture of carbontetrachloride and chenopodium. What is the answer as to some other common worms?

The roundworms, called ascarids, are not very important. However, after ascarid eggs have hatched the young bore through the tissue, pass into the lungs and finally get back to the intestines to develop into mature worms. Traveling this same route in hogs, a kindred worm causes a hog disease known as thumps. It is possible that some part of the supposed colds and pneumonias from which children suffer is due to ascarids.

The best medicine for roundworms is chenopodium. The advantages are effectiveness, realtive safety, simplicity of administration, few after effects and the low cost. All worm medicines are somewhat poisonous. Any child who takes any one of them is in some danger, particularly if the dose is large enough to be effective. Chenopodium is safer than santonin, the remedy which it displaced. It is also more effective and cheaper.

The best medicine for ordinary tapeworm is extract of male fern. Extract of pomegranate is good. An efficient dose of tapeworm treatment is rather dangerous, so much so that the people had better leave this treatment in the hands of the doctors.

The thread worms are generally limited to the large intestine. Worm medicine given by mouth is ineffective against them. The best remedy in the case of this worm is quassia tea, but it is not given by mouth.

The symptoms of trichina do not appear until the young worms have left the alimentary tract and have bored their way into distant locations. In these new locations they presently wall themselves off.

While the ameba are not of the worm family they are animals and they infect the intestinal wall. The best remedy against ameba is ipecac and its alkaloid, emetine.

MISS MYSTERIOUS - - - By Larry Lawrence

CHAPTER XXXIV.

Morgan was right. The hairdresser found the tattoo mark. Babe rushed to see the president of the trust company. He had been expecting her.

"Miss Townley," he said. "What proof have you that you are the Miss Townley for whom a fund has been in trust all these years?"

"I have only one proof beyond the fact that I have always used the name Thelma Townley."

"What is that, please?"

She hesitated and felt very foolish in saying, "There is a tattoo mark on my head, hidden by my hair."

"Ah," he cleared his throat. "Ah. When did you learn of this mark?"

"Just a little while ago."

"How did you learn of it?"

"Do I have to tell you that?"

"No. But I believe I would if I were you. You know I must be very certain in this identification."

"A man who is locked up in the detective bureau told me."

The banker looked startled. "What? Repeat that, please."

"I said that a man who is locked up, and, I might add, is undoubtedly a crook, told me that the mark was there."

"How did you happen to know him?"

Babe took a deep breath. She sighed a little. "I can only tell you that by telling a long story. One that would probably bore you to death."

"No. I am sure that it would not bore and I must hear it if you are to get the money. You see, a crook might have managed in some way to have seen papers in the Los Angeles bank vaults. I don't know how, but he might. And he might have had a girl pose as Thelma Townley. The trust company out there has been looking for Thelma Townley for several months." He looked at a long telegram lying on his desk. "Ah, since February 9."

"Why that is my birthday," Babe exclaimed.

"Oh, indeed?" The banker seemed to be talking to himself. "Now tell your story."

Babe started in, telling of her supposed guardian, Clement Forseith, and came rapidly to his letter in which he said he was going to commit suicide. Now and then the banker nodded his head and muttered, "Yes, yes, yes," but he did not interrupt with questions. Babe talked for an hour, talking rapidly. Sometimes words seemed to tumble over each other, but she was clear and definite about everything.

As she came to her actions at Scareye's hideout the banker whistled through his teeth several times. She had told about Morgan in detail. She ended telling about seeing his picture in the paper and coming to Chicago to see him.

"You have been the victim of one of the foulest plots I ever heard about," the banker said. "I am convinced that you are the Thelma Townley. The Los Angeles bankers had a line on Forseith. They were after him when he was supposed to have committed suicide, it would appear from my communication.

"They say that you wanted some money immediately. I can honor a check for a few hundred dollars but I think you should be very careful how you handle your money."

"But I want $10,000. I promised Morgan that I would give him that amount."

"Surely you are not going to give him that money to let him defeat the law."

"I have promised him. What I learned about my father and mother, what I hope to learn is worth more than the money to me and I promised."

"But you would be aiding a criminal."

"I don't care what he does with the money. I only promised that I would give him that much and I will as soon as I can get my hands on it. I would not go back on my word for all the money."

"Perhaps you are right," the banker reluctantly granted.

"I can give you that much, then, but I want to warn you about such transactions. You should keep your money in some bank and use it only on advice of reliable bankers."

"I do not intend to throw it away," Babe expostulated.

"I guess you can manage it after all," the banker admitted. "You seem to have done pretty well with the odds that were against you. I want you to feel that you can come to me for advice when ever you want it."

Babe thanked him. He escorted her to the front of the bank, witnessed her signature for her and saw that she got $10,000 in a cashier's check. "You may get some more here," he said, "but if I were you I would go to Los Angeles rather soon and get all of the facts. Talk to the bankers there."

"I will go very soon," she promised. Again she thanked him. And once more that day she went to the detective bureau.

"What is this?" the sergeant asked. "A parade back and forth to see that bum?"

"Get it? Get it?" he asked anxiously.

"Yes." She produced the check and passed it through the bars to him.

A guard watched her. "What did you slip that guy?" he demanded.

"Just a piece of paper," she said. "A check."

"He can't cash it here," the guard laughed.

Morgan whispered, "Call a mouthpiece for me."

"A what?" Babe asked.

"A lawyer. Call Charley Fish."

Babe nodded and said, "Good-by, Morgan."

"Don't say good-by like that," Morgan begged. He had managed to get a touch of pathos in his voice, a caressing tone. "Can't I see you when I get out?"

"No, never. I never want to see you again."

"Oh, well, it never hurts to try," Morgan answered gayly. "It's too bad you didn't marry me. I thought a coed would be a walkaway. Most of the dames fall hard for me. I certainly would have been in clover kid. If you had fallen for my line. Oh, well, there are other fish, if I can get out to go fishing."

"Well, I hope you don't get out," Babe sputtered as a parting shot.

That was the last time she ever saw Morgan, but she did see his pictures from time to time. Of course, he got out and of course he got in again.

Babe used her return ticket. She had decided she would go back to Milwaukee for a time to think things over, to report to her boss who had been kind to her. Yes, to dip chocolates a little longer if they wanted her to stay until they had a girl for her place. She tried not to admit to herself that she was going back because Pete would be there soon. Yes, he should be back home from college today. If not today, tomorrow.

The words of Victor Herbert's masterpiece kept running through her mind. "Love and love alone." She sighed. Money certainly was not an end in itself. A means, perhaps, but not an end. And money would not even serve as a means to get the man she loved.

"Well, I'm not Miss Mysterious any more, anyway," she confided to the man in the collar ad staring down at her from his lofty position. "I can tell the world who I am without shame. Let the world think what it will of me. I know who I am."

There was pleasure in that thought. A great deal of pleasure, but now pleasure only added to pain. Pleasure made the denial of her right to love Pete the more poignant.

Off at the station, she was tempted to take a taxicab. She would have taken one a few months ago when she had no idea where her money came from, or how much she had, but now that she had plenty she wondered whether she should start spending it freely or not.

"No, not yet," she told herself. "I am still Babe, the chocolate dipper, and the chocolate dipper can not afford to take a taxi. I will remain the poor working girl for a time, at least. There is time enough for luxuries when I have really got the money."

Perhaps this was only a silly bit of discipline, but Babe got more satisfaction out of it than she would have derived from the ride in the taxi. She went to her poor room by street car. She tossed again that night, but to awaken when her alarm clock gave its shrill summons to labor. She wanted to throw it out of the window, but instead got up, dressed and went to work.

Babe reported to the foreman who had hired her. "I am sorry, but I was unable to come to work yesterday," she explained.

"Oh, that's all right. You might have called up, though."

"I will in the future, if I can't get here."

"That's the stuff." Babe went to her place at the table and began her labor.

"Was you sick?" Gladys asked.

"No. I was called out of town on business," Babe answered. "Oh," Gladys grunted, and went on working. A little later, "Are you all right, kid?"

"Yes, thank you. Yes, there's nothing wrong at all," Babe assured her.

For three days Babe went to work in the early morning, returned in the afternoon; ate a frugal dinner and either read at night or went to a movie. Her life was not changed in any way. She was just marking time, reluctant to leave Milwaukee.

On the fourth night Babe was sitting in her room trying to decide to forget Pete forever (as if she could); go to the Coast and claim her money, but her heart would not let her decide to leave right away.

It was nearly 10 o'clock.

"I'll sleep on it for another night," she promised herself, undressed and got into bed.

The light had been out only a few minutes when a short knock on the door startled her. It was the first time any one had knocked on that door.

Who could be calling on her at this time of night? After a short wait the knock was repeated and Babe called, "Yes; just a minute, please," and jumped out of bed. She threw on a dressing gown and unlocked the door, opening it a little way only.

"There's a man downstairs wants to see you right away," the landlady announced in her acid voice.

"Who is it?" Babe asked.

"How should I know? He just said he wanted to see you and he seemed to mean it."

"Young or old?" Babe asked.

"Well, he ain't young, but I wouldn't say he was old."

Babe hesitated. "Are you sure he wanted to see me?"

"I'll only be a second this time," she assured the officer. "And then I hope I never see the man again."

"All right, I'll give you a minute." Morgan's eyes were snapping when she was ushered in.

"Of course I'm sure."

"What does he look like?"

"Well, he looks some like a detective," the landlady said. "In fact I think he is. I run a respectable place and I don't fancy having detectives come here. What have you been up to?"

"I don't know who he is or what he wants, and it's none of your business what I have been up to," Babe burst out. "Tell him to wait five minutes and then send him up here."

"You had better see him downstairs."

"If he is a detective I want some privacy when I talk to him," Babe replied.

ANNE ARUNDEL VOTE MANDAMUS ISSUED

AUTO PLATES CHECKED

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 2.—Investigation of the registration lists in certain sections of Anne Arundel County assumed a legal phase today when Judge Robert Moss, in Circuit Court, signed a petition for mandamus directed against the judges of the Seventh and Eighth Districts, compelling them to pass upon "suspect" lists filed by Republican leaders.

The petition was filed by Ernest F. Packum, of the legal department of the State central committee of Maryland, which has been cooperating with county Republican leaders, in view of suggestions of alleged "padding" of the lists by Democrats. The two districts involved in the matter are in the southern section of the county bordering either on Chesapeake Bay or the rivers, and the legality of upward of 400 registrants, mostly Washingtonians who spend only the summer season there, is questioned.

It is claimed by the Republicans that all the registration officials of the Seventh District failed to take cognizance of the suspect list when presented, as required by law. In the Eighth district the Republican judges were willing to pass upon the lists, but their Republican associates refused. The lists were filed last Tuesday. Sheriff Michael F. Carter is charged with serving notice upon the registration officials, who in turn must notify all persons listed as "suspect" to appear next Tuesday, revision day, and testify as to their qualifications to vote in the county under the residence provisions of the law.

Judges of Registration.

The judges of registration in the respective districts are: Seventh, W. G. Crandell and W. H. Hulse, Democrats; N. G. Turner and S. Kemp Dawson, Republicans. Eighth, Tillard D. Smith and Edgar Corsby, Democrats; J. Lester Clark and James W. Higgins, Republicans. The situation now is that unless the alleged "suspects" establish their legal qualifications they will be stricken from the lists on Tuesday.

Ownership and registration licensing of automobiles of those who seek to exercise franchise at the November election may prove a material factor in connection with residential qualification, it was said today.

Republican workers say that many of those registered drive automobiles bearing District of Columbia licenses. It is the claim that to secure District tags they must swear they are residents of the Washington area. It is reported that the Republicans will claim, when the case comes to court, that these same people swear to being residents of Maryland.

Old Law Changed.

Under the State law, persons coming into the county are entitled to vote after two reputable voters sign papers that they have lived in particular districts one year prior to registering. This law passed the last session of the Legislature when it was generally conceded that the old law, whereby a person must file with the clerk of court his desire to vote a year in advance of being permitted to register, was unfair in many instances.

This being the first general election since the change, many new names have naturally been added to books, Democratic leaders say. Frank S. Revell, clerk of the circuit, and recognized Democratic leader and his associates assert that the recent registration was fairly conducted in every way.

Local Republicans opened their county campaign tonight with a mass meeting in the Furnace Branch section of the Fifth District. All the candidates on the county ticket, headed by Mayor Walter E. Quenstedt, of Annapolis, for State senator, attended the meeting. Quenstedt was the principal speaker. Thomas W. McKeldin, secretary to Mayor William F. Broening, candidate for governor, spoke in behalf of the State ticket, as well as local candidates.

Vesuvius Displays Greater Activity

Crater Enlarged 100 Feet; Observatory Minimizes Immediate Danger.

Naples, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—The activity of Vesuvius was increasing tonight, but with no immediate danger anticipated.

The crater had become enlarged 100 feet and a stream of lava 20 feet wide was flowing at the rate of 15 feet a minute down what is known as the "Infernal Valley." This stream passes to the south of the town of Tersiglio.

Although statements from the Vesuvius observatory have reassured the population, there are many who point to the fact that the direction of the lava flow is the same as in the catastrophes of 1834 and 1909.

POLI'S THEATER still stands, but the process of demolition goes on all about it, buildings falling right and left. Though the owners have entered suit against the United States Government, at least one theatrical troupe is not taking a chance. This is the German Opera Company, which usually played on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue. Coming here in January, the German Opera has made reservations for two engagements in the National Theater—the operas to be announced later.

JACK DONAHUE'S death caused more comment in show business than the passing of any American star in the past several years. Mrs. Donahue's boy, as he called himself, was a dearly beloved trouper. He stood for all that was clean on the American stage. In his private and public life Jack Donahue brought a great lot of joy to everybody who ever saw him. The finest tribute comes from H. R. Burnside, who in his day has directed more than 300 stars in the musical comedy firmament: "The stage can ill afford the loss of its Jack Donahues, the saving graces of showdom. Too few Jack Donahues."

EVEN though the announcement came from such a high authority as Ray Henderson, advance agent for Ethel Barrymore, there were many theatergoers who doubted the story in these columns the other day, the story to the effect that Miss Barrymore, in "Scarlet Sister Mary," would play the Belasco Theater the week of October 13. Amongst the telephone callers were many personal friends of Miss Barrymore who had made reservations for the New York opening which was announced sometime ago and happened to be the same date as that set here. The answer is simple: A change in bookings. Miss Barrymore will appear not only in blackface, but will smoke a pipe.

HILDA SPONG, who needs no introduction in this parish, stepped into the Fred Stone show at the National Theater last night, assuming the role vacated by Maude Eburne. Just to show how these things go, Miss Spong had been in town all week, rehearsing almost every afternoon in the National Theater, walking up and down E street, looking at the racing returns and the score board in front of The Post, and only one of her old-time friends recognized her off stage. Of course, when she made her first appearance last night in "Ripples" the old-timers gave her a great reception.

SPEAKING of rehearsals, tomorrow morning Lester Allen, Lytell and Fant, the Washington boys, and Dick Keene, all featured players in "Pajama Lady," George Lederer's new musical comedy, will step off the New York train and rush immediately out to the Columbia Country Club to get in a round of golf before the final practice on the stage of the National Sunday afternoon. Mr. Allen, of course, will be easily recognized by the raccoon coat. Further, he will be the country club guest of Mr. Steve Cochran, manager of the Nationa'. The new show has its world premiere here Monday night.

Estate Claimant Flees Courtroom

Youth Said He Was Heir of Raymond Jackson, Missing Wealthy Indian.

Muskogee, Okla., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—A claimant to the estate of Raymond Jackson, Seminole freedman and heir to millions from Seminole oil lands, was missing today after appearing yesterday in Federal court here. The wealthy Jackson has been missing several years and his parents insist he was killed in a train wreck in Arkansas.

A Negro youth who, acquaintances said, actually is named Raymond Jackson, but who was born and raised in Fulton, Ky., instead of in Seminole County, Okla., made the claim.

He stoutly maintained he was the missing heir until he spied in the courtroom some old Kentucky acquaintances, including Dick Thomas, of Fulton, on whose farm he had worked many times. Thomas was ready to testify, but Jackson made it unnecessary by fleeing. His attorneys withdrew the case.

Colombia Prepares Law For Exploitation of Oil

Bogota, Colombia, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—President Olaya told the Associated Press tonight that a new oil law permitting intensive exploitation by foreign companies will be ready for Congress in ten days.

Companies maintaining staffs in Colombia, hopeful of gaining operating permits, are the Standard of New Jersey and California, Gulf, Texas, Andian and Richmond. Oil men say more than $130,000,000 already has been invested in Colombian projects.

MACHINE GUN KILLS TWO IN GANG FEUD

Cuckoo Hoodlums Victims of Surprise Attack at Site of Still.

TWO OTHERS WOUNDED

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Two men, one a reputed leader in the Cuckoo gang of St. Louis, were killed and at least two more were wounded today in a dawn machine gun attack on a shack and still operated by Cuckoo gangsters near Valmeyer, Ill., about 28 miles south of St. Louis on the Illinois side of the Mississippi River.

Police view the attack as accomplishment of a therat by Shelton gangsters, from East St. Louis, that they would "make it hot" for St. Louis gangsters and bootleggers found operating on the Illinois side. The Shelton gang attracted wide attention several years ago when they warred with the gang of Charlie Birger, executed racketeer, for control of liquor traffic in southern Illinois.

Dead and Wounded.

The dead are, Peter McTigue, 23, notorious Cuckoo gangster, and William E Boody, 34, formerly business agent of the East St. Louis Plumbers Union, while those wounded are Sam Therina, 24, twice-convicted bootlegger, and Joe Moceri, 28, all from St. Louis.

First news of the shooting was brought to St. Louis by Sam Therina, when he drove up to City Hospital in a small sedan, shot through both hips by machine gun bullets and unable to get out of the car. Seriously injured he managed to get from the shack in the woods near Valmeyer into the machine and reach St. Louis. Moceri, the other wounded man, was found shot through the chest on a road near Harrisonville, Ill., not far from the scene of the attack. Both Therina and Moceri are expected to recover.

Awakened by Shots.

Therina told police he was awakened by the machine gun barrage into the shack, was hit, and as he staggered out found McTigue dead and Boody dying. Moceri and James Dormondy, another Cuckoo gangster, were at the still, near the shack. Dormondy is believed by Therina to have fled to the woods.

The threat of the Shelton gang against Missouri gangsters operating on the Illinois side has been widely known in St. Louis, police say, since early in the summer. The police ascribed the killing of Joseph Nesser, 26-year-old Cuckoo gangster, July 2 in East St. Louis to the feud.

Dormondy and two others tonight were held in jail at Waterloo, Ill., for questioning. Dormondy was arrested by Sheriff Maul several hours after the shooting. His companions were Dominick Pace, 26, and Tony Boniyo, 25, all of St. Louis. None of the three would make a statement.

YOM KIPPUR DELAYS EWALD CASE INQUIRY

Six Tammany Leaders Fail to Come Before Jury Because of Day.

EXTENSION IS GRANTED

New York, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Six Tammany district leaders who hold city positions failed to appear today before the extraordinary grand jury investigating office-buying charges against former Magistrate George F. Ewald. Yesterday Mayor Walker decreed that they must withdraw within 24 hours their earlier refusals to waive immunity before the grand jury. When they failed to appear today the mayor announced he had given them an extension of time of 24 hours because of the Jewish holy day, Yom Kippur.

"I agreed to the extension," he explained, "because of the Jewish holiday and because of the fact that several of the leaders had asked to be allowed to communicate with their attorneys before giving their answers."

Only one of the six Tammany leaders is known to be Jewish, but it was assumed some of the attorneys they wished to consult could not be reached because of the holy day.

The mayor insisted, however, the leaders must agree to testify or relinquish their jobs.

Seventeen Tammany district leaders, including Martin J. Healy, who has been indicted with Ewald on the office-buying charges, have refused to sign waivers of immunity. John F. Curry, head of Tammany Hall, declared he was "insulted" by a request to sign a waiver.

Mayor Walker was asked today whether any suggestion had been made to Curry to reconsider his refusal.

"Why," his honor answered, "the last time I saw Mr. Curry he looked very well. There is going to be reciprocity between Mr. Curry and me and I am going to suggest as little to him as he does to me, and that's very little."

Gold Star Mothers End 1930 Journeys

Last Pilgrimage for Year Lands in America From Liner.

New York, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—The 1930 pilgrimage of 3,671 Gold Star mothers to the graves of their sons in France ended today with the return of the last contingent of 98 mothers to American shores.

Comforted by their visit to the cemeteries where their boys are buried, and wistfully grateful for the opportunity, the gray-haired women filed silently down the gangplank of the liner Republic at her Hoboken pier and scattered to homes from New Hampshire to Alaska. The pilgrimage will be resumed next spring.

Each of the mothers carried two mementoes of her trip—an American flag from her son's grave and a roll of film picturing her standing beside the cross at its head. The film was taken at the Government's expense.

Canadian Bank Carrier Loses $7,400 in Holdup

Montreal, Que., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Two armed bandits held up Lucien Primau, messenger of the Banque Canadienne Nationale, and robbed him of $7,400 today.

An hour after the holdup the police arrested three suspects. The money was not recovered.

R-101 at Base After Trial.

Cardington, England, Oct. 2 (A.P.). The dirigible R-101 returned to her base here this morning after a night trial lasting about fifteen hours. The airship is expected to start on her flight to India during the week-end.

Boy Unhurt as Train Passes Over.

San Francisco, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Playing on a railroad track, 5-year-old Herbert Brandt failed to notice a train rushing toward him here yesterday. The engineer jammed on the brakes but the train passed over the boy. Trainmen ran back and found Herbert sitting up, laughing and barely scratched. "I saw the wheels go round," he said.

Lucien W. Powell Will Is Filed for Probate

Lucien W. Powell, local artist who died September 27, left the bulk of his estate to his widow, Mrs. Nannie F. Powell, and their three children, Elaine F. Heiskell, Mabel L. Millett and Lucien F. Powell.

The will, filed yesterday in District Supreme Court, provides that the widow is to receive the home at 1923 G street northwest and all household effects for her life or widowhood. It also is provided that one-fourth of the residuary estate is to go to the wife during her life or widowhood and that the other three-fourths is to be equally divided between the children. Mr. Powell provided that the home at Airmont, Loudoun County, Va., is to be used as the family home by all heirs.

Man Dies in $168,000 Holdup.

Buenos Aires, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—A paymaster was killed today and three other persons were wounded by a gang which attacked a pay car and escaped with 300,000 pesos (about $108,000). The money was for the sanitary department pay roll.

Father and Son File Pleas for Bankruptcy

Samuel Shinberg and Leon M. Shinberg, father and son, respectively, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to adjudge them bankrupts.

The father, proprietor of a radio store at 1303 Seventh street northwest, lists liabilities of $12,604.60 and assets of $858.96. The son, formerly connected with a radio shop on U street northwest, near Thirteenth street, lists debts of $6,792.41 and assets of $309.58.

$10,000 Sent in Mails Is Stolen in Alabama

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Postal inspectors today were seeking unidentified men who stole $10,000 in currency from the mails sometime last night between Frisco City and Atmore, both in Alabama. The money was being shipped from a Mobile bank to a bank at Frisco City.

Postal inspectors said the money was cleared through the postoffice at Atmore, but was missing before the train reached Frisco City.

LATE RALLY CHECKS STEADY STOCK DROP

FEW SMALL GAINS SEEN

New York, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—A steady decline that had all but eliminated yesterday's advance in stock prices came to a sudden halt in the late trading today and the market resounded sharply, although it failed to make full recovery and closed lower than yesterday's final prices. The average loss was nearly 2 points.

Profit taking from the Wednesday rally began promptly at the opening and continued in a constant dribble until the last fifteen minutes. The decline, which reached 3 points or more in the leaders, encouraged short selling and also brought sales of stock that had been held for just such a recovery as yesterday's. Traders who had bought at the Tuesday lows were eager to dispose of their purchases profitably; but on the other hand the bear faction was equally desirous of getting out with a whole skin and drew in its lines rapidly toward the close.

Activity was desultory, although the pace increased on the covering movement. Sales totaled 2,315,770 shares.

Wall street was particularly interested in the loan statistics published after the session. Federal Reserve brokers' loans had shown a gain of $120,000,000 for the first three weeks of September, despite the heaviness of the market; consequently the monthly stock exchange member borrowings figures, which are much more inclusive than the loan totals for member banks, were awaited eagerly. The figures showed that these loans had declined $117,000,000 last month However, Federal Reserve brokers' loans dropped $159,000,000 in the week ended October 1, so that the net decline for the month in this calculation was $39,000,000

Interpretation of Decrease.

The size of the decrease in member borrowings, which are now less than half of the record total established on September 30, 1929, was taken as a barometer of the liquidation in the market during the month. Failure of reserve bank loans to go down until the past week reflected to a considerable extent borrowings from brokers to meet September 15 income tax payments.

The weakness of the earlier hours found many prominent stocks within a point or two of their Tuesday lows. Pressure was insistent at times against U. S. Steel, American Telephone, General Electric, American Can and Bethlehem Steel, while some of the volatile specialties tumbled as much as 9 points. The rally, however, lifted the level 1 to 6 points from the bottom and a few important shares finished with small gains. International Telephone met good support after Wednesday's weakness and gained 2 points net.

Investment rails were among the day's softest stocks and there were final declines of 2 to 3 points in Nickelson, Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian Pacific, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Southern Railway and Northern Pacific. The last named, together with such miscellaneous issues as International Harvester, United Fruit, American Locomotive, Postal Telegraph preferred, Richfield Oil and Sloss Sheffield and Gulf States Steels, touched new lows for the year. Selling of United Fruit was based on the company's third quarter earnings statement, which showed only 46 cents a share against $2.26 a year ago.

Utilities Lead In Recovery.

Most of the leaders, especially in the utility group, made good recoveries. American Telephone regained two-thirds of its maximum drop and was off only a point. American Can, down 9 points, closed ¾ lower, while U. S. Steel reduced a break of 3¾ to 2½. General Electric was rather heavy, closing more than 2 points lower. Westinghouse Electric and Standard Oil of New Jersey were up ½ net, Diamond Match gained 4 and Auburn Auto nearly 3.

Issues off 2 to 3 points included International Harvester, Case, Johns-Manville, Du Pont, American Smelting and Gillette. General Motors, Radio and Anaconda lost about a point.

The recovery in stocks was aided by the strength of the commodities. Wheat rallied a cent net on the improvement shown by Liverpool and better export demand, while corn closed 1¼ to 2¼ cents higher. Cotton, after early easiness, steadied and was up 7 to 10 points net.

Foreign exchanges improved. The French franc made its first rally in a week and the Japanese yen went to a new 1930 high.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Declines from a slight opening advance were followed by renewed firmness in cotton here late today, with prices advancing sharply during the last half hour on covering and commission house buying. New December contracts, after selling at 10.65 at the opening, declined to 10.38, but rallied to 10.72 on the late spurt of demand and closed at 10.68, compared with 10.61 at the close of the previous day. The general market closed steady at net advances of 7 to 10 points.

The opening was steady at net advances of 1 to 5 points in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables and some overnight buying orders which were probably brought in by the action of yesterday's market. The initial demand was quite readily supplied by Southern selling, while buying was less active after the covering of the last two days, and the market sagged off during the middle of the day under local selling or liquidation. There was some further near-month liquidation incident to the circulation of notices representing about 1,100 bales tasked against new October contracts, which probably had an unsettling effect on the market.

There was also some Western and Wall street selling, influenced by earlier weakness in the stock market, with the decline extending to 10.19 for new October and 9.69 for March contracts during the middle of the afternoon, or about 17 to 22 points net lower. Offerings became very thin at the lower prices, however, and the market turned sharply upward in the last half hour on renewal of trade and speculative buying and covering promoted by the late rally in the stock market. New October closed at 10.43, nominal, while March, after selling up to 11.02, closed at 10.97.

The opinion was expressed in some quarters here that part of the late buying may have been promoted by Washington advices referring to investment possibilities in commodities and proposed international discussions regarding the disposition of surpluses, while others were inclined to attribute it to a renewal of pressure covering and a comparative scarcity of contracts in the late trading.

Liverpool cables reported continental buying and covering in that market, but said demand for cloth and yarn was restricted, with buyers cautious. Exports today, 71,767, making 1,323,750 so far this season. Port receipts, 73,074. United States port stocks, 2,827,807.

BOND PRICES CHANGE LITTLE IN QUIET DAY

ITALIAN GROUP SCORES

New York, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—The price level of the bond market was virtually undisturbed by the quiet movement today. Trading in the best grade issues lacked the briskness that the number to reach new highs for has characterized recent sessions and the year was small. Small fractional changes were the rule among seasoned domestic bonds. The widest revisions took place among speculative industrials, depressed to new low ground, and in the foreign group, where recovery of many German, Italian and Latin-American obligations recently under pressure stood out.

Declines of many low grade or so-called speculative corporation issues was measured in full points. Richfield Oil 6s sagged 5 points to a 1930 low. Warner Quinlan 6s lost nearly 4, Lehigh Valley Coal 5s and B. F. Goodrich 6½s 3 each and Consolidated Coal of Maryland 5s and Cuba Northern Railways 5½s 2 each. Parmalee 6s advanced 4 points from its year's minimum.

The foreign list was not without its soft spots but a large majority of the changes were on the constructive side. On a large turnover German International 5½s rallied 1¼, and the Dawes 7s gained ⅜. The whole Italian group was buoyant, and some issues advanced a point or more. The government 7s moved 1½, Milan City 6½s and Rome City 6½s more than a point each.

The recovery of Latin-American issues was very irregular. Cuban 5½s made a small advance on a large turnover, and Peruvian, Chilean and Argentine issues showed moderate improvement. Bolivian issues were weak. The 7s of 1969 dropped 4¾ points, and the 7s of 1958 reacted 1¾. Colombians were depressed in thin trading.

There was a fair amount of activity in U. S. Governments. Treasury issues advanced on good buying. Treasury 3⅜s of 1943-47 reached a new high for the year.

Public offering will be made shortly of a $2,000,000 Province of Saskatchewan 25-year 4½ per cent issue, which was sold to a syndicate today.

MORRIS PLAN BANKS LOAN $125,203,095

BANKERS HONOR MORAN

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Surpassing all previous operation figures and marking their twentieth successive year of expansion, the 179 Morris Plan Banks, companies and branches situated throughout the country, have reported a combined loan volume for the first six months' period of this year of $125,203,095, it is announced by Arthur J. Morris, founder of the Morris Plan and president of the Industrial Finance Corporation.

Investment certificates representing the savings of Morris Plan clients outstanding in these 179 institutions totaled $95,252,449, while aggregate resources were given as $209,134,885, with surplus and undivided profits of $12,345,939. Protected loan insurance written by the Morris Plan Insurance Society for borrowers during the same period amounted to $20,348,000.

Although the Industrial Finance Corporation is the original organizing and holding company of a number of large Morris Plan banks and companies, the six months' volume figure announced by Mr. Morris includes both nationally and locally controlled institutions bearing the Morris Plan name, he states.

Statement by Morris.

Commenting on activities of industrial banks during the recent business depression and their relation to the country's economic condition generally, Mr. Morris, who organized the country's first industrial bank at Norfolk, Va., twenty years ago, pointed to the erroneous impression generally prevalent that this firm's form of banking was greatly benefited by periods of business recession.

He explained that although many Morris Plan banks have experienced a decline in loan volume during the depression, it seems to be the popular theory that thousands of business men and individuals have rushed to them for assistance in these unusual conditions to such an extent that the banks' volume has abnormally increased to the profit of the banks.

He reminds that Morris Plan, like all other banking, is predicated on the principle of advancing sums of money to borrowers who have character and earning capacity and a conservative need for the money, and that naturally, in present conditions with unemployment, while the need for money may be unusual, the opportunity of Morris Plan banks to meet it is more apt to be circumscribed rather than enlarged. Instead of the banks' volume expanding, as it always does in good times, either the increase in volume is limited or the volume declines.

Inquiry on Applicants.

"Even under normal conditions," his report states, "a small percentage of the applicants are occasionally found to be lacking in proper qualifications, and the very fact that all Morris Plan banks thoroughly investigate the credit stability and the credit soundness of each and every transaction accounts for the stability of this form of banking under subnormal economic periods."

Vice President Howard Moran, American Security & Trust Co., has been elected at the Cleveland convention to serve another three-year term on the executive committee of the savings bank division of the American Bankers Association.

President M. S. Gibbs, of the Peoples Drug Stores Co., of this city, has been elected a vice president of the National Chain Store Association, whose convention was just held in Chicago.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Cotton goods were quiet today, with fewer second-hand offerings of gray cloths. Raw silk continued on very low basis and inactive. Silk goods were selling moderately. Worsted dresses and suits were selling better than a year ago. Men's wear was quiet. Holidays in Calcutta burlap markets led to quiet trading here. Demand for rayon yarns for knit goods and weavers is increasing.

The Reichsbank report as of September 30 shows the following changes in reichsmarks: Gold and bullion decreased 104,792,000; reserve in foreign currencies decreased 52,836,000; bills of exchange and cheques increased 751,063,000; silver and other coins decreased 32,149,000; notes on other banks decreased 17,537,000; advances increased 234,293,000; other assets increased 8,140,000; notes in circulation increased 711,481,000; other maturing obligations increased 28,845,000; other liabilities increased 45,856,000. Total gold holdings, 2,478,833,000. Rate of discount, 4 per cent.

The weekly statement of the Bank of France shows the following changes in francs: Gold increased 760,000,000; sight balances abroad decreased 155,000,000; bills discounted at home increased 1,216,000,000; bills discounted abroad increased 157,000,000; advances increased 7,000,000; circulation increased 344,000,000; current accounts increased 1,400,000,000. Rate of discount, 2½ per cent.

The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes in pounds: Total reserve decreased 4,241,020; circulation increased 3,617,000; bullion decreased 624,000; other securities increased 6,816,000; public deposits increased 8,335,000; other deposits decreased 2,262,000; notes reserve decreased 4,308,000; Government securities increased 3,480,000. The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability is 48.76 per cent compared with 55.20 last week. Rate of discount 3 per cent.

The Bank of Poland today increased its discount rate from 6½ per cent to 7½ per cent, and the Lombard rate from 7½ to 8½. Banking authorities expressed the hope that the increased rates would attract foreign capital.

Wall Street was thrown into considerable confusion just before the stock market closed today as the ticker system throughout the financial district ceased operation, delaying the printing of transactions of the final two minutes of trading. Ticker service was resumed about 10 minutes after 3 o'clock. The interruption was caused by mechanical trouble in the transmission room of the stock exchange.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York today announced no change in its rediscount rate of 2½ per cent.

Raw silk futures closed steady; sales 1,810 bales, December 221; March, 222; May, 222. Open market quotations (60-day basis): Shanghai steam extra, b290; Canton double extra, a14-16s, 115; Japanese crack double extra, 245.

The gold statement of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York for the week ended October 1 showed imports of $620,000, which included $504,000 from Brazil and $116,000 chiefly from other Latin-American countries. Exports consisted of $1,000,000 to Canada and $965,000 to Venezuela. Gold earmarked for foreign account showed a decrease of $2,992,000.

The petition to close the New York Stock Exchange on October 11, the Saturday preceding Columbus Day, now bears 636 signatures, a majority of the membership. The National Metal Exchange has voted to close October 11, giving that exchange a triple holiday, as Columbus Day will be observed Monday, October 13.

A $6,000,000 gain in contemplated public projects increased the money value of proposed engineering construction announced throughout the country during the past week to $50,437,000, compared with $46,510,000 in the preceding week and $51,950,000 in the corresponding week last year, Construction Daily reports.

The Philadelphia National Co. and the Tradesmen's Corporation, Philadelphia, announced today the issue and sale to investors of $6,000,000 10-year 6 per cent coupon notes of the Philadelphia Inquirer Co., a Delaware corporation. The price was $100 and interest.

After declining in price from $275,000 to $255,000 in four successive sales, New York Stock Exchange memberships turned upward today, with the arrangement of a sale at $260,000. Last year stock exchange seats reached a maximum price of $625,000, or $500,000 after deducting the so-called "seat dividend" of the five seats recently sold, it is learned that at least three were acquired in 1929, when seats commanded their fanciest prices.

Studebaker Corporation Shares have been admitted to dealing on the Chicago Board of Trade. Transactions in the shares will begin next Monday. The total number of Studebaker Common Shares admitted to the list was 2,031,617.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

In making inquiries address Charles W. Storm, financial department of The Washington Post, and inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope for reply.

Pilot Radio & Tube; Others.

H. W. N.—I have some stock in the Pilot Radio & Tube Corporation and Allan Manufacturing & Electrical Corporation and am desirous of having my address changed on their books. Would you be so kind as to give me the addresses of these companies? What is the value of Allan Manufacturing & Electrical Corporation stock, and where is it listed? Will Pilot Radio "A" pay any dividends in the near future? What are the prospects of Crosley Radio for the long pull?

Answer—Address of Pilot Radio & Tube Corporation, 323 Berry street, Brooklyn, N. Y.; that of Allan Manufacturing & Electrical Corporation, Harrison, N. J. Pilot Radio & Tube have acquired Allan Manufacturing & Electrical Corporation, through exchange of stock, no market whatsoever for stock of last named. Inasmuch as Pilot Radio & Tube only passed its "A" dividend July 1, 1930, it does not seem likely that any further distributions will be made in near future, even though company's sales for seven months ended July 31, last, increased 19 per cent over those for corresponding 1929 period. While two dividends of 25 cents a share each have been paid on Crosley Radio common thus far in 1930, the stock is still very largely speculative. Its future will entirely depend upon whether or not there is to be an improvement in the radio business from now on. At this writing the prospect is none too bright.

Colorado Fuel.

B. H. W.—Kindly give me some information regarding Colorado Fuel. What is your opinion of the stock at current prices?

Answer—Deflation of Colorado Fuel has been severe. Around its current price of 33 the stock yields about 6 per cent from the $2 dividend. Common dividends were resumed last February at the rate of 50 cents quarterly after a lapse of ten years. First half year earnings were equal to $4.52 a share, which was a better showing than for the initial half of 1929. While the company may report a deficit for the third quarter, the last three months' period should show improvement. Colorado Fuel earned $6.43 a share in 1929 and $2.50 in 1928. The stock appears attractive in view of the fact that the year's dividend was twice earned in the first six months.

Cities Service.

H. B. T.—I have a few thousand dollars which I would like to invest in Cities Service common stock, provided it is recommended.

Answer—Net income applicable to the common stock outstanding and for reserves in the first eight months this year amounted to $30,063,153, a new high earnings record. Income for the eight months was more than profits for the entire year 1929. Income for several years has shown a consecutive annual gain, which speaks well for Cities Service common stock as a long-term investment. Profits for the last twelve months were equal to $1.46 a share on the common stock, on which dividends of 30 cents in cash and 6 per cent in stock are paid annually.

First eight months earnings of $30,063,153 compare with $29,591,440 for the full twelve months of 1929 and $22,876,755 for the year 1928, indicating capable and progressive management of the properties. Cities Service common stock is classed among the conservative low-priced investment issues as suitable for holding over a period of years.

National Lead.

G. V. H.—What is the outlook for the National Lead Co.?"

Answer—The stock has been liquidated of late. First quarter business of this company was the poorest for any similar period in the last twenty years. Earnings power is being curtailed this year and there are no signs of any increase in the current $5 dividend rate. Income this year, according to a director of the company, is expected to cover the $5 dividend. At current prices the stock yields slightly in excess of 4 per cent.

American Ship & Commerce.

Mrs. S. B. W.—Please give me all possible information on American Ship & Commerce, particularly as to the advisability of holding this stock for future gain. These shares are held by the brokers in their name. Please advise if I should secure them, and if so, how shall I do it?

Answer—Advice regarding the holding of any stock for future gain is never given in this column. If you have purchased the shares outright, all that is necessary is that you make a request for the same from your brokers, and it will be honored and the shares placed in your actual possession. American Ship & Commerce, on which no dividends have ever been paid has had a steady decline in value since 1920, when it sold as high as $30.50 a share. This year it sold as low as $1.12½ a share and at the current writing is selling at around $1.50. For year ended December 31, 1929, 15 cents per share was earned, compared with 5 cents per share in 1928. Stock is utterly lacking in attractiveness.

Atlantic Refining and Warner.

F. J. K.—I am writing for your advice and opinion as to investing in the stock of the Atlantic Refining Co. and Warner Brothers Pictures.

Answer—If it is investment yield, rather than possible speculative market profits that you are seeking, you had better dismiss Warner Brothers Pictures from your mind, as that stock pays no dividend and there is apparently very little likelihood of its doing so for some time to come, even though it is hoped that, through new financing now going on, company will shortly be restored to a better position than it now occupies.

Atlantic Refining, on the other hand, possesses considerable attractiveness from an investment viewpoint, while at the same time having speculative potentialities. Dividends of $2 a share, partly extra, are now paid on the stock. At prevailing prices, the income yield is better than 7½ per cent, quite an attractive return, especially on a stock included in the Standard Oil group. Earnings of company for second half of 1930 are expected to equal, if not exceed, those for first half. Conservatively estimated that profits for year will amount to about $2.50 per share.

Aviation Corporation.

A.C.R.—Please give me your opinion of Aviation Corporation. Is it considered one of the leading aviation companies?

Answer—There are two "Aviation Corporations." Presumed, however, you mean Aviation Coporation of Delaware and not Aviation Corporation of the Americas. Former listed on New York Stock Exchange and currently selling at around $5 a share; the latter listed on New York Curb Exchange and selling at about $45 a share. Neither pays a dividend, consequently their stocks are still in the speculative class and are not to be regarded as investments. Aviation Corporation of Delaware's efforts thus far have been unsatisfactory and severe losses have been established. It was organized March 1929, as a holding and development company for aircraft industry. Has expanded rapidly, its important subsidiaries now including Fairchild Aviation Corporation, Colonial Airways Corporation, Universal Aviation Corporation, Southern Air Transport Inc., and Embry-Riddle Aviation Corporation. Constituent units engaged in practically all phases of aircraft activity. Recently organized a new subsidiary to take over operations of its 7,000 miles of airlines. Evidently, its present portfolio is well diversified and the holdings have long term possibilities.

Curb Review

New York, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Curb sales fluctuated erratically and closed irregularly lower in quieter trading today. Transactions aggregated 525,700 shares, nearly 200,000 less than yesterday.

In view of the announcement of the suspension of Piperno & Co., for insolvency, a firm specializing in curb securities, and holding two curb memberships, the market was regarded as maintaining a fairly even keel. Losses in the more active stocks were rather extensive for a time, but were reduced by a brisk rally in the final transactions.

As a result of the Piperno suspension, trading was suspended in the shares of Rainbow Luminous Products, for which the firm was the principal market sponsor. Trading will probably be resumed in these shares shortly.

Electric Bond & Share, after selling off 3½ points, rallied to close at 67, off only ¾. American Superpower closed at a fraction higher at 19. Central Public Service and Public Utility Holdings were firm. American Gas & Electric dropped 4 points, then rallied 2. United Light A, however, dropped 2 points and closed at the bottom. In the natural gas group, Memphis was an active feature, closing up ½.

Oils were again a soft spot, as earnings statements are expected to be unsatisfactory, in view of the low gasoline prices. Gulf dropped 2 points, then regained all but a fraction. Humble, however, closed 3 lower, and Cosden, Lion, and Vacuum were off a point or so at the finish. Cities Service continued to meet good support, and closed at 26¾, up ¼. In the mines, Newmont was again weak, closing at 65, a new low, off more than 4. Metals and Mining Securities, an investment trust, sold at 8½, as against a previous closing price of 10.

In the industrials, Deere dropped 6 in sympathy with farm implements on the big board, then rallied 3 from the bottom. American Cyanamid B and Cuneo Press lost a point, and Driver Harris 2.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Despite lively profit-taking, wheat scored fresh price gains today, with reports current that foreign countries were negotiating for big purchases on long time credit. Europeans were estimated to have taken more than 7,000,000 bushels of North American wheat today, including some from the United States. Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board was quoted as saying that countries overseas would purchase 100,000,000 bushels more wheat this winter, and that he thought they would have no trouble financing that amount.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm, 1 to 1¾ cents a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed at 1½ to 2 cents advance, oats ½ to ⅝ cents up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 35 cents.

Sharp attention on the part of wheat traders was given to statements ascribed to Chairman Legge that reconditions were down to an investment level. Another stimulating factor was word that drought damage to wheat in Australia was serious, and that desired general rains in Argentina were still lacking. Violent upturns in wheat quotations at Liverpool were also an incentive to fractionally higher prices here, especially as the action of the Liverpool market was in the face of new reports of heavy selling of wheat abroad by Russia.

Official advices indicated the 1930 wheat crop of the Northern Hemisphere was likely to prove but little if any larger than last year, and that in a number of European countries the outturn was smaller, with quality far below that of a year ago. Meanwhile unofficial reports were made that 1930 United States crops of the fine principal grains, plus carryovers, were only about equal to last year's disappearance, and that immense reduction of other cereal and feed crops emphasizes a general shortage, with prospects pointing to curtailment of domestic winter wheat grinding. Under such circumstances, notwithstanding that the market encountered heavy profit-taking in the final hour causing some reaction, good support was uncovered on numerous setbacks.

Corn and oats followed the leadership of wheat, with corn affected also by disappointing husking returns. Authoritative estimates were current that the November 1 carry-over of old corn would total but 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 bushels compared with a 5-year average of 102,000,000 bushels.

Provisions went higher on account of unexpected reductions shown in Chicago stocks of lard.

Potato Shipments Showing Increase

Onions Regaining From Past Low Prices; Peach Season Nears End.

Potato shipments are increasing as usual at this time of year, according to the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Fully 1,000 carlots daily moved during late September and early October. Demand continues fairly good and prices show a steady range.

Onions seem to be recovering a little from recent low prices. Shipments of cabbage lately have been rather heavy from New York, Wisconsin and Colorado, averaging about 175 cars daily, but supplies remain liberal in most Eastern cities and light in Philadelphia.

Not much activity has been shown in the carrot market yet. Sweet potatoes are only in moderate supply and some markets report light receipts. Demand is fairly good. Prices of grapes have been a little disappointing to growers in view of the general light production of other fruits. The peach season is about over.

Stock Collateral Loans Decline $117,180,308

New York, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Collateral loans to members of the New York Stock Exchange decreased $117,180,808 in September to a total of $3,481,452,761 September 30.

On the same date last year the loans to members amounted to $6,549,383,979, the high record for all time.

Brokers' Loans Decrease.

Loans to brokers and dealers held by the New York Federal Reserve member banks for the week ending October 8 were announced by the Federal Reserve Board yesterday as $3,083,000,000, representing a decrease of $139,000,000 as compared with the preceding week.

MACKS BEAT CARDS, 6-1, FOR SECOND STRAIGHT VICTORY; EARNSHAW HOLDS ST. LOUIS TO 6 SCATTERED BINGLES

STREET TEAM GLUM, PINS SERIES HOPE ON HOME STAND GAMES

Cardinals Glum When Teams Evacuate Philly.

Even Gabby Street Has Little to Say for His Team.

By EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—The hopes of the Cardinals are tumbling, confidence is seeping away, and the cocky, carefree "Let's get at 'em" spirit of the Redbirds is giving way to a mild case of the jitters—a sort of shell shock brought on by the thunder of the Athletics' siege guns.

The Cardinals stumbled up from their underground dugout after the last putout of the second game of the world series like a squad of rookies emerging from a week in a shell-battered trench. They trotted into their dressing room with heads down and tongues silent, a wondrous awe in their faces at the carnage just behind them.

Cards No Longer Boisterous.

In a single day the Cardinals have changed from a boisterous, challenging, daredevil gang to a squad of ball players who look as though they think some one has been playing practical jokes on them.

Today the long-range guns boomed again and their own bats were silent. Meanwhile two defeats have piled against them and the A's are rolling easily along treating the series as though it were just another set of ball games to be won as rapidly and easily as possible. Two of the Cardinals' best pitchers have been whipped, the hitters aren't hitting and the fielders aren't always fielding. The general result is that the Cardinals are just about licked.

One little Sparky Adams, the mite third baseman, who got his hit and turned in one of the fielding gems of the day in throwing out Jimmy Dykes at first in the opening inning, had a word of hope as he trotted into the dressing room.

"We've just got to beat them in St. Louis, that's all," muttered Sparky, but there was more desperation than confidence in his face.

Even "Gabby" Street Is Subdued.

Gabby Street, loquacious pilot of the flock, was as close to absolute silence as he ever gets. There was a glint in his eyes that probably meant some one was going to hear uncomfortable things once that dressing-room door closed and he was alone with his help.

"They just beat us; that's all," he said. "Earnshaw pitched better ball than Grove did yesterday. We made some mistakes and they hurt. We aren't getting any hitting from the top of the line-up. That hurts, too. Bill Hallahan will pitch the first game in St. Louis."

Down the runway that led to the Athletics' dressing quarters, every one was trying at once to pat the shoulders of "Big George" Earnshaw, brilliant Mickey Cochrane, smiling Al Simmons, the youthful Jimmy Foxx Connie Mack ducked the celebration and scooted away to his mountain retreat in the club tower as fast as his long 67-year-old legs would carry him.

The A's, while hardly a bashful lot, all were eager to pass along the honors to some one else.

"Earnshaw was marvelous today," Mickey insisted. "He had his fast ball working perfectly. It was a bit dark down there, and once we found the Cardinals couldn't hit his speed I didn't call for much else. My home run? A curve ball on the outside, a little low."

Earnshaw's Shoulder Sore From Work.

Earnshaw was very happy, but winced when some one patted his right shoulder. It seemed sore after the day's work.

"I just kept burning them in there, and they couldn't hit them," he said. "Those Cardinals can hit, but it was too dark for them today. I did not hurt myself much when I took Foxx's throw at first on Watkins in the sixth. I just fell over my own big feet. I'm naturally clumsy."

To Connie Mack, reviewing the day's work in his office, it was just another ball game and not a very exciting one at that. Baseball, to the tall tactician, is like playing bridge Some hands are easy to play and some are hard. Today's played itself.

"The hitting of Cochrane, Simmons, Foxx and Dykes, and the pitching of Earnshaw, especially in the pinches, were the features of the game, but they were just what I expected Frankie Frisch was the only Cardinal who looked like a batsman, and he had a little luck. Watkins' homer was a real smash."

Connie thought the fielding gem of

St. Louis Fans Losing Hope for World Title

Paris, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Baseball fans in Paris who had been inclined to favor the chances of the Cardinals just about lost hope this evening when it was announced Connie Mack's stalwart Athletics had captured the second game of the world series at Philadelphia.

Several hundred enthusiasts stood before boards in the New York bar and Jefferson Dickson's new emporium and watched the game play by play.

One fan summed up his impression by saying, "This is another Enterprise-Shamrock V affair." Yet there were several who made bets that St. Louis would capture the first game on the home grounds.

Little World Series Is Won by Rochester

Louisville, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—The Rochester Red Wings won the little world series today by defeating the Louisville Colonels, 8 to 1, in the deciding game. The victory made it five games for the International League champions to three for the American Association pennant winners.

In the deciding game of the series, which was for five out of nine games, the Wings batted in a commanding lead early and then fought off a Louisville rally in the ninth.

In that inning Layne, pinch hitting for Hartley, singled a hot one to center field. Penner was out when Florence caught his foul. Olivares singled and Layne advanced to second. Herman went out, Grant to Collins. Simons was out, Toporcer to Collins, and Rochester won the game and the series.

Connie Street Still Feels He'll Make Correct Guess

By CONNIE STREET
(Westbrook Pegler).

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 2.—A little smile, a little tear; that's what makes up the game of life, and its the same in baseball—you can't win them all.

Mind you, we do not feel discouraged, nor are we downhearted. If you will recall, I said in one of my early predictions that we did not hold our opponents lightly but expected mighty stiff opposition and a fight for every inch of each and every ball game of such a blue-ribbon event as makes up the annual autumn set-to of the national pastime. I so predicted in advance before President Hoover tossed out the old "apple" which sent the boys away in their grapple for the highest titular honors within the power of America's greatest sport, baseball.

Fans, I am here to tell you right now in all frankness, that was a heartbraker to lose. I don't mind telling you that we didn't feel any too good about it, because you must remember when a high-strung and closely knit baseball aggregation is out there on the old ballfield, fighting with the eyes of the loyal multitude on you and pulling for you to win, it is a terrific strain which is bound to tell in the long run.

But, folks, there is a silver lining to every cloud and I want to point out how a defeat is sometimes the best thing in the world that can happen to you in the early stages of an evenly matched struggle. Naturally, my boys were out there to win four straight if possible, but you always have to remember that there are two ways of looking at everything. And, from a strategical point of view, I think our defeat will do us a lot of good because now we know just what they can do, and if that is their best, I don't think we have much to worry about. Then, too, oftentimes you will find that a team does not fight its best until they have got their back up against that wall, facing the foe in a fighting stand for victory. The morale of our club is bound to react of its own momentum, because that is what they have been doing all along when the going has been hardest and the clouds were darkest.

I don't mind confessing to you that, personally, I learned a great deal so far and that is to instruct my pitchers to be very careful and to not underestimate the prowess of murderers row and pitch to their weaknesses at all times, thus preventing them from getting the "jump" on us. I think, in fact, I know, you will soon see a vast difference in the tactics of my combination.

Everything seemed to go against us. The wind was so hard that our outfielders could hardly get under the ball, and when they did get under it they were not always able to get it on account of the high velocity of the wind, which seemed to have a fatal knack for being against us in each and every crucial moment. And, strange to say although I have often seen it happen in the course of many campaigns, the wind seemed to die

High Cost of Golf Forces Goodman Out of Tourneys

OMAHA, Nebr., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—The high cost of competitive golf has forced another nationally known knight of the links to retire from championship play.

Following closely on the announcement of George Von Elm, of Los Angeles, formerly national amateur title holder, that he would quit amateur tournament play because he could not afford the $10,000 it cost him last year, Johnny Goodman, of Omaha, who defeated Bobby Jones in the title event last year, formally withdrew from the big events for similar reasons.

Goodman struggled against poverty to play in the big events. In fact, much of his fame was due to his wayfaring to going jousts. Left Pennyless with nine younger brothers and sisters to care for, Johnny made what he could as a caddy to help keep the family together in a Lithuanian colony back of the stock yards.

He was only 11 then—ten years ago.

Goodman longed for golf while caddying, and after getting some encouragement for good shots, he borrowed a set of clubs for a few days. Just long enough to win the city championship when he was 16. He had to return the clubs, but an admirer gave him another set and his blood was fired for more links to conquer.

The next year he and two other boys hopped a box car to St. Louis for the transmississippi championship.

did to him this October afternoon, kidnaping must seem like a very minor annoyance.

The McGillicuddies were getting something like two runs per inning from him and the score board was beginning to look very much like one of those high numbers on an automobile plate, when he was called away from there for a Mr. Lindsey, who pitched very tight ball and even got a hit, which is no mean exploit for a pitcher.

But they yanked him out for a pinch hitter who struck out and again revived the question, "why is a pinch hitter and, if so, when?"

If it hadn't been for Mr. Watkins, who got a home run, the Cards would have been held without a score. After that they were just in there swinging like golf students at buttercups.

On the other hand the Philadelphia athletes were in there smacking them far, and when they were needed most. Messrs. Dykes, Cochrane, Simmons and Foxx continued to be as poisonous to opposing pitchers as synthetic gin to a guinea pig.

The Cards seemed to crumble after a trying third inning when a bit of W. C. Fields' juggling by Frankie Frisch, with two men out, led to two more Philadelphia runs. A little later, when the Mackmen resumed the slaughter, they took out Mr. Rhem and sent in Lindsey, but it was like sending a new fireman up a ladder after it had become enveloped in flames.

Later the Cards used a third pitcher. It gave Mr. Street a chance to take an inventory of the staff anyhow.

Earnshaw, who was knocked out of the box twice in the 1929 series, came into his own today. He looked very efficient at all times.

The goat of the series so far is Sunny James Bottomley, who is yet to make a hit, and he had chances today as he did yesterday to bring home the groceries.

President Hoover was not here today. Philadelphia traded him to Cleveland.

The sensation of the afternoon came when some musicians playing on regular instruments got into the park and rendered a selection. Mr. Shibe, who uses phonograph records only, is investigating.

On to St. Louis. Where there is life there is hope.

Mack Praises Pitching of Earnshaw

Dykes' Double Ended Competition, Says Veteran Leader.

Athletics Celebrate Second Victory in Clubhouse.

By WILLIAM HENNIGAN.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2 (N.Y.W.S.N.).—As big George Earnshaw, the only baseball player who has his name in the social register, struck out Gus Mancuso in the ninth inning of the second game of the world's series at Shibe Park this afternoon, Connie Mack, the 67-year-old leader of the Athletics, darted underneath the runway that leads to the Philadelphia dugout, sprinted like a youngster to the main entrance of the ball park and then entered a little green door which was guarded by a blue-coated special officer.

Up the narrow, long and winding stairway he lightly tiptoed and then into his private office. Behind him were a flock of baseball writers, many years younger. Connie didn't seem to mind his hurried trip upstairs, while some of the writers were puffing and panting when they sat down.

"Now we know why you got such a fast baseball club," declared one of the writers

"Yes," interjected another, "they have to be fast to keep up with old Connie."

Slender Leader Tells Of Game.

And then the slender leader of the world's champions told what he thought of the second game of this world series, which is lacking in color and which may end ni four games.

"Earnshaw pitched a great ball game," declared Connie with a smile. "After Watkins hit his homer I was quite sure that from the way the big boy was bearing down that he would not allow another run.

"He was fast and his control is good. And when Earnshaw is in that mood, hes' just about unbeatable.

"He pitched many games like the one he turned in today against the Cardinals during the regular season. It was juts a ball game without the thrills of the opening game. hile we were lucky to score those two runs in the third after Frisch made his error, that break did not beat the Cardinals. hat beat the Cardinals was Earnshaw's pitching and some solid hitting in the first and fifth innings.

"Our best play was made by Jimmy Dykes, in the eighth inning, when he speared Frisch's grounder and doubled Adams off first. Jimmy is a great world series player and a dangerous hitter. You know what he did against the Cubs last fall? So, when he came up to the plate in the fourth all of the players expected him to come through with at least a single. Jimmy fooled us a bit by hitting a long double and scoring two runs.

That Blow Settled The Game.

"That blow settled the ball game. but don't overlook Cochrane's home run in the first, Foxx's double in the same inning, Simmons' double and Miller's single in the third. Frisch has been the Cardinals' outstanding player so far. He hit the ball hard every time he came to the plate against Earnshaw. Then, too, I want to say a word about that play Adams made on Dykes' grounder in the first inning. It was a gem."

While Connie was giving out his interview, the Athletics were celebrating their second victory in the clubhouse. It was not as wild or noisy as yesterday, for the Athletics now think it only a matter of how many games that they will win in. Some say five, but the majority of the Philadelphia players are looking for a clean sweep.

"They can't complain about the breaks beating the mtoday," said Dykes. "Good old-fashioned hitting and Earnshaw's great pitching tamed the Cardinals. Even Mr. Street will probably admit we outclassed the Cardinals this afternoon. I don't think the Cardinals would have scored another run off Earnshaw if the game had lasted 24 hours."

While the Athletics were shouting and yelp ". Earnshaw was sitting quietly on his stool in front of his locker. He developed a stone bruise on his heel about ten days ago and jarred it when he landed on first in taking Foxx's toss on Watkin's grounder in the sixth inning.

"The bruise pained me when I started pitching in the seventh and against Mancuso I lost control of my curve ball. But I soon found it again and I knew after the seventh inning

FIRST INNING.

CARDINALS—Douthit lifted a high fly to Dykes, who caught it near the pitcher's mound. Adams flied to Simmons, who ran a few feet to make the catch. Frisch hit over Simmons' head for two bases. It was Frisch's forty-third world series hit, a world record. Bottomley filed to Haas, who made a running catch in center.

ATHLETICS—Bishop lined to Douthit. Dykes rolled a fast one down to Adams who made a fine play and threw him out to Bottomley. Cochrane hit a home run over the right field wall, his second in two days and in two times at bat, as he hit for the circuit in his last time at bat yesterday. Simmons singled to center. Foxx hit into center field for two bases and Simmons scored. Miller dribbled the ball down the first base line and was out to Bottomley unassisted.

Two runs; three hits; no errors; one left.

SECOND INNING.

CARDINALS—Hafey lifted a fly to Bishop in short center. Watkins drove the ball over the right field wall for a home run, the first circuit smash for the National Leaguers. Mancuso beat out a hit to shortstop. Boley got the ball with one hand, but had no chance to get him. Gelbert singled to center, Mancuso taking third. The ball bounded over Bishop's head. Rhem struck out. Douthit popped to Bishop, hitting the ball on the handle of his bat

One run; three hits; no errors; two left.

ATHLETICS — Haas struck out. Mancuso dropped the third strike, but threw to Bottomley at first. Boley popped to Frisch. Earnshaw lifted a fly to Hafey in left center.

No runs, no hits, no errors; none left.

THIRD INNING.

CARDINALS—Adams lifted a fly to Miller in short right. Frisch hit a hard smash to Boley, who fumbled it, and was charged with the first error of the series. Bottomley hit a foul back of first. Bishop got under the ball, but dropped it. No error was charged. Bottomley struck out, swinging at a curve ball. Frisch stole second, and went on to third when Cochrane's throw bounded to center field. Cochrane was charged with an error. Hafey hit a foul near third, but Dykes fell down as he was about to get under it and couldn't get his hands on it. Hafey struck out on a called third strike, a curve ball splitting the plate.

No runs, no hits; two errors; one left.

ATHLETICS—Bishop rolled to Bottomley and was out unassisted. Dykes struck out on a third strike, a quick-breaking curve. Cochrane hit a bounder to Frisch, who fumbled it. Simmons' double against the right field wall, on which Watkins tried to make a shoestring catch. Foxx walked. Rhem tried to make him hit at a bad ball and then threw the fourth one wide. Simmons scored on Miller's single to left when the throw to the plate was cut off by Rhem, who fumbled the ball. Foxx went to third and Miller to second. The error was charged to Rhem. Haas lined to Douthit.

Two runs, two hits, two errors; two left.

FOURTH INNING.

CARDINALS—Watkins lifted a fly to Simmons in short left, who caught it, but almost lost it in the sun. Mancuso struck out, swinging at the third one. Gelbert was called out on strikes.

No runs, no hits, no errors; none left.

ATHLETICS—Boley bounded a fast one off Gelbert's glove for a single. Earnshaw struck out, swinging at the third one. Bishop walked. Fourth ball being wide. Boley and Bishop scored on Dykes hit to center field for two bases. This finished Rhem and he was taken from the box. Lindsey went in to pitch for St. Louis. Cochrane lined to Gelbert and Dykes was doubled at second unassisted.

Two runs; two hits; no errors; none left.

FIFTH INNING.

CARDINALS — Lindsey hit into right center for one base. Douthit lifted a fly to Cochrane between the plate and first base. Adams filed to Haas, who made a running catch close to the infield. Frisch popped to Dykes.

ATHLETICS—Simmons hit a high fly which Douthit caught in center field. Foxx rolled to Gelbert and was thrown out at first. Miller lined to Douthit, who fell after catching the ball, but held it.

No runs; no hits; no errors; none left.

SIXTH INNING.

CARDINALS—Bottomley lifted a fly to Bishop, back of second. Hafey bounded to Dykes and was out to

Watkins' Home Run Saves Cards From Shutout Defeat.

Lindsey and Johnson Stop A's Attack in Relief Roles.

By ALAN GOULD.
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Again giving a perfect demonstration of how to recognize Old Man Opportunity and accord him a handsome welcome, Connie Mack's Athletics subdued the St. Louis Cardinals today for the second straight time and continued to move rapidly toward another world's baseball championship.

Picking up where Bob Grove left off in the opening game, but adding considerably more fire-balling to the proceedings, big George Earnshaw shot the Red Birds down on the wing, while his long-range artillery support knocked Charles Flint Rhem out of the box and gave the Athletics a decisive triumph by the score of 6 to 1.

Before another capacity crowd of 32,295 roaring cash customers, who contributed to a "gate" of $152,735, exactly duplicating the figures for the first game, Earnshaw overpowered the Cardinals in decisive fashion, allowing six hits altogether, but only two in the last seven innings and bagging a total of eight strike-out victims with his rifle-shot speed and baffling curve.

Watkins Knocks Homer First Time Up.

The only Cardinal run was due to a homer over the right field wall in the second inning by young George Watkins, in his series debut at bat.

After that Earnshaw bore down and easily tamed the St. Louis flock despite a brand of support that fell far below the sparkling standard of the Mackmen yesterday.

Meanwhile the Athletics again cashed in on every opportunity to score. They collected only seven hits altogether but all of them were gathered off the delivery of Rhem in less than four innings and all of them figured in the run-making.

Again it was the heavy artillery that did the damage and struck another severe blow to the hopes of the Red Birds.

Cochrane Duplicates Watkins' Feat.

Mickey Cochrane, a home run hero of the first game, led the big barrage with his second successive circuit clout, in the first inning, after which Al Simmons, Jimmy Foxx, Jimmy Dykes, with the help of Bing Miller, fired the b that brought about the doom of the ill-fated Rhem.

The combination of these h Howitzers on attack, with Earnsha sharpshooting on the defense, simply too much for the Cardina in a game that packed little of the drama or excitement of the opening day.

The outcome, however, sent the rampant A's Westward tonight, with no commanding a lead that they were prohibitive favorites to win their second straight world's championship and their fifth of all time under the leadership of Connie Mack.

Resumption of Series In St. Louis.

The battle will be resumed Saturday in Sportsmans Park, St. Louis, in the third game, with the A's needing only two more victories to clinch the defense of the championship and complete a rout of National League forces that has now reached the staggering proportions of fourteen defeats in the last fifteen series contests.

Only one other team in major league history, the Yankees of 1921, ever lost a world series after winning the first two games. The victory of the Giants was made possible that year by reason of the limit of nine games, whereas the present regulations restrict the battle to seven games, barring ties.

Today it was "just a ball game," in the words of Connie Mack, after all the hullabaloo of the opening and the enthusiasm inspired yesterday by

THE HEATHEN, UNDER HARD RIDE, WINS AT GRAW

Pierce Racer Extended in Feature

Syriac Runs Gamely to Beat Betty Beau in Yarrow Brae.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.
Special to The Washington Post.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Oct. 2.—A crowd of 12,000 saw Frankie Coltiletti give C. H. Pierce's The Heathen a powerful ride to have him home first in the Eclipse Handicap, today's 6-furlong feature. Coltiletti was alert at the gate and had the 6-year-old son of Donnaconna—Buda on top as the field of six left the stall gates.

It was nip and tuck the first quarter, with Coltiletti keeping The Heathen in front of the Middleburg Stable's First Lady and W. R. Coe's Maya. The Heathen, although tiring badly as he turned for home, managed to hang on under Coltiletti's vigorous ride to outlast First Lady and Maya for the purse.

Secondary Feature Won By Syriac.

The time, 1:12 2-5, was excellent, considering that The Heathen is not at his best form at present and that he was carrying 121 pounds.

Mayor Frank Hayes of Waterbury, Conn., accounted for the Yarrow Brae, a mile and 70 yards affair, when his Syriac led home T. J. Beauchamp's Betty Beau and Mrs. James Arthur's Beroer in the order named.

Syriac had to possess plenty of heart to win, as he was a trailer in the early stages and had to take the overland route to be in third position turning for home.

Once straightened out in the stretch, the 3-year-old brown gelded son of Flying Ebony—Lexicon closed with a great burst of speed to win going away. It was his second score of the meeting.

H. Knack's Dunlin's Elk, 3-year-old chestnut gelded son of Dunlin—Exalted Ruler, raced a mile and 70 yards in the day's opener in 1:45 1-5 to lead home Brown Maid, the favorite, and Star Run. There might have been a different story to tell had not Play Tap, a last-minute paddock tip, run into no end of bad luck. However, the colt was in so much trouble that he could do no better than finish fourth. Dunlin's Elk followed Joe Teddy's pace for a half, where he went to the top to stand off stretch challenges of Brown Maid and Star Run.

Avalon Prolongs Trueman's Win Streak.

Elmer Trueman, of Washington, who seems to be in a winning streak, saddled the winner of the Holly Beach, a 6-furlong sprint, when he sent Howard Bruce's Avalon postward.

Karl Hovarth broke the 2-year-old light chestnut son of Dunlin—Effort on top and led all the rest of the way home. Trailing the winner to the wire came Sedgie, a long shot, with Baboo third. Avalon's score was the second straight for the sire Dunlin, who is also the daddy of Dunlin's Elk, winner of the day's opener.

A powerful ride by Sonny Workman, his sixth winning one of the meeting, enabled Harry Whitney's Pennate, 2-year-old bay, son of Pennant—Pegnane, to acount for the Belvedere, a six-furlong sprint. Pennate was away slowly, but Workman allowed him to settle into his stride before asking him for his best. In the meantime, Walter J. Salmon's Ladder and E. R. Bradley's Black Tyrone had taken comand and appeared to have the race sewed up.

However, Workman was pushing and driving Pennate to the limit and the colt, closing gamely, once straightened out in the home stretch, drew up to the leaders at the sixteenth pole to win going away in the excellent time of 1-12 3-5.

Ladder easily saved the place from the fast tiring Black Tyrone, with W. R Coe's Ra Horas fourth.

Royal Charge Going Away at End of Sixth.

Mrs. R. Jackson's Royal Charge ran a mile and one-sixteenth in 1:49 1-5, to win the sixth. T. J. O'Eara, jr's, Cyrano saved the place from J. Hoskins' Thistle Coot.

Harbarton rushed off into the lead, but soon gave way to Cyrano. Halfway through the stretch, Quackenbush, who had previously ridden two winners, came along with Royal Charge to win going away.

Closing with a rush under the urging of Jockey Leishman, J. P. McGovern's Ruby Keller proved an easy winner of the seventh race of 1 1/16 miles for 3-year-olds and upward. Heavily backed, the winner paid $4.20 for each $2 mutuel ticket bought on his chances. Druggist, three lengths back, was second and Vimont took third place away from Fair Albert.

Ruby Keller was far back going to the first turn, but when taken to the outside gradually improved her position. She made a wide turn into the home stretch and then uncorked a burst of speed in the final furlong that was much to fast for Druggist and Vimon.

Druggist was taken along at a merry clip throughout and had nothing left to challenge the winner's heart-breaking pace in the stretch drive.

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office.)
—Havre de Grace Selections—
By J. B. SNODGRASS.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Oct. 2.—The Harford Agricultural & Breeders Association offers the poorest card of its current meeting here tomorrow. Large fields of cheap platers will meet in the majority of events. The Melody purse for fillies and mares at 1 mile and 70 yards to be run as the fourth race will be the feature number. Only five has been named to start and it really looks like a gift for Ral Parr, who will be represented by HER GRACE. This daughter of Bright Knight has rounded to her best form after resting through the summer. She performs very consistently when she's fit and just now she is capable of beating better horses than she will meet in the Melody.

Harry Payne Whitney's DUSTEMALL has had three chances since the meeting opened and has yet to enter the winner's circle. She was very good through the summer, but it now appears she has staled a bit. She doesn't have to be at her best, however, to be second in the day's feature. Trainer G. Manger has named FIVE OAKS for the Melody. This miss has won two straight over the mile tracks and several over the half-mile ovals during the past month, but she has been beating only platers. She'll have only ELIZABETH BOLLA and AZIZ to beat for the small award in the feature number.

FIRST RACE—DARK HERO is said to be not only the fastest youngster in the H. Teller Archibald Stable, but the swiftest maiden at this track. We will see just how good he is. He hasn't much to beat in the day's opener. BACK GAMMON has given fair promise in several races. MOUTH PIECE was close up with good juvenile platers his last start.

SECOND RACE—ST. AGNES won with much to spare last Friday over the same class of 2-year-old platers she meets in the second. She can hardly miss if she repeats that effort. FERVID should be close up. The latter has been third in her two starts since the meeting opened. Good platers beat her on both occasions. BONNIE BARD was second to Tommy Boy, a rather promising youngster, last Monday. She licked Fly Guy, a handy winner here Wednesday, in the same race. Fly Guy ran a clever race Wednesday. He won with much to spare, but he didn't beat much.

THIRD RACE—We're going to give AL GREEN one more chance because he's dropping weight. The Sagamore Stable runner is possessed of good early speed and he's going to forget to stop one of these days. TOKI was far back her first out of the meeting. She needed that one. It was her first start in a long time. She's very fast when she's right. LINE RIDER ran a good race the second day of the meeting. He just missed catching AL GREEN. Of course CHIANTI will be hard to beat if he runs back to his winning effort. He beat AL GREEN.

FIFTH RACE—YOSAN went in good form back of Wayfarer Wednesday a week ago. The latter came back after that race and whipped Frances Cooper. VOWED VENGEANCE and six others. Wayfarer only beat YOSAN a half length. VOWED VENGEANCE is always close up, but it seems he can't enter the winners' circle. He figures second best among these cheap ones. CUTSTEEL will be hard to keep out of the picture if he repeats the race he ran back of Mary McNeil.

SIXTH—Another cheap bunch of platers will go to the post in the sixth. PARTNERSHIP, an exceptionally good looking mare and very consistent around Maryland half-mile tracks, may be the winner. PARTNERSHIP must have had bad luck her first start here opening day. She came back a few days later and ran a good race back of Fairman and Baritone. She beat Tall Grass, Fair Albert and Overlook. GUARANY also performed well over the small tracks last month. Running one of his good races he should be up in time to whip the faint-hearted HARVARD. OLD KID has a chance, but he begins very slowly.

SEVENTH RACE—ORMONBIRD failed to run his race last Tuesday. He never was consistent, but he gets down in front of fair platers now and then. He has only to repeat the race he ran back of Storm the first day of the meeting to win the nightcap. COIN COLLECTOR figures next best. BOUNDING DEEP is likely to show improvement over his last race. He had speed that day but stopped near the end as though a trifle short.

Tonto Rock Is Winner Of Hawthorne Feature

Chicago, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Tonto Rock carried the colors of F. Almy to victory in the Ridgeland Purse, the featured number on today's card at Hawthorne Park. H. Wolf's Fleche D'Argent was second and J. A. Parson's Lady Seth was third.

The Rideland Purse, an allowance affair for 3-year-olds, was run over the mile and 70 yards journey and was worth $1,100 to the Almy Stable. The time was 1:43 2-5. Tonto Rock paid his admirers $8.60 to $2 in the mutuels.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—DUNLIN'S ELK, $16.50, $4.60, $4.00; BROWN MAID, $2.90, $2.50; STAR RUN, $7.90.

DUNLIN'S ELK outran his field to the first turn, was rated in front while saving ground, responded cheerfully to urging in the final drive and withstood BROWN MAID. Latter moved up stoutly approaching the turn, but was unable to overtake the winner in the final issue. STAR RUN went forwardly placed throughout and held on gamely for the closing test. PLAY TAP was gaining slowly at the finish. JOE TEDDY could not stay when put to a drive.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500; allowances. For 2-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:50. Off at 2:35½. Winner, Howard Bruce's lt. ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—AVALON, $3.80, $2.60, $2.20; SEDGIE, $12.30, $5.90; BABOO, $2.90.

AVALON assumed command shortly after the break, raced in hand until straightened into the home stretch and came away without any trouble in the last furlong. SEDGIE closed with good courage when placed to punishment. BABOO, hard hustled all the way, weakened after a stout effort at the far turn. WALTER K. faltered the last three furlongs. ROYAL MYSTERY was sent along evenly. The others had no excuses.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; allowances. For 2-year-olds, colts and geldings. Start good from stalls for all but Follow On. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 3:25. Off at 3:39. Winner, H. P. Whitney's b. c. (2), by Pennant—Pageant. Trained by T. J. Healey. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:22 4-5, 0:47, 1:12 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PENNATE, $4.30, $3.10, $2.30; LADDER, $6.30, $4.00; BLACK TYRONE, $2.90.

PENNATE, favored by the fast early pace, reached contention swiftly when entering into the home stretch, came determinedly and wore LADDER down in the last sixteenth. Latter displayed high early speed, disposed of BLACK TYRONE and fought it out stubbornly. BLACK TYRONE forced a fast pace for five furlongs and tired thereafter. RA HORUS weakened when the real test came. SEA FOX had no excuses. FOLLOW ON broke poorly and would not extend himself.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500. Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:56. Off at 3:57. Winner, C. H. Pierce's b. h. (6), by Donnacona—Buda. Trained by J. H. Stotler. Value to winner, $1,075; second, $250; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23, 0:46 4-5, 1:12 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—THE HEATHEN, $3.20, $3.00, $2.40; FIRST LADY, $17.20, $7.70; MAYA, $3.10.

THE HEATHEN outran his field from the start and always held command of the situation. FIRST LADY was tiring last furlong. MAYA appeared to sulk. He finished with his ears pinned back. LOST AGNES closed in resolute fashion on the outside. ST. PRISCA appeared to be only galloping all the way.

FIFTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,400; allowances. For 3-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:25. Off at 4:26. Winner, F. Hayes' br. g. (3), by Flying Ebony—Lexicon. Trained by P. E. Fitzgerald. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24, 0:48 3-5, 1:14, 1:40 2-5, 1:44 4-5

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SYRIAC, $10.30, $4.60, $3.90; BETTY BEAU, $4.00, $3.00; BERBER, $5.00

SYRIAC, sluggish in the run to the first turn, moved up on the outside when rounding the far turn to enter contention, finished with splendid courage in the final stages and was up in the last twenty yards. BETTY BEAU followed in close pursuit of MABELLE, shook the latter off when ready, but could not withstand the winner's rush. BERBER, going in his best form, closed willingly through the final stages. MABELLE raced well. OUTPOST hung after making his effort.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:55. Off at 4:58½. Winner, Mrs. E. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ROYAL CHARGE, $11.90, $5.80, $3.90; CYRANO, $6.90, $4.50; THISTLE COOT, $3.80.

ROYAL CHARGE, placed forwardly in the early running, responded quickly when called on, wore HARBORTON down and came away into an easy lead nearing the finish. CYRANO, prominent throughout, finished gamely. THISTLE COOT dropped out of early contention to close a big gap in the final stages. ROCKNEY was going well nearing the finish. SATISFY closed stoutly. HARBORTON stopped. FLYING FANTOM had early speed.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:30. Off at 5:34½. Winner, J. F. Two-dollar mutuels paid—RUBY KELLER, $4.20, $3.00, $2.70; DRUGGIST, $7.00, $5.80; VIMONT, $7.50.

RUBY KELLER, shuffled back going to first turn, was taken to the outside and gradually improved her position rounding the far turn. She made a wide turn into the home stretch and closed with a rush last furlong. DRUGGIST, hustled along entire trip and was never given a breathing spell. He outlasted the tiring VIMONT in final drive. VIMONT faltered after moving into the lead. FAIR ALBERT weakened after racing forwardly. MAXIVA had no excuses. SPEEDY PRINCE and HIGH DELL quit.

Smear Wins by Nose In Oakdale Handicap

Aqueduct Race Track, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Smear, racing in the silks of Harry Payne Whitney, scored a nose victory in the Oakdale Claiming Handicap, which featured the card here today. Smear was coupled with Totem as the Whitney entry and the stable declared to win with Smear, but the backers of the entry had heart trouble when Smear and Uncle Sam crossed the line. Uncle Sam was second, beaten by a nose, and Concord third.

In the final furlong Smear tired and Uncle Sam came with a powerful rush, just failing to get up. Smear winning by the smallest of margins. Uncle Sam beat Concord five lengths for the place.

EAGLES TO PLAY PITTSBURGH CHAMPIONS SUNDAY

Game Booked At Congress Heights

District Section Title-Winners in Inter-city Battle.

Invaders Survivors of 50 Team Play-Off in Pa.

An appetising baseball dish with a distinct intercity flavor will be served to District sandlot fans next Sunday afternoon when the Englewood Club, Pittsburg champs, will hook up with the Anacostia Eagles, District section winners in The Post's 1930 Capital City League. Hostilities will be staged on the Congress Heights diamond and are scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock.

Undisputed sandlot kings of the Smokey City, the impending visitors, have copped about every unlimited class baseball championship the home town had to offer. They would have preferred to meet the title winners of the entire Capital City loop. This is impossible, however, as the Takoma Tigers, Montgomery County finalists, are battling the Dixie Pigs, Prince Georges County title holders, for the league championship this Sunday. Inasmuch as the Eagles copped the pennant in the District part of the league, and in addition boast one of the strongest unlimited nines in the South Atlantic section, they were given the honor of meeting the Edgewoods.

Edgewood Earns Trip.

The expenses of the visiting club will be defrayed by the Pittsburgh Press, sponsor of organized sandlot baseball competition in the Smoky City. The trip is to reward the Edgewoods for winning the Greater Pittsburgh League title, the Press' invitational series crown, and finally the all-season championship. Edgewood captured the latter honor by decisively defeating the Immaculate Heart Club, victors in the other important Pittsburgh sandlot loop, the North Side Twilight League.

An idea of the caliber of baseball played by the Pittsburgh pennant winners is gained from the fact that Edgewood is the sole survivor of more than 50 sandlot nines which battled for the Smoky City title.

While in Washington the Edgewood players will make their headquarters at the Harrington Hotel. Before and after the game they will be taken on sight-seeing tours to all parts of the city.

Tigers and Dixie Pigs Await Titular Battle

A mound duel is looked for next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the Mount Rainier diamond, when the Takoma Tigers, champions of the Montgomery County section of the Capital City League, attempt to subjugate the Dixie Pigs, Princes Georges County title-holders, for the second time and thereby gain undisputed possession of the league crown.

Both of the rival managers have a pair of mound stars to shoot at each other. Manager Paul James, of the Tigers, has Ray Davidson and Dick Hughes, and Manager Hugh Waldrop, of the Pigs, is ready to send Babe Clapper or Blackie Adair to the mound. When "right," either one of these hurlers is practically unbeatable.

It is expected that Hughes will get the call for the Tigers by virtue of his brilliant 7-to-3 victory he turned in several weeks ago over the Pigs, when he let them down with five scattered hits. Manager Waldrup may decide to start Clapper because of his recent four-hit 5-to-1 defeat of the Anacostia Eagles.

Twin Brothers Join Penn State Grid Squad

State College, Pa., Oct. 2.—Twin brothers have reported to Coach Bob Higgins, of Penn State College, as candidates for the football squad. The newcomers, who turned out in uniforms this week, are Howard J. and Leonard I. Schneyer, of Philadelphia.

Although they are practicing with the varsity daily, they will not be eligible for another year, since they entered Penn State this fall. Both attended the University of Pennsylvania for one year. Previously they were enrolled in Overbrook High School and Philadelphia Central High School.

CAPITAL CITY UNLIMITEDS ORGANIZE

Seven Teams Entered With Season Opening Oct. 12.

According to a schedule drawn up at a meeting last night in French's Sport Store by representatives of the elevens who will participate this year in the unlimited section of the Capital City Football League, sponsored by The Washington Post, the opening game of the league on Sunday, October 12, will find St. Stephens opposing the Marions, the Quentins stacking up against the Brooklands, and the Alpha Delta Omega Fraternity, of Alexandria, playing the Mercuries.

The league's other entrant, the Seat Pleasants, drew a bye, and will open their season the following Sunday against the A. D. O.'s.

Eligibility lists must be submitted to William Fiester at French's, or to The Washington Post, by Saturday, October 11. After October 18, no more additions or corrections to the list can be made. As in the 150-pound section of the league, each club is limited to 25 players.

Another meeting will be held Wednesday, October 8, at French's to assign officials and determine playing fields.

The clubs in the unlimited section of the league this year will be piloted by the following managers: St. Stephen's, James Malarkey, 2914 Olive avenue northwest; Marions, Aubrey Southworth, 312 Ninth street northeast; Mercuries, Buck Kilroy, 5320 Eighth street northeast; Quentins, H. W. Padgett, 812 L street southeast; Alpha Delta Omegas, Leslie Deavers, Alexandria, Va.; Seat Pleasants, George H. Bakersmith, 332 Bryant street northeast, and Brooklands, John B. Holden, 1247 Girard street northeast.

U. OF V. TEAM IS POINTING FOR DUKE

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Oct. 2.—Twenty-five members of Virginia's football squad will leave here at noon tomorrow for Durham, N. C., where the game with the Duke Blue Devils will be played Saturday afternoon. The whole squad is in excellent physical condition, according to Archie Hahn, trainer. Outside of a few bruises and scratches, there have been no injuries reported.

For four days this week Head Coach Abel has been pointing the Cavalier squad at top speed in preparation for a hard game with the Blue Devils. A long scrimmage was held Wednesday afternoon, in which the scrub team ran off the Methodists' plays, while varsity attempted to stop the runs and passes. A lengthy drill was held this afternoon, following a long blackboard talk.

Veterans on the Virginia Team are having a difficult time retaining their places on the first team against competition of new men on the squad. In the opening two games almost the entire varsity squad saw service. Against Roanoke College 33 men played, and 33 were used against Randolph-Macon. But from now on fewer men will be used each Saturday.

Virginia's October games, Duke this week, Pennsylvania next, and Virginia Military and Kentucky still to come, will narrow down the list of men regarded as eligible for varsity places.

Big Buck Foss, Charlottesville boy, who did his prep school playing at Fishburne Military School, Waynesboro, Va., has already made it plain that he intends to be in the starting line-up each Saturday at one of the tackles, despite the fact that two veterans, Capt. Hunter Motley and Bob Kimball, are competing against him.

Bill DeButts and George Cameron, both letter men, have been started in the guard positions in both games. But Tom Eckard, Kenneth Robinson and some of the others are pressing them.

Two back field "V" men, Bill Thomas and Herbert Bryant, seem fairly certain of holding their positions. And Frank Sippley, understudy quarter back to Johnny Sloan last fall, has the best chance to call signals. But if they don't watch out they may be on the bench.

Beury, Gravatt, Pinder, Sackett, Myers, Davis, Edgar and Edmondson are all in the fight for back field places, and this double quartet will soon be joined by Stevens and Brewer, who are temporarily on the crippled list.

Alexandria Grid Game Scheduled for Apaches

The Apache A. C., District gridiron champions, will commence their march toward another championship Sunday, when the Virginia Athletic Club gridmen will be met on Shipyard Field, Alexandria.

The Indians, guided by Coach Jerry Carroll, former Hilltopper, rule as pregame favorites over the Virginians.

This is the first time the Apaches have performed in Alexandria, and the Virginians intend to give them a warm welcoming. Coach Buck Beach will drill his men tonight at the scene of Sunday's tussle.

Bobcats Leave to Face N. Y. U. Eleven Saturday

Special to The Washington Post.

Buckhannon, W. Va., Oct. 2.—West Virginia Wesleyan football squad left here this evening for New York City, where Saturday New York University will be encountered at the Yankee Stadium.

The Bobcats, carrying the strongest squad of football players Coach Cebe Ross has been able to present to grid fans this season, will arrive in New York Friday noon and will establish headquarters at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

V. P. I. ELEVEN READY FOR TARHEELS

Polys in Strenuous Drills for Saturday's Game.

Special to The Washington Post.

BLACKSBURG, VA., Oct. 2.—"Beat Carolina!" is the one cry heard this week from end of the campus at Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Faced with strongest foe ever to invade the precincts of Miles Stadium, home of Tech teams, the Gobbler eleven and the cadet corps are tuning up for a desperate effort to keep inviolate the untarnished record of victories on the 4-year-old battleground.

Two vicious scrimmages opened the drive Monday and Tuesday. A shorter one marked the halfway point in preparations, while signal drills and defense tactics made up today's drill and schedule for tomorrow. While Tech has no idea of playing a defensive battle against the Tar Heel scoring aces, the problem of how to curb the antics of Johnny Branch and his buddies is getting lots of attention.

Cadet Corps Planning Big Rally.

While the gridmen are getting ready for the fray, the corps of cadets is just as busy. The drive started with a meeting of the corps, presided over by Captain Bird Hooper, who also is corps president. The cadets will climax their preparations with a parade and rally Friday night.

Meanwhile, the Tech Team is running the new plays with drive to spare this week. The Gobblers pelted plenty of yardage in midfield against Roanoke in the opener, but they are not stopping short of the last white line in preparing for Carolina. Capt. Hooper, quarter back; Bunt Ottley and Phil Spear, half backs, and Mitt Owens, full back, tore through a heavy sophomore line for heavy gains in all three scrimmages.

When this combination sagged after 45 minutes of continuous battling, a new back field composed of Neal's "4 H's"—Hall, Hagerty, Hardwick and Howard—jumped into the traces and plugged away until dusk settled over the field. Sam Hardwick burned the turf around the Maroon flanks last week and is sure of a big part in the coming tussle.

Two Backfield Quartets Show Power.

The two back-field combinations raced back of a varsity line which struck with new power. The Gobbler forwards promised speed and drive, for Johnny McIntyre, at right end, is the only forward weighing less than 180 pounds, and not one carries excess weight. If these boys are at their best, no odds will rest with Carolina's shock troops.

Melrose Legionnaires Lose Marathoner

Keene, N. H., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Clarence H. Demar, noted Marathon runner, announced today he would no longer run under the colors of the Melrose (Mass.) American Legion Post.

Henceforth, Demar said, he will run unattached. He pointed out that he has not resided in Melrose for more than a year. He is an instructor of printing at the Keene Normal School.

American U. Winds Up Practice for Shepherd

A short but strenuous scrimmage among the American University gridmen yesterday developed a number of minor injuries that may hamper the Eagles when they clash tomorrow with Shepherd College in Central Stadium, starting at 2:30 p. m.

Borsari and Diehl, backs, and Levin, Denit and Lambert, linemen, all suffered sprains or bruises, which, while not serious enough to keep them on the bench, will in all probability slow them up during the contest.

V. M. I. TAPERS OFF FOR ST. JOHN'S

Hard Drills Over in Preparation for Tomorrow's Game.

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 2.—Speed kings who star in other sports as well as in football will appear on Alumni Field Saturday, when the V. M. I. Cadets entertain the St. John's team, of Annapolis, in the second game of the season for both clubs.

The Cadets will present Gilly Laughran, quarter back and captain-elect of baseball; Lefty Williams, half back, and southpaw pitching ace, and Capt. Roy Dunn, full back, who competed last spring as a broad jumper in track.

Johnnies Boast Flashy Back Field.

The Johnnies have a flashy back field, with aces in Capt. Armacost, Bob MacCartee and Bill Lynch, all of whom double in other sports. MacCartee is noted especially for his high scoring in basket ball, where his dazzling speed makes up for the fact that he weighs but 145 pounds. Ed Lotz and Joh, St. John's tackles, are the powers in the forward wall of the team that will face V. M. I. Saturday.

A stiff scrimmage Wednesday, with the Freshman team furnishing the opposition, was the last hard workout for the Flying Squadron this week, though a long defensive dummy scrimmage was held today. The fine playing of Left and John Gill during the week impressed the coaches, who were pleased with the way this light heavyweight boxer continued to show that he can be counted on as one of the leading V. M. I. wingmen. He is showing the same aggressiveness and fighting spirit on the gridiron that won a varsity letter for him in the ring last year.

Coaches Bill Raftery and Ed Hess have not definitely decided on their line-up for Saturday.

G. U. GRIDMEN FACE TEST TONIGHT

Play Veteran Loyola Team; 12,000 to See Clash.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Competing with the talkies and the miniature golf courses for the patronage of the night customers, Georgetown and Loyola University of Chicago, meet under the flood-lights of the Loyola Stadium tomorrow evening in the first of the season's intersectional football contests.

The stadium, with a capacity of 12,000, has been sold out.

The Georgetown squad, escorted by the veteran Coach Tommy Mills, arrived in Chicago early today, and took a light workout this afternoon on the gridiron at Northwestern University. In the evening the Washingtonians met the conditions imposed upon them by modern football by taking another brisk workout and signal drill under the blazing lights which will furnish the illumination for tomorrow's contest.

Loyola has been working under the lights all week, and the team confined itself to a short afternoon practice session today.

Muddy Field Likely In View of Rain.

Prospects were that the field would be muddy for the game, a drizzle having persisted today and being promised for tomorrow, and Loyola is counting upon this to be a factor in its favor.

The Chicago eleven is considered perhaps the best that has ever represented Loyola. Of the eleven starters, nine were regulars or near regulars last season, the only new men being Clancy at right tackle and Bleyhart at right half back. The team will outweigh Georgetown about ten pounds to the man, and expect this to work to their advantage if the going is muddy.

The Loyola attack is built around Les Molly, the triple threat half back who was the team's important offensive weapon last season. Molloy, who is both a plunger and an open field runner, was responsible in large measure for the 43 to 12 victory over Carroll College with which Loyola opened the season last week. He made four touchdowns.

Georgetown.	Position.	Loyola.
Brennan	L. E.	McNeil
Anderson	L. T.	Clancy
Brickman	L. G.	Nolan
Morris	Center	Wasco
Dobolski	R. G.	Kopsalteer
Leavey	R. T.	Lukenbrecken
Scalzi	R. E.	Weimer
T. Mooney	Q. B.	T. Connelly
Bench	L. H.	Pfeiffer
Bench	R. H.	Molloy
Bordeau	F. B.	Smith

Referee—Kerr (Chicago). Umpire—Schommer (Chicago). Head linesman—Kearns (Dessauw). Field judge—Blake (Columbia).

Stronger Tarheel Line Is Ready for V.P.I. Tilt

Special to The Washington Post.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 2.—With the loss of Blackwood by injuries in the Wake Forest game compensated by the return to shape of Fysal and Nelson, North Carolina has chances of presenting a slightly stronger line against V. P. I. on Homecoming Day at Blacksburg, Saturday.

That the Tarheels will need a stronger line is undisputed. Carolina's rookie line gave its star backs ragged support against Wake Forest last week, while the 184-pound V. P. I. forward wall was clicking perfectly and holding the enemy without a first down.

Fysal is a right guard, Blackwood a left guard. Both are lettermen of equal ability, but Fysal is more valuable, since he is the only letter right guard, while there are two letter left guards behind Blackwood.

Nelson is Carolina's best monogram left end and can be counted on to play dependable defensive ball against the wily V. P. I. team whether he shines on offense or not. Larry Johnson, a junior, and Archie Davis, a sophomore, have been looking up in practice this week, and may lend reserve strength.

Weakened Catholic Team Faces Franklin-Marshall

Cards Handicapped by Squad Still Bruised From Boston College Game and With Capt. Menke, Flynn, Star Linemen, Missing.

CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY'S eleven, while not having anything nearly so difficult as its game with Boston College last Saturday, enjoys less than an even chance of defeating Franklin and Marshall in the opening game of the Cardinals' home campaign tomorrow in Brookland Stadium.

Coach "Dutch" Bergman's squad will take the field considerably weakened by the loss of its two best linemen—Capt. George Menke, guard, and Hugh Flynn, tackle, and, moreover, will still show some of the effects of the Boston beating in the condition of the other regulars who will resume play.

Most of Cards Battered And Bruised.

Most of the Cardinals have not as yet recovered from bruises and sprains incurred by battling against a continual flow of fresh reserves which Boston College used.

Franklin and Marshall would hold no advantage over Catholic U. if all conditions were equal, but its almost perfect physical condition is bound to be a factor in the result. It, therefore, seems certain that if the home team wins, it will be due chiefly to superior fighting spirit and a marvelous exhibition of courage.

In numbers, the Lancaster squad also holds an advantage. Thirty-eight players will be brought here by Coach "Poss" Miller to compete against less than 20 in the local squad.

On top of all this, Catholic will not have quite the experience boasted by the invading team. F. and M., though made up mostly of juniors, is a comparatively veteran machine. These juniors played together last year as the F. and M. first team.

Only Three 1929 Regulars In Line-Up.

Seven of the 1929 Catholic U. regulars have graduated, and with Menke out the Cardinal eleven tomorrow will present only three regulars of last season. They are Johnny Oliver, quarter back; Johnny Ambrose, center, and Nick Monaco, one of the 1929 guards, who has been shifted to tackle this season.

Menke is suffering a sprained leg, and Flynn, who gave promise in the training period of developing into a star of exceeding brilliance, is hobbling about with an injured ankle.

Alexandria High Eleven Will Open Season Today

Meets National Training School Eleven Today; Del Ray and Fire Elevens Meet Sunday; Dreifus Heads Officials' Body.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Oct. 2.—The Alexandria High School Football Team will open its campaign here Friday afternoon, engaging the National Training School eleven from Washington. This contest will be played in Baggett's Stadium and begins at 3:15 p. m.

Athletic Director Maurice Given stated today he has filled the one open date, October 24, with the Warrenton High School Team. The encounter will be played in Alexandria.

Del Ray, Fire Elevens Meet Sunday.

On Sunday, the first strictly local football encounter will be dished out when the Del Ray Athletic Club gridders meet the Engine Co. No. 8 Team on Edward Duncan Field. A special meeting of the Del Ray Club will be held Friday evening at 8 o'clock at 1015 West Clyde avenue. President Clark requests all members to be present.

The Alpha Delta Omega Elevan is dickering for a game Sunday with the Washington Barracks Eleven. Manager Deavers states if he does not make arrangements for this tussle his team will probably play in Richmond, Va.

Dr. Carl Dreifus was elected president of the Northern Virginia Athletic Officials Association at a special meeting last night. Other officers chosen were W. H. Wood, jr., vice president; R. M. McDonald, treasurer, and Jack Tulloch, secretary.

Celtics Practice for Northerns.

The St. Mary's Celtics Baseball Team will hold an important baseball practice Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in Baggett's Stadium. On Sunday the Celtics meet the Northerns, in the third and decisive game for the independent baseball title in this sector. "Lefty" McIntire will hurl for the locals.

Marines Shift Game From Here to Philly

The Marine-Washington College football game originally scheduled to be played tomorrow in Griffith Stadium, has been shifted to Philadelphia. The Marines, after engaging the Eastern Shore Team in the Quaker City tomorrow, will move on Boston, where they will oppose Boston College on Monday.

Two local appearances, however, are still on the Marines' schedule. On the night of November 1 they will tackle Western Maryland in Griffith Stadium, and on the afternoon of December 6, at the same place, they will meet the Coast Guards in the annual President's Cup game.

GRASSCOURTLESS CITY.

Washington is one of the few big tennis centers which can not boast of a single grass court.

G. U.-Loyola Battle Described at Hilltop

The Georgetown-Loyola football game in Chicago tonight will be reproduced, play by play, on the gridgraph in Ryan Gymnasium at Georgetown University. A direct wire from the Loyola Stadium will bring the description of each play. A fee of 25 cents will be charged for admission. The game will start at 9 p. m. Eastern standard time, and the doors to the Ryan Gymnasium will open one-half hour earlier.

G. P. O.-FEDS HOLD DRILL.

In preparation for their game Sunday against the Alexandria Iroquois on a yet-to-be-named field the G. P. O.-Federals will practice tonight at 7:30 on the gridiron at Seventeenth and B streets northwest.

Coach Henry Smith anpounces that Sunday's game will be canceled if all players do not report to him tonight.

MARYLAND U. TAPER OFF FOR YALE

Old Liners' Practice Is Pleasing to Curley Byrd.

MARYLAND'S football players put a lot of polishing up yesterday at College Park for the tussle with Yale at New Haven tomorrow which will decide, according to Coach Curley Byrd, whether "we really have a team."

The session yesterday was lengthy, though not so arduous, consisting mainly of running through the assortment of plays until each one appeared to become mechanical. As the assortment is varied, it took considerable time for the drill.

Old Liners Are Fresh After Practice.

Pease, Fisher, Krajcovic and Chalmers started against Yale last November; Berger got into the tilt early in the second half, but none of the others faced the Elis. All of them, though, were on the varsity squad last year except Woods and Poppelman, who came up from the 1929 freshman eleven.

Evans, Miller to Play Against Yale.

Two others who started against Yale last season will be in the squad in the persons of Bill Evans and Buck Miller, back field men. Both doubtless will see action again tomorrow.

In all, Byrd will take about 30 players with him to New Haven, the array including all his fourteen ball carriers.

The Old Liners will go on the field for a short time today but it will be merely to take a warming-up and to get their final pregame instructions.

Following is a list of the players to make the New Haven journey:

Ends, Pease, Norris, Wood, Rooney and Cole; tackles, Fisher, Carlis, Keenan and Sanford; guards, Hayden, Krajcovic, Wilson, Feldman and Koelle; centers, Faber, Scott and Norwood; backs, Woods, Chalmers, Berger, Poppelman, Evans, Miller, Kiernan, May, Mitchell, Pitzer, Cronin, Heckensmith and Stieber.

Athletes Named Class Officers by Middies

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 2.—Football players dominate the list of class officers of the senior class at the Naval Academy, it was revealed today when the announcement of the election which took place last night was made. John W. Gannon, one of the main springs of the back field, was honored by his comrades for the presidency. He is from Lodi, Calif. Charles P. Braught, of Lancaster, Pa., was elected vice president, and Oscar E. Hagsberg, of Follansbee, W. Va., was chosen secretary. Hagsberg plays full back on the varsity team. Braught also is an athlete.

Denny Starts for Navy Against William-Mary

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Denny, a youngster who came up from the 1929 plebe team, is one of Bill Ingram's chief hopes for the Navy's opening game Saturday against William and Mary. Denny was thrown into the quarter-back post when an injury incapacitated Hatter. The Middies put through a light signal drill today and are finely drawn. Tashiro and Kirn at the half-back posts and Hagberg at full back, all veterans, complete the back field Ingram will start.

CUBS BEAT CHISOX TO TIE FOR LEAD IN CITY SERIES

Blake Holds Bushmen to Five Hits

25,000 Crowd Sees National Leaguers Score, 4 to 2.

Carroway Puzzle Until 8th; Cuyler's Hit Is Decisive.

COMISKEY PARK, Chicago, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Effective pitching by Fred Blake and a batting punch in the eighth inning today gave the Cubs a 4-to-2 victory over the American League White Sox to square up their city championship series.

The Sox got a man as far as third in the seventh with the aid of their third hit, produced by Cissell, a sacrifice and a walk, but could not score.

The National League entrant went to work on Caraway in the eighth. Blair and English singled after Blake had flied out, and Kiki Cuyler drove a booming homer into the left-field stands for three Cub runs. Stephenson lined a single off Cissell's glove and Caraway was removed. Jim Moore went in for the Sox and Hartnett grounded to Kerr for the third out.

The White Sox had a final kick left in them and used it in the ninth. Cissell fouled out to Hartnett, but Clancy singled and rode home on Tate's double to left. Bob Fothergill batted for Kamm and grounded out to English, Tate going to third. Barnes batted for Moore and waited Blake out for a walk. Campbell went to bat for Kerr. A wild pitch sent Barnes to second, but Campbell fanned to end the game.

RED BIRDS DOWNCAST AFTER SECOND LOSS

the day was Dykes' catch of Frisch's liner to double up Adams at first in the eighth.

"Jimmy always rises to the occasion, either at bat or afield," he said. "If Frisch's liner had gotten away it might have meant some runs. It was hard luck for Frankie. He was very much in the game."

Connie said the fielders had more trouble today than the spectators probably realized.

"The high sky and wind made it hard for them. No one was sure of fly balls. Balls that got away on both sides were excusable."

The aged leader of the Athletics had a good word for the manner in which Street has handled the Cardinal Club in the two games here.

"He was perfectly correct in removing Lindsey no matter how good ball he was pitching, because what he needed was runs, not pitching at the moment. Street has made no mistakes. Unfortunately he can't make hits for his players."

About the time most of the excitement had died down and the players were heading for the train to St. Louis, Flint Rhem, the tall, lantern-jawed South Carolinian, who was belted from the Cardinal box today, came tumbling out of the dressing room. He was mournful and subdued. Traces of the A's bombardment still showed on him.

"Everything I threw, they hit," he mourned. "No matter what I put on it, they hit it. They're powerful good."

Foxx. Watkins rolled to Foxx and was out to Earnshaw, who covered first.

No runs; no hits; no errors; none left.

ATHLETICS—Haas fanned on a third called strike. Boley fouled out to Bottomley. Earnshaw was delayed in coming to bat while he put on his shoe which he had removed to examine the extent of an injury suffered in covering first. He limped as he came to bat. Earnshaw struck out, swinging.

No runs; no hits; no errors; none left.

SEVENTH INNING.

ATHLETICS: Sylvester Johnson went in to pitch for the Cardinals. Bishop walked. Dykes bunted to Bottomley, unassisted. It was a sacrifice. Cochrane walked. Simmons rolled to Frisch and was out to Bottomley. The base runners advanced. Foxx fanned, swinging hard at the last one.

No runs, no hits, no errors. Two left.

EIGHTH INNING.

CARDINALS: Adams singles to right. Frisch lined to Dykes and Adams was doubled with a quick throw to Foxx. Bottomley fouled to Dykes near third base.

No runs, one hit, no errors. None left.

ATHLETICS: Miller struck out, swinging at a hook for the third strike. Haas flied to Gelbert in short left field. Boley flied to Hafey, who caught the ball on the run in left center.

No runs, no hits, no errors. None left.

NINTH INNING.

CARDINALS: Hafey rolled to Boley and was thrown out to Foxx. Watkins struck out, swinging at a fast ball. Mancuso struck out, swinging hard at a fast ball for the third strike.

No runs, no hits, no errors. None left.

Morris-Harvey Opens Season Tomorrow

Special to The Washington Post.

Barboursville, W. Va., Oct. 2.—Morris-Harvey College will open its grid season against Marshall College Saturday with a number of veterans on the team. Five of the veterans are playing their last year. They are Hason, full back; Zelazo, quarter back; Pleger, guard; Brooks, end, and Lewis, tackle.

One of the stars of the team is Cecil Lindsay, All-State High School center at Oak Hill in 1928. The schedule for this season follows:

October 4, Marshall College at Huntington; 11, Fairmont State Teachers' College at Fairmont; 18, Concord State Normal at Princeton (night game); 25, Alderson Junior College at Barboursville.

November 1, Bluefield College at Bluefield; 15, Morehead State Teachers' College at Morehead, Ky.; 22, New River State School at Montgomery, W. Va.

Oltz, Georgia Tech Fullback, Ineligible

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 2 (A.P.).—Almost on the eve of the opening game Saturday with South Carolina, Georgia Tech gridiron hopes received a jolt today as announcement was made that Harold "Stiz" Oltz, full back, had been ruled ineligible.

Oltz played on the Tech freshmen team in 1928 and served as a reserve in 1927, leaving school in the middle of this year. In 1928 and 1929 he enrolled at Illinois Wesleyan and came back to Tech at the opening of this year's term.

Last Sunday the Southern Conference executive committee ruled Oltz eligible on the condition that he had not participated in sports at the Illinois school. A later investigation revealed that he had played at the Northern school and the Tech Athletic Association immediately disqualified him.

Suarez and Ray Miller To Open Garden Season

New York, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Justo Suarez, from Argentina, who knows not defeat, and Ray Miller, Chicago lightweight with a mighty left-hand wallop, open the winter boxing season at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night in a bout scheduled for ten rounds.

Suarez, winner of nineteen ring battles, three of them in this country, is the 8-to-5 favorite over Miller. The Argentine will have a 5-pound weight advantage, but Miller is a tough customer. His left hook has stopped many a good fighter.

CONNIE MACKK LAUDS WORK OF EARNSHAW

I would be able to finish the game. The Cardinals are good hitters and you got to pitch carefully to every one of them."

While the Athletics were celebrating the Cardinals were in a coma over in their club house. Boys, they look downhearted and sad. The shock today was a tough blow and right now it doesn't look like they'll stage a comeback. But they haven't given up hope and were a bit more cheerful as they started for St. Louis tonight.

"We'll do better in St. Louis," said Frisch. "Hallahan will beat the Athletics on Friday and Haines will even the series on Saturday."

And lets hope so for the interest of baseball. Several hundred of the writers covering the series, two thirds of them are of the opinion the Athletics outclass the Cardinals and the National League champions will be lucky to win even one game. And that would be a sad blow to the followers of the National eLague.

Connie Street Is Taking Fans Into His Confidence

down when we were poling out fly balls, which should have really been hits and safe ones, too. But that is the way it goes and a manager has to take the breaks as they come, without making excuses, because the fans demand victory, and, though they are generally fair, still they do not stop to consider a good many things that happen on the ball field.

No Complaint Against Umpires, But——

Another thing, too, I want to go on record right now that our pitching was by far the superior, but the umpiring behind the plate could have been better. They have been missing quite a few on our boys, but, mind you, I am not registering a "kick" with regards to the work of the arbiters. Because let me put myself flatly down in black and white before I go any further as saying that in no other walk of American life will you find a more upstanding, honest, home-loving, fine bunch of men than goes to comprise the umpire system of organized baseball, even including the minor leagues, which are the nursery of baseball. They see things as they see it and they call them without fear or favor and with prejudice toward none. They are the ball players' friends, and, although they sometimes have their spats every now and again, as happens even in the best regulated families, that is only because both players and umpires alike are high-spirited and upstanding men, who are constantly on the qui vive and therefore may lose their temper in the heat of crucial combats.

I feel a great responsibility because I know the little sandlots phenoms playing in obscurity on the back lots of our country with an old taped ball are always looking to the world series as the highest expression of American sportsmanship and fair play; so don't get any idea that I am setting up my own judgment against that of the duly constituted officials.

Odd That Umps' Mistakes Were All One-Sided.

Respect for law is one of the "crying" needs of America today and just as you will always find baseball men at the world series upholding the hands of the President in observing the law to the very letter, regardless of whether they personally agree with the law or think it should be repealed, that is where I take my stand on the proposition without qualification.

But the umpires are men just like all of us, excepting our multitude of lady "fans" of the "fair sex" who now add a touch of refinement to the game, and to err is human as you will have to agree. Sometimes umpires do make mistakes and in our case it seems mighty peculiar that the mistakes are all against us as if the hand of fate had something to do with it.

But I have no us for a complainer I have never made a specialty of "alibis" and for my part I am content to go the rest of the way through life and wind up my career the same way, taking the good with the bad, just as they come, without excuses. These things even themselves up in the long run, although, my only point is that in a short series they might not get a chance to even themselves up.

Well, fans, I promised to take you into my confidence with regards to some of the intimate little incidents of a human interest nature that takes place on the ball field or down in the "dugout" in a world series test which the newspaper men, who are all my pals and a hard working, sincere body of newspapermen, do not get a chance to observe for their write-ups as they are way up there in the press coup, intent upon telling the waiting millions every jot and tittle of what is taking place in the swift ebb and flow of the combat. There are so many incidents.

For instance, just as an example, as I was entering the ball park for the opening game the other day, where our clean uniforms were waiting for us, spick and span as a whistle, a little freckle-faced urchin came running up to a certain star player on my team with a wistful, boyish expression on his face and lisped a request that he be taken in on a "pass" to see the contest.

"Get the hell out of here, you little rascal," was the reply and as the little urchin scampered off, obviously frightened, this certain party turned to me with an unmistakable twinkle in his eye and winked at me slyly, laughing heartily, for he had been a boy, himself, in his earlier years and still is, for that matter, at heart.

But fans, tomorrow is always another day and each game tells a separate story.

Shamrock V Returning To Ireland Unescorted

Bristol, R. I., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Shamrock V, Sir Thomas Lipton's fifth defeated challenger for the America's Cup left the Herreshoff Yard here late today on her long voyage home.

Rerigged as an ocean-going ketch, it was planned to hold a course directly across the ocean for Southampton. She will make the reutrn voyage alone.

Washington Lee High Plays Eastern Today

Ready to go, the Washington-Lee High School Football Team will open its 1930-1931 season today when it meets the boys from the Eastern High School of the District of Columbia on their own field this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The team will be accompanied by the Cadet Band numbering 30 pieces, and several bus loads of students who will make themselves heard with the sound of the whistle whic will start the game.

The team was given short practice yesterday under the leadership of Coach O. L. Driver, who is hoping to run up a good score on Eastern.

Gallaudet Confident Of Defeating Tankers

Having two capable groups of backfield men at his disposal, Coach Teddy Hughes is confident that Gallaudet will make a creditable showing tomorrow against the heavy Tank School Eleven on Hotchkiss Field, Kendall Green. The game marks the opening of the Gallaudet season.

Speed will be the keynote of the Gallaudet offensive under Hughes' plans, and if the Blue starting backs show signs of weariness they will be yanked quickly in favor of a fresh quartet.

Zieske, Hokanson, Ringle and Marshall form one backfield line-up and Williams, O'Bravovich, Sherrill and Rayhill the other.

MACKS ROUT RHEM TO SCORE

the latest to feel the power in the Philadelphia bats as the Mackmen crowded all of their seven hits into the first four innings, including, besides Cochrane's home run, a potent double by Jimmy Foxx, an equally productive double by Al Simmons, and a third and also important double by Jimmy Dykes.

Then it mattered not that Jim Lindsey and Sylvester Johnson, relief pitchers, held the Athletics runless, even hitless, after the fourth inning. The damage had been done as the Mackmen compiled two runs in the first inning, two more in the third, and two additional in the fourth. The parade of Philadelphia runs had again been staged and the ball game was beyond the recall of the Cardinals.

Simmons, Cochrane, Foxx Do Expected.

Thus twice in two days the Athletics have blasted the best of the St. Louis staff, with the preseries promise of the hammering triplets, Al Simmons, Mickey Cochrane and Jimmy Foxx, justified and fulfilled as far as the series has proceeded. As they took the heart out of burly Burleigh Grimes yesterday, they delivered the knockout to Rhem today.

Inning by inning today, the world series took on an appearance of another National League rout as Cardinal batters, who had wrought havoc and destruction to the pitching of their own league in a triumphant scramble for the pennant were mowed down with studied precision by the fast-ball pitching of Earnshaw, a strike-out hero of 1929, who added eight more victims in the game today.

The American League's star again is in the ascendancy and traveling rapidly. Again a Philadelphia pitcher rendered impotent the keymen of the Cardinals' offense. Eight times now, big Jim Bottomley, the "clean-up" man of the St. Louis Club, has been at bat and eight times he has failed to make a hit. So has Taylor Douthit, and the record of Chick Hafey shows only one hit in eight appearances. Frankie Frisch alone, and he suffering with lumbago, has been able to solve Philadelphia pitching. The other big guns have been spiked.

The early onslaught of the Athletics precluded much managerial strategy from the bench of the Macks with Earnshaw protecting his five-run lead in such able fashion despite a spike wound on the ankle when he made a put-out of Watkins at first base in the sixth inning. And Gabby Street could naught do but pray that his hitters hit. And in the face of Earnshaw's pitching mastery, Street's prayers were not productive.

Earnshaw, Rhem Start As Predicted.

The palpitating hearts of the experts in the press box who had foretold Earnshaw as Mack's pitching choice, taking a flier, as it were, into the very face of fate in making any prediction of anything that Mack might do, found relief in the appearance of Earnshaw for warm-up duty before the game. Street stuck to his determination to start the right-handed Flint Rhem and the battle was on.

Taylor Douthit popped a high fly to Jimmy Dykes for the first out. Then Adams lined to Simmons in left field, but Frankie Frisch, batting from the left side of the plate today against right-handed pitching, as is his wont, lashed a clean double against the left-field fence as if to serve notice that the Cardinals were in the ball game, but he perished on second when Bottomley could produce only a towering fly to Haas.

It seemed that the Athletics, too, were to be scoreless in the first inning, as Rhem disposed of Bishop on a fly to Douthit and Dykes on a roller to Adams, on which the little third baseman made a spectacular stop and throw. But Mickey Cochrane was the third man of the inning, and with the count two and two he intercepted one of Rhem's favorite fast balls, catching it near the end of his bludgeon, and wafted it high and hard into the laps of the Twentieth street intruders for a home run.

The Athletics were not yet done with the first inning. Al Simmons waded into another fast ball that scorched its way directly over second base for a single and the third of the trucculent triplets, Jimmy Foxx, rode Simmons home on the forefront of a long drive to the center field fence, which went for a double. It mattered not that Bing Miller rolled to Bottomley for the third out. The Athletics had a lead which Earnshaw took care would be sufficient.

Watkins' Homer Is Real Clout.

The revival of Cardinal hopes was not long delayed, however. Hafey popped to Boley in short center field to start the second inning, but George Watkins, a 1929 big league initiate, spat on his bat, dug his toes in, swung from his heels, and with the count two and two lifted a pitch high over the right field fence, even farther than Cochran's home run, for the Cards' first and only run of the game.

The 32,000 in the stands scented the flare of the highly-touted Cardinal offensive and there was confirmation when Mancuso jammed a single to Bishop which the shortstop fielded too far out of position to throw. And the situation became ominous when Gelbert bounced the third straight hit of the inning over Bishop's head to center field, sending Mancuso to third. But Cardinal hopes that sputtered anew were quenched abruptly by the power of Earnshaw's arm. Earnshaw struck out Rhem and forced Douthit to pop to Dykes for the third out.

The lower end of the Philadelphia batting order was impotent in the second inning with Rhem striking Haas out, Boley popping to Frisch and Earnshaw flying to Hafey.

Two hits were the allotment of the Cardinals in the last seven innings as Earnshaw assumed complete command, unshaken even by the commission of errors by Boley and Cochrane in the third inning.

Third Inning Ordeal for Earnshaw.

The third inning was an ordeal for Earnshaw, almost ludicrous. With Adams out on a fly to Miller to start the inning, Boley made the first misplay of the series, when he foozled Frisch's grounder, enabling the erstwhile Fordham flash to reach first. St. Louis hopes from the moment were entrusted with Bottomley and he seemed to be disposed of on a high pop foul, but Bishop dropped the ball, although no error was charged. Then Earnshaw struck Bottomley out. With Hafey at bat, Frisch relieved his lumbago with a clean steal of second after an excellent start and when the usually dependable Cochrane threw the ball to center field, Frisch continued on to third. Earnshaw, however, took command again and struck out Hafey.

Not again did the Cardinals threaten Earnshaw, but the Athletics continued their assault on Rhem in the third, again with two out, and an error by the great Frisch paving the way for the two runs that followed.

Bishop rolled to Bottomley innocently enough to start the inning and Dykes struck out, but Frisch erred on Cochrane's easy grounder, putting the catcher on base. This opening was enough for the A's. Simmons promptly scored Cochrane with a stinging double to the fence in right and two were on when Rhem was instructed to walk Foxx and trust to the hope of getting Miller out. Sixth place in the batting order is a camouflage of Miller's ability. He lashed a clean single to left field and scored Simmons. More runs appeared to be in the making when Rhem deflected Hafey's return throw to the plate for an error and the ball bounded to the backstop, allowing Miller to take second, but a valiant try by Haas resulted in only a liner to Douthit for the third out.

Rhem Pounded Out In Fourth.

Rhem was still on the mound to start the Athletics' fourth, but he failed to survive. He was not extracted, however, before the Macks made their regulation two runs of the inning, and their last of the game. Joe Boley started with a single through the infield. Earnshaw struck out, but Bishop demonstrated why he is the best of the league's lead-off men by coaxing a walk from Rhem, advancing Boley to second. Here Jimmy Dykes contributed his second double of the series, a long blow to center field that scored both Boley and Bishop. And here Manager Street decided that perhaps Rhem did not possess the proper stuff with which to baffle the American Leaguers and big Jim Lindsey, 30-year-old Texas League recruit, went to the mound to dispose of Cochrane for the third out on a pop to Gelbert.

Lindsey pitched the fifth and the sixth and the Macks went out in order without the semblance of a hit and Sylvester Johnson, Detroit Tiger castoff, who found a pitching berth with the Cards, pitched the seventh and eighth and he, too, was chary of hits, allowing none, although he walked Bishop and Cochrane in the seventh to put a man on third and one on first with one out, but he then disposed of Simmons on a roller to Frisch and struck out Jimmy Foxx.

The last five innings resolved themselves into a pitching duel between Earnshaw and the two St. Louis relief men, but with Philadelphia's graduate of the Baltimore Orioles flinging his fast balls by the vaunted stars of the St. Louis line-up, the score stood as it had been at the end of the fourth inning, 6 to 1, and the figures on which they paid off after the game.

Earnshaw's Twirling Is Lauded by Cochrane

Philadelphia, Oct. 2 (N.Y.W.N. S.).—"Earnshaw pitched the greatest game of his life against the Cardinals," said Mickey Cochrane after today's game. "The big boy had plenty of smoke on his fast ball and his control was good outside of the seventh inning, when he walked Mancuso on four wide pitches. This was due to the fact he hurt his foot in landing on first in the seventh.

"I gave him the signal for a fast one or a curve throughout the game. Only once did he pitch a slow ball, and that was to Hafey early in the sixth inning. He was even faster at the end than at the start, for he struck out Watkins and Mancuso in the ninth. His last pitch was a wicked fast ball that came up to the plate like a bullet.

"The ball I hit over the fence in the first inning was a low curve that broke on the outside of the plate."

GOODMAN TO RETIRE FROM TOURNEY GOLF

where he played well, but not good enough to win. In 1929 he hitchhiked to Colorado Springs with better success. Goodman had to appear on the course in the wrinkled clothes he wore on the trip, but he reached the finals by playing spectacular golf.

In that ultimate tour of the links he met James Ward, genial young millionaire, who was clad in custom-made raiment of the elite. But the title went to the best shot maker rather than to sartorial perfection, and Johnny won.

Just how he got to Pebble Beach, Calif., last year to oust Bobby Jones with a brilliant round is not of record, but that he was there the redoubtable Jones can well attest. This summer he went in a house on wheels to Minneapolis to compete in the national open, and made a good showing, living in the portable house built on an automobile chassis near the course.

He had been enabled to enter the University of Nebraska through a purse raised by admirers in Omaha and by selling insurance. He had earned enough to continue school at the university.

But the urge of tournament golf got that money, for he went to Philadelphia on a regular passenger train and lived under a regular roof, but with indifferent success on the links.

Whether his lack of excellent golf was due to too much pampering or the breaks of the game, he returned to Omaha, where he holds the State championship, without sufficient funds to return to school. So at the age of 21 he announced that he had retired from more than local competition.

BOY SCOUTS SCHEDULING.

CARD PUNCH FAILING TO SHOW

the presence of President Hoover as well as the performances of the home town favorites. Treating it as such, the A's went about their business in a very workmanlike manner, sprang out in front before their rivals had a chance to get warmed up, and then, behind Earnshaw's great hurling, closed the door to any belated bid by the National League champions.

After Rhem had been shelled into retirement, the Cardinals sent out a brace of relief men, Jim Lindsey and Sylvester Johnson, who throttled the world's champions in their tracks. Not a hit or a run was registered off this pair by the Mackmen in the last four and two-thirds innings, but this brilliant work came too late to do any good. It was just a gesture, for the Cardinals meanwhile were nearly as helpless against the fire balls of Earnshaw.

The Cardinals, after being choked off in the second inning after Watkins' homer, with two other hits wasted, got only one other man to third in the rest of the game and no one else as far as second base, so complete was Earnshaw's mastery.

They missed their best scoring chance in the third when two errors, a fumble by Boley and a wild throw by Cochrane, enabled Frankie Frisch to gallop around to third base, but the two big guns, Jim Bottomley and Chick Hafey, were fanned by Earnshaw to settle matters in this critical juncture.

Breaks Do Cardinals Little Good.

Not even the "breaks" did the Cardinals any good in this third frame. Bishop dropped a foul hoist back of first base off Bottomley's bat and then Dykes slipped as he was about to grab Hafey's foul fly off third base, giving the batsman another "life," but Earnshaw took matters in his own hands.

On only two other occasions did the big right-hander and Swarthmore alumnus appear in the slightest danger as he fooled the Cardinals with the zip on his fast one or had them lunging at his curves. In the seventh, after he had sprained his right ankle in making a putout play at first base, Earnshaw was momentarily wild, walking Mancuso on four straight balls. There was activity in the A's bullpen as Walberg and Quinn warmed up for possible relief duty, but George quickly settled down and regained control.

Dykes' Play Checks St. Louis Hope.

In the eighth, Sparky Adams revived some hopes in the Red Bird breasts by starting with a line single, but they were stifled when Dykes grabbed Frisch's drive and tossed to Foxx to double up Adams.

The attack of the A's, as usual, was brisk, brief and effective. With two out in the first, Cochrane hoisted his homer over the right field wall, after which Al Simmons drove a single to center and galloped home on Jimmy Foxx's booming double to center.

The heavy artillery was up again in the third, but it would not have had a chance to continue the barrage except for a rank error by Frisch on Cochrane's grounder. Instead of being the third out, as it should have been, this put Cochrane safely on first, and the A's, quick to seize any opening, produced another run on Simmons' two-base smash to right. Foxx was purposely passed, much to the disgust of Rhem, who reluctantly obeyed his orders from the bench, but the strategy failed to work. Bing Miller rapped a single to left and Simmons raced home.

Rhem Is Knocked Out By Double.

Dykes handed the knockout wallop to Rhem in the fourth, scoring Boley, who had singled, and Bishop, who had walked, with a double to center.

Lindsey came to the rescue and the rally was abruptly closed when Gelbert grabbed Cochrane's drive on the run and retired Dykes at second with an unassisted double play.

Lindsey, who singled on his one and only turn at bat, was retired in favor of a pinch hitter in the seventh, George Fisher, after Mancuso had walked and been forced by Gelbert. Fisher merely lived up to the reputation of world's series pinch hitters of recent seasons by striking out with considerable vehemence, swinging in vain at two fast balls and a curve.

Johnson walked two A's, Bishop and Cochrane, in the seventh, but regained control, retired the dangerous Simmons, fanned Foxx and then subdued the Mackmen in order in the eighth.

Frisch's double in the first inning was his forty-third hit in world's series competition and gave him a new record, breaking the tie he established at 42 yesterday with Eddie Collins, now the nonplaying captain of the Athletics.

Airship Kills Boy In Take-Off Fall

Second Youth Is Seriously Hurt in Ohio Accident; Occupants Escape.

Attica, Ohio, Oct. 2 (A.P.).—One boy was killed and another seriously injured at the Attica Fair grounds late today when they were struck by an airplane which crashed in attempting to take off. The three occupants of the plane escaped injury. Franklyn Croxton, 11, was killed and Floyd M. Kaufman, jr., 12, was seriously injured. Hospital attaches said he probably would recover.

The boys were standing by the rail of the race track when the pilot of the plane lost control as his motor sputtered. Spectators said the plane fell from a height of 25 to 50 feet.

Pilot Howard Burras, 20, of Olena, Ohio, made a statement to Sheriff George Burke, who said that unless the State acts, no charge will be filed against him.

Kidnaper of Girl, 10, Put in Prison Asylum

Valparaiso, Ind., Oct. 2 (A.P.).—Claud Dillner, 27 years old, who said he kidnaped 10-year-old Betty Jane Foster because he loved her, today was committed to the criminal insane hospital in the State prison for an indefinite period. Dillner took the child from the home of her father, Ernest Foster, where he was employed as a farm hand, and fled with her to Elkhorn, Wis. The child was unharmed.

Three physicians reported to Judge Harry Crumpacker that Dillner was a victim of arrested mental development.

Provincetown Saved From Forest Flames

Provincetown, Mass., Oct. 2 (A.P.). A failing wind and the setting of back fires saved this picturesque town from a forest fire today. The fire had swept to within half a mile of the residential section and a general alarm had been sounded for the townspeople to stand ready for an emergency.

Late in the day a State fire warden directed the setting of back fires and these, with a decrease in the wind velocity, brought the flames under control.

ZONE UNIT ADOPTS NEW REGULATIONS GOVERNING PLEAS

Year Must Elapse Before Rejected Changes Are Presented Again.

EXCEPTIONS ALLOWED UNDER LATEST SYSTEM

18 of 32 Reclassification Proposals Are Rejected by Commission.

The zoning commission yesterday adopted a new regulation restricting the presentation of rejected proposals for changes a second time or oftener.

Under the regulation proposed changes which are rejected may not again be presented to the commission for consideration until at least a year has elapsed. Changes which have been twice disapproved may not be presented a third time until at least two years have elapsed after their second presentation and those which are rejected a third time may not again be presented until at least four years has elapsed since the third presentation.

The commission coupled with this calendar a proviso that would permit of exceptions in cases where changing conditions and materially new evidence are developed in any case. The new rule, it was said by Maj. D. A. Davison, executive officer of the commission, is designed to stabilize zoning and prevent a constant stirring up of zoning matters in a neighborhood by repeated presentation of the same scheme for change.

Vote Against Proposed New Zone.

There will be no new zone to be known as limited commercial, the commission decided. A proposal for such a zone was advanced by the commission itself several months ago with an invitation to individuals and organizations to discuss it and inform the commission of their judgment. There was little support for the proposal. Among the organizations which informed Maj. Davison of their disapproval of the idea were the Fine Arts Commission, the American Civic Association and the Board of Trade. The commission yesterday decided to withdraw the proposal from further consideration.

The commission disapproved 18 of the 32 changes in zoning considered at the public hearing held in the District Building on Wednesday. One proposal was withdrawn. Some changes were approved partially. The changes approved by the commission were:

Three alley lots between N, M, Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets, to second commercial, 60-foot, D area; nine lots on the south side of N street and the west side of Twenty-third street northwest, to second commercial, 60-foot, D area; west portion of a lot on the northeast corner of Nineteenth and N streets northwest, to first commercial, 110-foot, D area; 1206 and 1208 Fifteenth street northwest, to first commercial, 90-foot, C area.

Other Zoning Changes.

Six lots on the north side of O between South Capitol and Half streets southwest to second commercial, 60 foot, D area; square 2500, in the vicinity of Sheridan circle, to residential, 60 foot, A restricted area; all of B restricted areas in squares 1346, 1347, 1348 and 1349, northeast of the intersection of Reservoir and Foxall roads northwest, to residential, 40 feet, A restricted.

The George M. Oyster School, at Twenty-ninth and Calvert streets northwest, to residential, 40 foot, C area; lot 6 along Calvert street, a part of the Shoreham Hotel property, to residential, 40 foot, B area; lots 2 and 802 at Seventeenth and Taylor streets northwest, to residential, 40 foot, A semirestricted area; the southeast corner of Western avenue and Forty-fourth streets northwest, to residential, 60 foot, B area; rear of four lots on northwest corner of Bladensburg road and Morse street northeast, to first commercial, 40 foot, C area, and northeast corner of Nichols avenue and Halley place southeast, to residential, 40 foot, A area.

The petitions refused by the commission included proposals to rezone to permit construction of apartment houses on upper Sixteenth street and at Eighteenth and Harvard streets. The height limit fixed for the Shoreham apartments property will not permit the wings contemplated by the owners as a possible future development.

F.H. Smith Concern Hearing Postponed

Receivership Case Will Be Heard October 17 at Attorneys' Request.

The F. H. Smith receivership hearing scheduled at Wilmington, Del., has been postponed from today until Friday, October 17, at the request of attorneys for the company, it was announced yesterday.

Counsel for the plaintiffs agreed to the postponement, it was said, on the condition that the case would not be heard at that date if the trial of he Smith Co. officials on original charges in the District Supreme Court is under way at the time. Several Department of Justice witnesses who will testify in the Washington trial are to appear at the hearing for the plaintiffs.

The petition for appointment of a temporary receiver is based on allegations that the Smith Co. exchanged $4,000,000 in bonds, worth at least half of their par value, for worthless the law firm of Donovan & Raichle securities in the Maddux hotels; that was paid an excessive fee of $250,000 to defend G. Bryan Pitts and other officers of the company, and that T. L. Weed, present president of the Smith concern, refused to use proceeds of a $250,000 indemnity bond to proceed against Pitts.

Mrs. Hoover to Plant Tree at Murch School

Mrs. Herbert Hoover will plant a tree on the grounds of the Ben W. Murch School at 11 o'clock Thursday morning. The exercises are to be under the auspices of the Ben W. Murch Home and School Association.

DIES SUDDENLY

CAPT. ROBERT E. DOYLE

BODY OF MAN FOUND BY RAILWAY TRACKS

Believed Beaten, Robbed and Then Thrown From Freight Train.

POLICE START INQUIRY

Believed to have been beaten, robbed and thrown from a freight train, an unidentified white man was found dead yesterday between the Baltimore & Ohio Railway tracks and the Washington-Baltimore boulevard at Ammendale Station, Md.

Two boys, Vivian White, of Jessups, Md., and Theodore Beaman, colored, of Washington, discovered the body. The man's hands were clutching the grass, his face and body showed evidences of having been mauled and the right hip pocket of his trousers had been cut out.

The only mark of identification was a Maine chauffeur's badge with the number 13472.

He was attired in an old brownish grey suit but was without a shirt. His age appeared to be between 30 and 35 years. Maryland State Policeman C. Sermon began an investigation. An inquest will be held tonight before Justice of Peace H. M. Scott at Laurel, Md.

Barrere Expected At Campbell Trial

May Serve as Witness for Prosecution in Baker Murder Case.

Assistant United States Attorney William H. Collins intimated yesterday that Herman H. Barrere, one-time principal in the Mary Baker murder case, will be used as a witness when Herbert M. Campbell is tried shortly in District of Columbia Supreme Court on a charge of first degree murder of the girl.

Barrere was brought into the case, it is alleged, by testimony given by Campbell. Barrere was returned to the District from Canada and after a brief investigation, was liberated and Campbell was charged. Campbell had alleged that the gun which Government experts state fired the shots that killed the girl probably had been placed in his desk by Barrere.

As yet no date for the Campbell trial has been set and the Government states that none will be set until after the arraignment.

Statue of Madonna Will Be Dedicated

Washington Catholic Radio Hour to Be Opened by Ceremony.

"The Madonna of Washington," the statue created and sculptured by Vicken von Post Totten for the Grotto of Lourdes in the Immaculate Conception Church, will be unveiled with special ceremonies on Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. This service will also inaugurate the Washington Catholic Radio Hour over Station WOL. Dr. John Keating Cartwright will deliver the address.

A perpetual novena, beginning on this occasion, will be held every morning after the 7:30 mass, and also after a 10 o'clock service which is to be known as the "Mass of the Sick."

The shrine was designed by Father Hurney, pastor of the church, and Maj. George Oakley Totten after the famous Grotto of Lourdes in France. The special Lourdes procession and the blessing of the sick will take place just as at the original shrine. Water from the miraculous spring in the grotto has been imported and will be distributed.

Dawes Made Delegate To Geographic Parley

(Associated Press.)

Charles G. Dawes, the American Ambassador to England, yesterday accepted appointment as the delegate of the National Geographic Society to the 100th anniversary celebration of the Royal Geographical Society of England in London on October 21.

The appointment was accepted in a transatlantic telephone conversation from London with Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, of Washington, the president of the National Geographic Society. The Ambassador is a member of the board of trustees of the American organization.

Burglar Rifles Office.

Waverly Taylor, whose office is at 1522 K street northwest, yesterday reported to police that a duplicate key burglar ransacked a safe at the K street address, taking $25 in cash and a fountain pen. The Detective Bureau is at work on the case.

CAPT. R. M. DOYLE, OF 8TH PRECINCT, DEAD AT AGE OF 59

PRATT ORDERS STATION FLAGS IN CITY LOWERED

Emerson, Detective Bureau Aid, Lieut. Groves Are on Promotion List.

Stricken while standing in line in a cafeteria at Fourteenth and U streets northwest, waiting to be served with lunch, Capt. Robert Emmett Doyle, commander of the Eighth Police Precinct, died yesterday before he could be carried to Garfield Hospital.

Capt. Doyle several months ago had been found by the board of police surgeons to be suffering from a heart ailment and high blood pressure and had been under treatment since. He would have been retired had he not insisted on remaining in active duty, a request which was granted by Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, on reports of the board of surgeons that the captain was responding to treatments and his condition was improving.

Capt. Doyle's death removes from the ranks of the department another of its veteran precinct commanders. The last few months has seen the death of Capt. Doyle, retirement of Capt. William E. Sanford, retirement of Capt. Charles T. Peck and the death of Capt. Martin Reilly.

Emerson First of Eligibles.

Capt. Walter Emerson, second in command of the Detective Bureau, is said to stand first on the eligible list of the Civil Service Commission for promotion and, though Maj. Pratt and Commissioner Herbert E. Crosby refused yesterday to discuss any question of Capt. Doyle's successor, the promotion of Capt. Emerson is expected. Although bearing the rank and receiving the pay of captain, Capt. Emerson is actually a lieutenant on the Police Department rolls, his rank of captain being a temporary one held while serving as second in command of the Detective Bureau.

Lieut. H. H. Grove, night inspector, is said to stand second on the eligible list.

Capt. Emerson, like Capt. Doyle, also is a veteran policeman. Born on October 10, 1867, he was appointed to the police force on August 21, 1894. His first assignment was in the Ninth Precinct. From there he went to the Third Precinct, and was made a sergeant on July 2, 1906, and assigned again to the Ninth Precinct. He was made a lieutenant on February 1, 1919, and made night inspector. On July 1, 1923, he was assigned to the Detective Bureau as second in command with the temporary rank of captain. He has held that post since. Capt. Emerson several times has been commended for his police work.

Made Captain in 1906.

Capt. Doyle was appointed to the police force on June 10, 1891, as a station keeper, a civilian post, from which he resigned to become a policeman on April 1, 1892. He was made a sergeant on July 1, 1901, a lieutenant on March 23, 1906, and a captain on July 1, 1906. He was commended several times during his 39 years of service.

Immediately after he was informed of Capt. Doyle's death Maj. Pratt ordered all police station flags carried at half-staff.

Capt. Doyle was only 59 years old. He was one of the most widely known men in the department. Commander of the Eighth Precinct for many years, he had charge of the baseball park, and there he met many personages. A year ago he was a figure in the activities of former Policeman Robert J. Allen. Allen criticized failure of the district attorney's office to prosecute certain cases, and when called on by Maj. Pratt for an explanation admitted he had been quoted accurately in the newspapers and wrote a fiery letter to the police chief.

Cleared of Insubordination.

Capt. Doyle was asked for a formal report on the Allen statement and his approval of Allen's action led to the captain's trial for insubordination. The Trial Board convicted the private and he was dismissed, but it exonerated the veteran captain.

Capt. Doyle was standing in line in the cafeteria at Fourteenth and U streets yesterday when he slumped to the floor. John Whetzel, a laundry wagon driver, hurried to his side. Capt. Doyle attempted to speak, but could not. Precinct Detective E. Kenny, of the Eighth Precinct, and Policeman Q. E. Brant, on traffic duty at the intersection, were called, and Capt. Doyle was placed in Kenny's automobile and driven to Garfield Hospital. He was dead when taken into the hospital, physicians there said.

Capt. Doyle is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rosalie C. Doyle; a son, Robert E. Doyle, jr., and a daughter. The family lives in the Fontanet Courts at Fourteenth and Fairmont streets northwest.

Woman Dies of Heart Attack While Shopping

While shopping in a downtown department store late yesterday afternoon Mrs. Catherine M. Hayden, 75 years old, of Maddox, Md., was stricken with a heart attack that proved fatal before medical aid could be summoned.

Mrs. Hayden was taken to the store's dispensary on the sixth floor and was pronounced dead by an Emergency Hospital physician, who accompanied an ambulance to the scene. Mrs. Hayden was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Annie Shekels, of the Victoria Apartments, Fourteenth and Clifton streets northwest. The body was removed to the undertaking establishment of V. T. Spear.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE PASSING OF THE HOME-COOKED DINNER.

THE American kitchen will soon become a memory and the old-fashioned cooking range an antique for Henry Ford to put in his Dearborn museum, in the opinion of food experts. Mr. Gordon Corbaley, president of the American Institute of Food Distribution, declared in a public speech recently that nearly all cooking would ultimately be done in central plants and the dinners delivered hot on the family table.

• • • •

The American housewife will, in a few years, he thinks, phone the corner store for a New England boiled dinner, a planked steak for six, four orders of corned beef hash, or what have you. And if it isn't sent over inside of ten minutes she will call it terrible service.

• • • •

It will be commonplace for central to hear orders such as "Rush me five cans of broiled chicken with rice and stuffed peppers" and "send Mrs. Monahan a large box of baked bluefish with green peas and French fried potatoes, right away."

• • • •

There is a possibility that motorized kitchens will travel over definite routes. The driver will toot his horn and the housewife will come out and looked over the hot dishes. Or she may decide to have a porterhouse steak broiled to order, with mushrooms.

• • • •

But the forerunner of the motorized kitchen, experts think, will be the centralized cooking plants where dishes of every type will be prepared and to which the housewife may go soup-and-fish shopping.

• • • •

HERE she will see steaming foodstuffs on display and be able to shop around until she finds the dinner she saw advertised.

• • • •

There will probably be bargain sales of liver and onions or breaded pork chops with fried sweet potatoes, and over the steaming platters of creamed halibut with spinach and eggplant may be found large signs reading, "Anniversary Special. Today Only."

• • • •

Presumably there will be floor-walkers to direct shoppers to the Sensationally Priced Beef Stews, the Closing Out Sales of Griddle cakes with Sausage, and the Opportunity of a Lifetime to Get Unheard of Values in Hungarian Goulash, with spaghetti.

• • • •

Inevitably there will be instances of hysterical women shoppers getting injured in the rush to take advantage of the Wednesday Veal Hash Sales. And there will of course be the woman who will get her bundles mixed and arrive home with a Yankee potroast and corn on the cob when she had bought four cans of hot hasenpfeffer.

• • • •

Verily it looks as if home cooking were headed for the discard and that father, instead of paying the usual tribute to his mother, will have to speak fondly of the wonderful cooking of "Blatz, Blatz and Figbaum, Incorporated. Phone or Wire for a Red-Hot Dinner at Any Hour of the Day or Night."

THREE ARRAIGNED IN CAR-THEFT RING

BONDS SET AT $20,000

Three men alleged to have participated in a gigantic automobile theft syndicate were arraigned in Police Court yesterday and were ordered held for action of the grand jury under bonds of $20,000 on charges of grand larceny.

The men, Marshall B and Howard V. Goding, brothers, 26 and 38 years old, respectively, of Pennsylvania avenue near Nineteenth street northwest, and Oley W. Jackson, 23 years old, of V street near Thirteenth street northwest, were arrested several days ago and immediately afterward are alleged to have led police to McLean, Va., where a cache of seventeen automobiles was discovered. All the machines, it was alleged, had been stolen from Washington streets since September 1.

Motorists had been kept from using the narrow lane that led to the cache, police said, by a "road closed" sign which is thought to have been stolen from the District.

Police allege that the two Goding brothers stole the machines and that Jackson altered them for future disposal. At the time of his arrest Jackson was said to have had in his possession a stencil for changing number of motors. Assistant United States Attorney Michael F. Keough appeared for the Government.

In arraigning the men the Government only charged them with one offense of grand larceny, but it was understood that the grand jury will be asked to investigate many additional cases. Police state that they believe the Godings have been implicated in 21 car thefts.

Two Americans Honored By Czechoslovak Order

Two Americans have been honored with membership in the Czechoslovak Order of the White Lion by the President of the Czechoslovak Republic, according to announcement here yesterday by the Czechoslovak Legation.

Dr. John R. Mott, president of the World's Alliance of the Young Men's Christian Association, was awarded the insignia of commander, and Archie MacImes Palmer, of White Plains, N. Y., was awarded the insignia of Officer in the order.

POLICE SEEKING PAIR IN HOLDUP OF TAXIS

HACKER ROBBED OF $9

Two unshaven, "tough-looking" men were being sought by police last night in connection with the robbery of two taxicab drivers early yesterday morning. In both cases the men drove off in the cab after forcing the driver to the street.

William A. McCrearey, of 212 Twelfth street northeast, was the first victim. He told police that his two fares had stopped him at Twelfth and Taylor streets northeast and had driven off in his cab after he had convinced them that he had no money. One of the men, he said, fired at him as they drove away. The cab was found abandoned at Sixteenth street and Spring road northwest later in the day.

Two men closely answering the description given by McCreary later in the night hailed Edgar Lee Bell, of 1926 First street northwest, and took $9 and his cab at the point of a gun. Bell's cab had not been recovered last night.

Reception Is Staged By Teachers College

Wilson Teachers College, formerly Wilson Normal School, held a reception yesterday for new members of the faculty and the freshman class. School officials and members of the Board of Education were present.

The additions to the faculty of the college include the following: Dr. M Margaret Stroh, professor of English; Paul E. Lutz, professor of history and other social studies; F. Atherton Reidel, professor of natural sciences, and Miss Ruth Leathers, practice teacher.

Golf Equipment Taken From Man's Automobile

A new "hazard" for the golfer was discovered yesterday with the report of Nathaniel Rubinkam, of the Racquet Club, who was robbed of a complete golfing outfit, suit, sweaters, bag of clubs and 18 golf balls by a thief who spotted the paraphernalia parked in an automobile in front of 617 Twelfth street northwest.

The equipment is valued at $175, the report states.

DISTRICT SCHOOLS LOOKING FOR 3,000 OUTSIDE STUDENTS

Few Pupils From Maryland and Virginia Will Pay Fees for Tuition.

LIST OF EXEMPTIONS GENEROUS IN SCOPE

Nonresident Enrollment in High and Normal Classes Expected to Drop.

About 3,000 children living outside the District of Columbia are expected to attend local public schools this year, and only 100 of them are expected to pay the nonresident tuition fees because of numerous exemptions allowed, it was learned yesterday at the Franklin School Administration Building.

This figure may increase and it may decline. The prediction is made on the basis of past attendance. School officials believe that the nonresident enrollment will decrease this year because of the increase in rates in the senior and junior high schools and the normal colleges, and also because of the transportation expense and further because of the increasingly better schools to be had in Maryland and Virginia.

The rates in the junior and senior high schools have been increased. It was explained yesterday at the Franklin School, because of the introduction of free textbooks. School officials determined what the new rates were to be by dividing the money expended in the last school year by the enrollment. The slight increase in rates, it is pointed out, will be less than what the pupil would have to pay for books.

Reasons for Increase.

Rates at the normal colleges have been increased because these institutions have been recently elevated from the status of schools to colleges. This has involved greater expense, for instance, the addition of professors to the faculty.

The reason why such a small percentage of nonresident pupils will not pay—or at least why their parents will not pay—the required rates is because of the numerous exemptions allowed by the school laws of the District. Under these provisions, any nonresident child whose mother or father works in the District or pays taxes in excess of the tuition charged is admitted to the District school free; children whose fathers are officers in the Army or Navy are not required to pay tuition.

There are other exemptions. It has been demonstrated in the past that parents of nonresident children are shrewd in finding exemptions for themselves. The percentage of children who pay tuition is proof enough of this, it is pointed out. Last year the number of paying children fell below the 100 mark, and it is expected to fall lower still this year.

Rates Set by Board.

The new rates in the normal colleges, as approved by the Board of Education, are $226.78, an increase of $29.42; in the senior high schools, $135.52, an increase of $12.90; in the junior high schools, $112.30, an increase of $15.40. Tuition rates in the vocational schools have decreased 23.46; in special schools, such as schools for cripple children, $2.06; 54 cents in the night schools and 26 cents in the vacation schools.

The recommended rates have yet to be approved by the District Commissioners before they can be put into effect.

Cosmopolitan Club Hears Army Major

Knowlton Talks on Benefits of Citizens' Military Training Camps.

The protection of American life and property through the training of young Americans in the Citizens Military Training Camps was advocated by Maj. Don S. Knowlton, of the United States Marine Corps Reserves, in addressing the Cosmopolitan Club at the Carlton Hotel yesterday. "Due to the fact that there has been a curtailment in both our Army and Navy," Maj. Knowlton declared," it is necessary that the coming generation of the United States receive some idea of military training so that in case of conflict they can enter the service with some knowledge of what it is about."

Stokes Sammons, chairman of the special committee for the fall frolic at the Raleigh Hotel on October 16, announced that virtually all plans had been completed.

Nominations for candidates for the Cosmopolitan service medal, awarded annually to the citizen performing the most outstanding service to the community, were announced by Dr. J. Rozier Biggs, chairman of this committee.

CHARITIES HEAD

WILLIAM L. IGOE.

CATHOLIC CHARITIES ELECT IGOE AS HEAD

Former Representative Gets Honor at Closing of Convention Here.

TRAINING SCHOOLS VOTED

William L. Igoe, former Representative from St. Louis, was elected president of the National Conference of Catholic Charities at the closing session of the conference yesterday at the Willard.

Mr. Igoe, a prominent lawyer of St. Louis, is president of the St. Vincent de Paul Society of that city and vice president of the Catholic Charities of the same place. He succeeds Thomas F. Farrell, of New York, as head of the National Conference.

A feature of the closing business session was the adoption of a resolution providing for the establishment of industrial schools for boys in various parts of the country. Under the proposed policy to be adopted at these institutions, boys will not only be given vocational training, but the delinquent will be segregated from the orphaned.

Several other resolutions were adopted. One expressed to Pope Pius XI "continued and undying loyalty." Another extended "respect and gratitude to President Hoover," who received the delegates at the White House. A third thanked the press of Washington and the Catholic and secular press of the country for "courtesies extended."

Sympathy for the people of the Dominican Republic was expressed in another resolution. Relief for the religiously oppressed in Russia was invoked. Attention of the members of the conference was called to the George Washington bicentennial.

DAM FOUNDATIONS MAPPED FROM AIR

Aerial Photography Used in Speeding Preliminary Hoover Work.

Las Vegas, Nev., Oct. 2.—Foundations for the great Hoover dam in the Black Canyon of the Colorado are being laid in the air.

Aerial photography is speeding the preliminary work on the $165,000,000 project.

As the air shots are reduced to mosaics, engineers are making their preliminary survey of the dam site and the area which will be covered by the artificial lake to be formed behind the 525-foot dam.

At the site where the huge mass of concrete will be poured to hold back the waters of the Colorado, Col. C. H. Birdseye, veteran explorer of the treacherous mountain stream, is taking pictures with a specially constructed camera.

His photographs are being reduced to contours and topographical maps by engineers determining the strength of the stone on the canyon walls.

Birdseye's photographic survey, engineers have said, is the only possible way to get a complete picture of the perpendicular sides, as footholds are few and rodmen would risk their lives if a transit were used.

His pictures are taken on a triangulation scheme, photographing a narrow strip of the wall from two points.

From the photographs engineers study the stone formations and the contour of the cliffs, to determine future action.

The photographic surveys, it is said, will speed operations on the project and bring actual construction of the dam to a nearer date. Several engineering camps already have been established.

The heat is so intense that men now working on the surveys start their days at sunrise and end them about 11 o'clock in the morning, before a wind sweeps out of the desert flats.

Pen Women's President Plans Tour of Far East

Mrs. Ernest Thompson Seton, noted author, who was elected president of the National League of American Pen Women at the organization's last convention here, will leave her California home shortly on a tour that will include Japan, Shanghai, Hong Kong, Cambodia, Angkor, Siam, Malaysia and Sumatra.

Mrs. Seton also contemplates visiting the Sunda and Banda Archipelago, Borneo and the Philippines. She will gather material for magazine articles and a book.

FREDERICK FISHER QUITS POSITION AS BICENTENNIAL AID

Former Executive Officer Says Move Will Badly Hamper Undertaking.

LEO KOLB, REAL ESTATE MAN, IS NAMED TO POST

Changes Will Practically Cancel Large Part of Program, Claim.

Following closely upon the announcement that its personnel had been completed and was functioning smoothly, the George Washington Bicentennial Commission yesterday revealed that Frederick V. Fisher, its executive officer, had "terminated" his services October 1.

Replying to the formal announcement made by Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, chairman of the commission, Mr. Fisher issued a statement declaring he was asked to resign "because I did too much work this summer."

Secret Meeting Charged.

He also charged that the commission's "ouster" action had been taken at a secret meeting, an allegation subsequently denied by one of the members. Mr. Fisher made public a letter from Mrs. Philip Sidney Smith, secretary of the commission, advising him that his services would end October 1, and explaining that it would be "entirely satisfactory for you to submit your resignation before that date."

In protesting the action of the commission Mr. Fisher took credit for many of the national events planned in connection with the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, and expressed the opinion that his discharge would practically cancel "most of the great things in the program of 1932."

"I have received word from many connected with the program, as I had worked it out," he said, "advising me that they do not now care to go forward with it.

Kolb Now in Charge.

"Dr. Marvin, recently appointed head of the commission to succeed Cuno H. Rudolph, called a secret meeting of the commission. I was not asked to be present and many of the most important members of the commission did not attend. Without consulting with the absent members, of with me, those attending this meeting requested my resignation and the office was turned over to J. Leo Kolb, a Georgetown real estate man," who is now in charge."

His statement reviewed his plans for the celebration and expressed hope for the success of the undertaking, which, he said, was now out of his hands.

Chairman Marvin refused to elaborate upon his announcement other than to say that the commission felt that certain changes should be made in its personnel. Mr. Fisher's services, he explained, had only been requested for four months, and October 1 marked the expiration of this period.

University Coach Answers Charge

Woman Seeks Damages of $20,000 From H. C. Byrd for Alleged Attack.

H. C. "Curly" Byrd, athletic director and assistant to the president of Maryland University, yesterday denied all allegations contained in a suit filed against him several days ago in District Supreme Court by Minnie B. Haines, in which the woman seeks $20,000 damages for alleged assault. The woman charged that in June, 1930, Byrd personally and through concert with other parties, attacked her and caused her severe pain and humiliation.

Byrd denies the allegations that the woman recites and sets out that he first met her in June, 1928, when he was in George Washington University Hospital and that she entered his room against the remonstrances of the nurse. The woman, he states, wanted to purchase a house which he was building in College Park, Md., and later bought it. Some time later he sets out, he sought to relinquish possession of the house and resell it, but refused to have her husband figure in the resale proposition. Prior to that, Byrd states, the woman insisted that he obtain for her students from the university as roomers.

Finally, Byrd states, the woman became so persistent when he refused to take over the house after she had refused to bring her husband into the negotiations, an employe of the university, who also is said to be a deputy sheriff, lead her from the university grounds and took her to her home. Byrd declares he always treated the woman with courtesy and that he was at all times patient with her until her persistence became a nuisance.

Attorney Files Schedule In J. B. Thomas Case

J. J. Wilson, an attorney for petitioning creditors, yesterday filed in District Supreme Court the schedule of assets and liabilities of the J. Benson Thomas Co., a realty firm with offices at 1 Thomas circle, which recently was named in an involuntary bankruptcy action.

Liabilities are listed at $38,070.46 and assets at $39,613.34. The filing of the bankruptcy action followed shortly upon the death of J. Benson Thomas, president of the firm, whose body was found several days after he had been reported mysteriously missing. In the petition the creditors charged that the firm was insolvant and that an act of bankruptcy had been performed by showing preference to other creditors.

Raleigh Jail's Stone Walls Make No Prison for Rich

Stone walls make no prison for Alexander Rich, colored citizen of North Carolina, who some time ago began a lengthy sentence for murder in the Raleigh jail. Two months ago, upon information forwarded by North Carolina authorities, Rich was arrested here and returned to prison.

Last night a Second Precinct policeman arrested two Negroes who were fighting on New York avenue near First street, and one of them proved to be Rich. He admitted his identity when faced with his photograph, and told police that he had only spent two days in jail before escaping the second time.

Two Couples From Virginia Wed at Church in Capital

In Covington, Va., a few years ago two boys fell in love with two girls. Through the months that passed the two couples, warm friends all, held courtships that ran closely parallel.

Yesterday their courses led to the District license office and straight to a Washington altar, where each couple stood witness for the other while they exchanged places in taking their vows.

With the Rev. Haskell R. Deal, assistant pastor of Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal Church, South, officiating at the church, Leonia Kimarlin, 18 years old, was wed to Carl Lavender, 28 years old.
